Year-End Brings Budget Concerns for Senior Meals

• Meals on Wheels Makes a Difference for Nearly 2.4 Million American Seniors

For many Pamlico County seniors, Congregate and Home Delivered Meals are a lifeline. It can literally mean the difference between remaining in their own homes and needing to relocate to a nursing facility. The nutritious meals, friendly visits and safety checks help them cope with three of the biggest threats of aging: hunger, isolation and loss of independence.

According to Pamlico County Senior Services Nutrition Director Beth Hardison, each meal cost $6.27 - approximately $132 per month. Seniors aren't asked to pay this full amount, but donations are welcomed and meals continue even if they can't pay. Currently an average of 30 congregate meals are served per day as well as 52 home delivered meals.

These services help even the most independent among us and can go a long way to maintaining our independence and quality of our lives. Great advances in medicine have extended our average life expectancy to a record high of 78.7 years. Living longer means more years spent in the struggles that accompany old age. Add to that the increase in geographic mobility of our families and the result is millions of seniors left behind, hungry and alone.

Headlines continue to alert us to the impact of the aging of America. The "silver tsunami" or "age wave" is already here as over 10,000 Baby Boomers reach the age of 65 every single day. One quarter of today's 65-year-olds will live past the age of 90 and will experience many of their daily chores turning into insurmountable everyday challenges. These seniors already represent the fastest growing population segment in the U.S. and as well as closer to home in Pamlico County.

Meals on Wheels has been guided by a single goal since the first known U.S. delivery in 1954. What started as a compassionate idea has grown into one of the largest and most effective social movements in America, currently helping nearly 2.4 million seniors annually in virtually every community in the country, including Pamlico County.

Can you help bridge the budget gap to keep the Meals on Wheels program in Pamlico County fully-funded and healthy? If so, please send your contributions earmarked to provide meals for our local seniors to Pamlico County Senior Services, P.O. Box 184, Alliance, NC 28509 or stop by the center at 800 Main St., Alliance. For more information, call Beth Hardison at 745-7196.

PCC Student Advocates for MS in D.C.

By Townley Cheek

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society convened 340 MS activists, including a PCC student, from across the country for its 25th annual Public Policy Conference in Washington, D.C. At the conference, activists learned how to strengthen relationships with elected officials and about federal policies that are important to people with MS.

Adrienne Daniels, PCC Human Services Technology (HST) student and eastern North Carolina native urged congress to listen, understand, and help.

Daniels entered the HST program in the fall of 2014. She immediately began to shine in her program, committed to the idea of studying hard and helping others. However, soon after making the decision to go back to school and becoming a model student, Adrienne's life changed forever.

In winter of 2014, Daniels lost her father. Three weeks later, she was diagnosed with relapsing-remitting MS (RRMS).

According to the MS Society, Relapsing-remitting MS is defined by inflammatory attacks on myelin (the layers of insulating membranes surrounding nerve fibers in the central nervous system (CNS)), as well as the nerve fibers themselves.

"This disease affects every part of my day-to-day life. Walking, hearing, and seeing are luxuries to me some days," Daniels says.

Instead of giving up, allowing her diagnosis to control her life, Daniels decided to push back and fight harder.

"Once I was diagnosed, I realized that many people have no idea what MS even is, and many people confuse MS with Muscular Dystrophy," Daniels says. "It became my fight, my purpose to educate and inform, because that is the only way to find a cure."

Daniels threw herself into school work and volunteer work.

"Some days, I could hardly get out of bed. But I knew that I had a purpose, and I was more than this disease." Her hard-work, strength, and determination did not go unnoticed.

Last year, Daniels was contacted by the National MS Society, urging her to become a local MS activist. Without hesitation, Daniels agreed. "I realized that this was a chance to use my future degree, my passion, and my purpose to have an impact. Not everyone with MS finds the strength to keep going and not let this disease control them. I thought the only thing I could do was be there for them, a listening ear, a literal shoulder to cry on," she says. "But, this call meant I could do more. I can share their stories and my story and fight for them, for me, and all of those who will be diagnosed in the future."

Adrienne Daniels, PCC student, and other MS activists on Capitol Hill at the MS Public Policy Conference

Her passion prompted the National MS Society to invite her to participate in the 25th annual Public Policy Conference in Washington D.C. Daniels traveled thousands of miles to be able to talk with congress about an issue she is passionate about: Advancing Research for Neurological Diseases Act.

"The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) does not require U.S. physicians to report new cases, and because symptoms can be completely invisible, there is no way to know how many people are living with MS in the US. The Advancing Research for Neurological Diseases Act can help remedy this," says Daniels.

While mentally and physically taxing, Daniels found her trip to be worth it. "I know I can make a difference. My degree in Human Services Technology will only better prepare me for a career with the National MS Society," she says. "I do not know exactly what I want to do, but I know that because of PCC, I really can do anything."

If you would like to learn more about the Human Services Technology Program or get in contact with Adrienne Daniels, please contact Kasey Melvin, Chair of General Studies and Allied Health at kmelvin@pamlicocc.edu, or 252-249-1851 x 3040.

Music and Memories: 70th Anniversary of the Old Theater

Part Five of a series celebrating 70 years of Oriental's Old Theater by Carol Small

To my readers, you will remember that Janet Stobie was one of the principal originators of putting together plays that preceded the purchase of the building we now call Old Theater. She lives in Dacula, Georgia now, but she very much wants to be a part of our celebration May 13 and 14. I have talked to her on the phone and she has sent me this article. Enjoy reading. A bit of Pelican History...

In the early years we Pelicans took our shows on the road. We performed at such places as Fairfield Harbour, Cherry Point and the Fred Anderson School Elementary for children's shows.

In those days, the theater was not available to us...not even for storage. All our gear was stowed around town in various sheds and garages. When we had a show to set, things often resembled a "Chinese Fire Drill" as furniture, flats and props were piled onto several trucks owned by the "backstage" Pelicans.

One fine day, as several of the fellows were returning from a trip to Fairfield Harbour where we were producing a show, they spotted a big yellow school bus parked on the side of Route 55 with a "For Sale" sign on it. All together they came up with the same "brilliant" idea..."let's buy it to haul and store all the show stuff".

After some ritual tire kicking and haggling, the deal was set with an agreed price of $1,000 (just about the entire treasury at the time). And so the Pelican Players became the proud owners of the "big yellow "binga-de-bangy" as she was affectionately called. After all the seats were removed, it was filled with an unbelievable amount of theater gear. So it was that "binga-de-bangy" became a full fledged Pelican.

It stood at the ready in front of the Stobie house for several seasons. Later, permission was granted by the town to park the old girl by the water tower. Several of the men applied for special licenses to drive the rig to and from performances. Since we were never able to remove the speed governor, "binga-de-bangy" bumped along at no more than 35 mph. It was a happy, hectic time, and it was a better than even bet that if something was needed out of that cavern of props, puppet gear, and flats, it would be found under a mountain of "stuff".

There was talk of painting "binga-de-bangy"... maybe even painting "passengers" in the windows...that would have been a cute touch, but we

WEEKLY HOROSCOPE

Aries (March 21-April 19)
This is a money week for you. Ka-ching! Trust your ability to dream up brilliant, money-making ideas. More than that - you can boost your earnings. (We like!) And when it comes to financial matters, you can make new impressions on important people. In other words, you can put a new spin on how they perceive you. ("Do you really know how great I am?") In addition, some of you will have fabulous opportunities to improve your job or get a better paying job. If so, hearken back to contacts you had previously, or even places where you worked previously because these will hold your most likely opportunities. You still have the travel bug. "Land ho!" For some, work-related travel will be thrilling.

Taurus (April 20-May 20)
This is an amazing week for your sign. For starters, the Sun, retrograde Mercury and Venus are all in Taurus. And these planets are playing off lucky, moneybags Jupiter in Virgo, which is also an Earth sign - like you. And they are also playing off Pluto, which is in Capricorn, which is also an Earth sign like you. This is extremely capocatel! All these planets support and encourage each other. This is why you will enjoy opportunities to travel for pleasure, and have vacations, along with saucy flirtations. The entertainment world, show business and the hospitality industry will flourish. You will also enjoy playful activities with children. It's a fun week! Admittedly, Mars creates disputes about shared property, but it also amps your sex drive!

Gemini (May 21-June 20)
So much is going on behind the scenes! In other words, it doesn't look like your life is busy, which means from the point of view of others, nothing is happening - but yes, you know that you are busy! ("What fools these mortals be!") Admittedly, fiery Mars is still opposite your sign stirring up difficulties with partners and close friends. They are so exasperating! They constantly test your patience. Nevertheless, look for ways to improve your situation through real estate or anything to do with home and family. Inheritances, shared property and insurance issues will favour you now. You will also enjoy entertaining at home and having the gang over for good food and drink. ("What foods these morsels be!")

Cancer (June 21-July 22)
Prepare for a popular week! Yes, you are loved; just like your fellow Cancer Travis Fimmel (whose billboard photo had to be taken down in London because it caused accidents). "Ragnarr!" You will enjoy schmoozing with everyone; and many of your friends this week will be creative and artistic; and some will be younger than you, especially faces from the past. Oh yes, faces from the past are de rigueur in Mercury retrograde. One reason that others are attracted to you is because of your positive frame of mind right now. You feel like a winner! And nothing succeeds like success. And nothing is as sexy as success! Nevertheless, midst all this fun and pleasure - you are still working hard. Go figure.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22)
This is an amazing time for you because the Sun, Venus and retrograde Mercury are all at high noon in your chart. You are so high viz! You are also admired, especially by authority figures and people in power. This also means that authority figures from your past are back in your life again; and you might even develop a crush or a romantic connection with one of them. This week your connection with a boss or a VIP could lead to increased earnings for you. It might even lead to a complete change of jobs or a revamping of your job or looking at your job through new eyes. You can do something new and fresh to earn money and boost your reputation. Fiery Mars will guarantee fun, pleasure and party hopping. Enjoy!

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Continue to look for ways to expand your horizons through travel and further education because you want adventure and a chance to learn something new. You want to break free of dull routine and the same old, same old. You want life to be sizzling! Ironically, this is exactly what's going to happen this week, quite likely, through a vacation trip. Or it might be a chunk of money that rewards your way that makes you smile. You will reap the merits of past activities - count on it. Meanwhile, you might also meet someone who will be helpful to you later. "Can I be of service?" Love affairs will be passionate and romantic - just the way you like them.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
For different reasons, according to the details of your life, you feel richer this week. This could be because of an inheritance, or gifts and goodies that come your way. It might be because you get an advantageous position in a deal or arrangement with someone. Someone might let you use something that they own, which pleases you. Whatever the case, you will feel blessed and fortunate! Incidentally, this is a great week to ask for a loan or mortgage, especially if you have applied in the past. You'll have no trouble going after what you want because Mars makes you aggressive, succinct and proactive. Basically, if you want something - accept this and go after it because you will likely get it!

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
Remember to get more sleep this week because you still need it (more than any other time in the year). Aside from this, however, relations with close friends and partners have never been better! Many of you are in love; or you feel strong affection for someone close to you. This is a great week to travel with someone or to enjoy a vacation with them. It's equally great for financial opportunities with professional partners. Something will happen this week that stirs your passion and makes you will love someone strongly. The intensity of this relationship overwhelms you, and you feel it on a daily basis. Perhaps this person embodies something you yourself want to be or express? Continue to work hard to earn money because you're spending it!

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
This is a great week for you! You are pumped to work hard, and because of this you will get along well with coworkers and authority figures. In fact, some of you might get a raise or praise. If you tackle old business, you will be surprised at how quickly you can finish things. In part, this is because fiery Mars is in your sign joining your energy and giving you direction and focus. Actually, physical exercise will be important now to siphon off some of this pent-up energy. Bike, jog, hike, row, ride horseback, whatever. Things are so smooth at work, some of you might begin a work-related romance. You also want to help a family member with whom you feel sympathetic. Whatever you do will promote your good name.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
This week is one of the best times for your sign to be on vacation - hands down. If you can't get outta Dodge, then try to be on vacation every day where you live. Get up early and do things. Take a long lunch. After work, be a tourist in your own city. Do something special and different on the weekend. Parties, romance, love affairs, sports events, musical performances and playful times with children are tops on your agenda. This is also a good time for financial speculation. Whatever you do regarding the entertainment world, sports and the arts might ultimately transform your appearance or change your image for the better. You are looking so good! (Buy something classy that boosts your ego.)

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
So much is going on at home and within your family dynamic right now. Relatives and people from the past are back in your world. Perhaps because of this, you are redecorating and making your digs look more attractive. You are also tackling repairs you have been intending to get to. (Better late than never.) Incidentally, this is a good time to explore real-estate possibilities, especially something that interested you before. Gatherings at your home, including family reunions will be positive and joyful. These exchanges will be powerful but they will also be loving and will have your best interests at heart. Continue to interact with friends and groups, especially if competition is in the game because you are keen!

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20)
Your daily pace continues to be busy because you have lots to do. In addition to this, short trips are taking up time and effort as well. Plus many of you are reading, writing and studying more than usual. But you will enjoy hanging out with others because it feels good! These little exchanges will make you realize just how much love there is in your daily world. You will also appreciate the beauty of your daily surroundings. Discussions with others might be profound and intense but that's okay. Your relationships are not casual now because they are a major influence in your world. In fact, this is one of the best years in over a decade for you to marry. What attracts people to you now is your optimism and belief in a better future.

Pamlico Animal Welfare Society (PAWS)

"NEW LEASH ON LIFE" Program - Everyone deserves a second chance"
PAWS rescues adoptable shelter dogs and pairs them with inmate trainers at the Pamlico Correctional Institution. The inmates learn patience, responsibility and teamwork along with new, marketable skills.
The dogs are vetted, vaccinated and altered, house, crate and leash trained, and receive basic and advanced obedience, agility and rally training. These well-behaved companions graduate every eight weeks, ready to join new, forever families - maybe yours?

I'm Cadbury a shy and bouncy 10 month old Chocolate Lab- Pointer mix. As my name insinuates I'm truly sweet as candy and do so want to please. You'll find I warm up very quickly and we could be BFF with many happy years together. At 10 months old there is still a lot of puppy play time left for us to share. Good with cats and other dogs I'm just one easy going guy. I'll be graduating from Pamlico's NLOL program on July 13th and it would be super special if you could come to my graduation. I'll be waiting patiently.

Wilbur is my name and I'm a super special nice guy that would love nothing better than to come home with you and be your BFF. I'm a handsome Bloodhound-Golden Retriever mix that has gotten the best of both worlds in that I'm medium energy and smart too. I would particularly love to lie at your feet in the evenings while you watch TV, read, or work on your computer. At 2 years old we still have a lot of wonderful adventures together. I'll be graduating from Pamlico's NLOL program on July 13th and my adopting family will be able to attend.

All NLOL dogs have been altered, heartworm tested, fully vetted, UTD on vaccines, house broken, and crate trained. With 8 weeks of agility and obedience All New Leash on Life graduates have been training NLOL dogs make great companions.

If you're interested in adopting a NLOL dog contact Jackie Schmidt at 649-5504 or Penny Monell at 249-1453. You can also email PAWS at mail.pamlicopaws.net and download an adoption application at pamlicopaws.net on the individual dog's page .

"Helping the Helpless"
Spay and Neuter Assistance Program

PAWS provides low-cost spay and neuter assistance to those needing help to "fix" their pets. We issue vouchers for use at local vets, or at the Spay Today clinic in Greenville.

Our mission is to reduce the pet overpopulation problem in Pamlico County and surrounding areas by preventing hundreds of unwanted, innocent animals from being born. They are often neglected, abandoned or killed in shelters so altering your pets before they breed is the humane and common-sense solution.

We are here to help! Take action today!

"Saving one animal doesn't change the world, but it changes the world for that one animal."

PAWS is an all-volunteer, non-profit, 501(c)(3) organization that relies solely on donations. Find out more about us and how you can help at PamlicoPAWS.net

PCC to Graduate Over 90 at 49th Commencement Friday

GRANTSBORO – Pamlico Community College will host its 49th Commencement on Friday, May 13 at 6:30pm in the Ned Everett Delamar Center auditorium on Pamlico Community College's main campus, 5049 NC 306 Hwy South, Grantsboro.

During the ceremony over 90 graduates with over 145 different credentials will walk across the stage, receiving degrees, diplomas, and certificates. The 2016 Outstanding Student, Outstanding Faculty, Outstanding Staff, and Outstanding Alumnus will be recognized at this event as well.

Pamlico Community College has the honor of welcoming Dr. James "Jimmie" C. Williamson as this year's keynote speaker. Dr. Williamson is currently the President of the S.C. Technical College System and will serve as the eighth System President for the NC Community Colleges beginning July 1.

Dr. Williamson will dine with college administration before the graduation ceremony on May 13 to learn more about Pamlico Community College and the community to which it serves. A reception will immediately follow the ceremony, providing the opportunity for the public to ask questions and interact with graduates, administration and faculty, and Dr. Williamson.

"After meeting Dr. Williamson in person and hearing him talk about the critical role small colleges such as Pamlico play in their communities, I am even more convinced of the impact that his addressing our graduates and getting to know some of our partners and supporters will have. It is not every day that we have an opportunity like this and for it, we are most honored and happy," says Dr. Maria Fraser-Molina, Interim President.

were all too busy with puppets and sets and plays and rehearsals and so forth to ever get around to it.

Eventually, the theater was made available for storage and the decision was made to sell our lovely “big yellow “binga-de-bangy”. Stu Ackerman cinched the deal with a local contractor who would use it as a portable tool shed, so it continued to live a very useful life. What was the deal? You may have already guessed...$1,000, and SOLD!

In addition to the above letter from Janet over the phone Janet told me:

Her husband Jim Stobie was also instrumental in Pelican Players. Janet recounted how the engraved bricks in the sidewalk were started. Also the seats in the theater were given to individuals at $200 and these plaques can still be seen on the tops of the seats in the theater. Janet would also like us to remember how hard Mary Clyde Dunn worked for the theater through every production. Janet still calls Oriental her home even though she has lived in Georgia 16 years now.

You will remember that Clem Pfaff had the original idea about what if we had a building to use!

Here is Clem’s Interview:

Mike Bivona was instrumental in starting the Pelican Players, and he tried to get the Smiths to “give” them the theater, which didn’t work out. Clem wants all to know that it was the Pelican Players who were originally instrumental in making the Old Theater come back to life, after he got some folks in town interested in obtaining it for Pelican Players. They took a long term for 20 years originally and raised money to refurbish the Theater.

Clem relates that he was in the very first play the Pelican Players put on. (In it was a Bag Lady and you will remember Ben Gaskill had a Hobo and a Bag Lady in his most recent play as the central figures. Jim Stobie appeared as an off stage voice as the Ghost of the Old Theater and howled that he was being invaded by Pelican Players. It was held across from the harbor upstairs of the Treasure Company. They used the Old Theater for Rehearsals. He said it had leaked a little bit but that they had cleaned it out so they could use it. He told about Hubert and Tom Smith owning the building.

A reunion of Pelican Players was held somewhere along the way with 20 people coming to the Village Health Club.

Clem recalls the Old Theater Corporation leased the building from the Smiths until they got a mortgage to purchase it. There was a “game dinner” and the game was supplied by Allen Propst. Angie Propst had the first yard sale for the Old Theater and raised $1600. They received a grant from the State and also raised over $100,000. They had volunteers working everywhere on bringing the Theater back. Volunteers worked on the seats, there was a retired contractor who was a marine aviator and was the manager for rebuilding. Other volunteers came from work as engineers, architect and more. Clem drew the plans and the architect OK’d them. They rebuilt the stage, changed the balcony for technical, and added onto the back of the theater for a Green Room. They added the handicap entrance ramp and were lucky that the handicap law stated that the grade be 12:1 and the aisle was 12:1 already.

Mr. Hollowell the elder was the attorney for the Pelican Players. Clem and Mr. Hollowell played golf together and a deal was made with no money changing hands for him to handle any legal things that might come up like renegotiating the contract with the Smiths. An anonymous donor gave $5000 and Clem suspects that Mr. Hollowell was the donor. Clem was a CPA in his working life.

Clem’s words, “If you can’t entertain yourself, don’t come to Oriental.” But let us entertain you a bit with our schedule at the current www.oldtheater.com.

Next week I will have some more interviews...stay tuned.

Please help us celebrate this 70th Anniversary by joining us at the Old Theater

Oriental to have thespian group

By SARAH M. ARMSTRONG
Staff Reporter

ORIENTAL—Residents of this small seaport have pooled their talents and formed a new theater group called the Pelican Players.

The Players began as an idea thrown up at a cocktail party several months ago. Since then, the organization has formed a board of directors, written a constitution and by-laws and is affiliated with the Pamlico County Arts Council.

Local people initiating the thespian group are Mike and Maureen Bivona, Jim and Janet Stobie, Evelyn Stephenson and Kuni Nelson.

“We really would welcome anyone that’s interested. The theater is a brooding experience — a wonderful way for people to come together and meet. I want it to be jolly fun,” said Janet Stobie in a recent interview. The group hopes to attract members from all over the county.

The Stobies said they have lots of experience in theater. Jim, originally from Buffalo, N.Y., has been a professional actor for 15 years working in New York and New Jersey. He and Janet did several national tours for the U.S. Park Service performing in a play celebrating the nation’s bicentennial. Jim is retired, but works part-time as a Craven County Hospital pharmacist.

Janet is a former ballet dancer and has worked in community theater. She is currently involved in the Pamlico County Recreation Department’s children’s theater program.

Mike Bivona, president of Pelican Players and a two-year resident of Oriental, has acted in and directed various theater groups in New Jersey. He studied at Circle on the Square, a theater in New York.

Pelican Players will hold its first membership meeting this first week in October and welcomes anyone interested. The group is looking for actors and stage hands as well.

There are no plans on a place to perform. “If anyone has a big empty barn, we want to see it,” Janet said.

Members have considered several options including an outdoor theater.

The first production will probably be a potpourri of one-act plays — a little comedy, a little drama.

The Pamlico County Arts Council is glad to have the group join, according to Minds Harris, council program coordinator.

Harris said the group’s work will be a bit different from the type of plays the arts council has been producing. “They’re more interested in intimate theater that doesn’t require much space or many backdrops,” Harris explained.

She added that the elaborate musicals put on by the council in the past would still be performed by the adult theater division of the arts council.

Harris said the council will aid the Pelican Players financially and help the group advertise its productions to the 242 members of the council.

formance nights. All proceeds go to the support of The Old Theater, a non-profit organization.

Music & Memories features storytelling by folks who knew her when and a great lineup of musicians arranged by Chris Daniels of The Silos: Ken Belangia, The Del Rios, Harbor Sounds, Moore’s Creek Bluegrass, Saltwater Acoustics and The Opry Band.

Also Oriental’s History Museum on Broad Street is honoring the anniversary of the theater with a month long exhibit in May displaying the Museum’s collection of artifacts and memorabilia from the Old Theater. Please enjoy this exhibit.

Payback – Well Deserved

Martin Shkreli is back in the news - remember him? No? At first I didn't either.

Maureen Donald
The Editor's Desk

Shkreli is the former pharmaceutical CEO famous for hiking up the price of a life-saving drug (Daraprim) for cancer and AIDS patients by 5,500 percent. The price went from $13.50 a pill to $750. No kidding.

Now you remember - right?

Anyway, Shkreli defended his price hike as a necessary move to maintain profits and to many he became the smirking face of Wall Street greed. Hillary Clinton accused him of “price gouging, pure and simple” and Donald Trump called him a “spoiled brat.” Wow, they agree on one thing.

You might have seen the television clips when he was called in to testify before Congress where he pleaded the Fifth as he rolled his eyes at questions from Congressmen, whom he later denounced on Twitter as “imbeciles.” His attorney called that “a regrettable choice of words.” You think?

Bottom line, Congress or no one else, for that matter, could do anything about Shkreli’s “regrettable” behavior and the case (or lack of) disappeared from the headlines.

This time around he’s not on trial for hiking up the price of Daraprim, even though that’s his biggest claim to fame, so to speak. Nope - this time it’s all about fraud.

Prosecutors have accused Shkreli and a co-defendant of illegally siphoning money from one of his companies to another to pay off bad market bets made by one of his companies. And for good measure, he’s accused of also lying to investors about his disastrous finances. They say Shkreli claimed to have assets that did not exist - surprise.

According to court documents, Shkreli used investor funds to pay more than $7.6 million “through sham consulting agreements” to settle claims with investors from earlier failed hedge funds.

Now I’ll readily admit I don’t understand the first thing about these current charges, but I’ve decided this is a classic example of payback. And at the risk of sounding like a hypocrite for siding with what I suspect is a government-sanctioned witch hunt, I love it!

Shkreli’s reaction to these latest charges is right in line with his reputation.

Shkreli has suggested in interviews that the case against him was unfairly driven by public criticism over the huge price increase for Daraprim. Obviously he’s not stupid.

“My lawyers think that the timing is really coincidental,” Shkreli said following the indictment. Of course, he took to Twitter.

He has 115,000 followers on Twitter (loss for words on this one), where he tweets about this cat Trashy, (should be his name), his beloved game chess, his self-referencing rap lyrics, his market observations, Warren Buffett, Bernie Sanders and Wu Tang, (have no idea who this is) from whom he reportedly bought a gold album for $2 million.

According to news reports, Shkreli doesn’t seem worried about potentially going to prison.

“I am confident I will prevail,” tweeted Shkreli when he was arrested. “The allegations against me are baseless and without merit.”

By the way, as part of the agreement to defend Shkreli, his attorney has insisted he keep his mouth shut during the upcoming court proceedings.

Smart. The attorney, that is.

Making Sense of Investing

We’re at the end of another school year. If you have younger kids, you might be thinking about summer camps and other activities. But in the not-too-distant future, your children will be facing a bigger transition as they head off to college. Will you be financially prepared for that day?

A college education is a good investment – college graduates earn, on average, $1 million more over their lifetimes than high school graduates, according to a study by Georgetown University – but a bachelor’s degree doesn’t come cheap. For the 2015–2016 school year, the average expense – tuition, fees, room and board – was $19,548 at a public four-year school and $43,921 at a four-year private school, according to the College Board. And by the time your children are ready for college, these costs may be considerably higher, because inflation is alive and well in the higher education arena.

Your children may be eligible for some types of financial aid and scholarships. But even so, you may want to consider some college-savings vehicles – and one of the most popular is a 529 plan.

A 529 plan offers a variety of benefits, including the following:

- High contribution limits – A 529 plan won’t limit your contributions based on your income. In all likelihood, you can contribute as much as you want to a 529 plan, as many states have contribution limits of $300,000 and up. And you can give up to $14,000 ($28,000 for a married couple filing jointly) per year, per child, without incurring any gift taxes.

- Tax advantages – Your earnings can accumulate tax free, provided they are used for qualified higher education expenses. (529 plan distributions not used for qualified expenses may be subject to federal and state income tax, and a 10% IRS penalty on the earnings.) Furthermore, your 529 plan contributions may be eligible for a state tax deduction or credit if you participate in your own state’s plan. But 529 plans vary, so check with your tax advisor regarding deductibility.

- Freedom to invest in any state’s plan. – You can invest in a 529 plan from any state – but that doesn’t mean your child has to go to school there. You could live in one state, invest in a second state’s plan, and send your student to school in a third state, if you

Online Car Title Lender Banned from North Carolina

• Borrowers hit with 257 percent APR, hidden balloon payments, quick repossession of their cars

Attorney General
Roy Cooper

An online car title lender that charged outrageous interest rates and took consumers’ cars with little or no warning is now banned from making loans in North Carolina, Attorney General Roy Cooper said today.

“Families who need a little extra money to deal with an illness or a layoff deserve a fair loan, not a rip off,” Cooper said. “North Carolina has long made illegal these expensive loans with excessive interest rates, and my office is here to enforce the law for consumers.”

Cooper filed suit last week against the lender, which does business as Autoloans, Car Loan, Sovereign Lending Solutions and Title Loan America, for charging North Carolina consumers average interest rates of 257 percent on loans of $1,000 to $2,500. Title loans are small dollar loans secured by consumers’ car titles. State law caps interest rates on such loans at 30 percent for licensed lenders and at 16 percent for unlicensed lenders, such as the defendants.

Under an order signed by Wake County Superior Court Judge Donald W. Stephens, while the lawsuit is underway the company and its owners are barred from: making or collecting on loans in North Carolina; repossessing, selling or placing liens on any car owned by a North Carolina consumer; destroying records; and sending or transferring any money. Cooper is seeking a permanent ban on the defendants’ illegal lending business, cancellation of previous loans and liens, and refunds for North Carolina consumers.

According to the Attorney General’s investigation, the title lender has operated since 2012 under various names and appears to be based in Florida, although to evade lending laws the business incorporated in the Cook Islands, New Zealand and previously claimed affiliation with a Native American tribe in Michigan.

As alleged in the complaint filed with the court, at least 700 North Carolina consumers took out title loans from the defendants. In addition to charging sky-high annual interest rates of 161 percent to 575 percent, most of the loans included payments on interest only for the first 11 months and a final balloon payment larger than the original loan amount. This came as a shock to many borrowers because the lender often misstated interest rates, withheld details of the loan, and failed to give consumers a copy of their written loan agreement.

The lawsuit contends that when consumers couldn’t make the onerous payments, the defendants repossessed their cars illegally. The lender sent borrowers a GPS tracker to install on their cars and placed a lien on their car titles. If a consumer paid late or missed a payment, the defendants used the GPS tracker to find and repossess the consumer’s car.

Consumer affidavits filed with the lawsuit show the impact of the illegal lending scheme:

A Greensboro couple took out a loan from Title Loan America to help with medical expenses. They paid nearly $3,400 on a $2,000 loan but were told they owed an additional balloon payment of $1,700—which they hadn’t known because they never received a copy of the loan agreement. When the couple couldn’t make the unexpected payment, the defendants repossessed their car while they were taking their daughter to school and sold the car at auction.

A Garner man borrowed $1,250 from the defendants after his in-laws became ill and needed to move in with him. He paid more than $4,000 on the loan but was told he owed nearly $4,500 more. He asked for an extension because he didn’t want to lose his car, but the defendants still towed it and sold it.

Croc-a-Gators in the Legislature

So much written about HB2, but here’s the real issue. There are some “Croc-a-Gators” in the NC Legislature with both mendacity and a bathroom fetish.

This can be seen based on an early joke my Dad told me about three little boys around a campfire down at Kennel’s Beach trying to scare each other by postulating the “meanest animal in the world”.

First little boy, “The meanest animal in the world is a lion, ‘cause he creeps behind the bushes leaping to “chomp you in two” (while truncating unemployment benefits)”.

Second little boy, “No, meanest animal in the world is an alligator, ‘cause he swims up and chomps you in two (while suppressing voting rights)”.

Third little boy, “Both wrong! meanest animal in the world is a croc-a-gator! What’s that? A croc-a-gator has a head at one end that sneaks up and chomps you (removing discrimination protections and State legal rights); and a head at his other end that chomps you (removing local controls on minimum wage). Gets you coming and going!”

“Wait a minute! If some of these Legislative croc-a-gators have a head at both ends, which bathroom do they use?” - Oh, none, that’s what makes HB2 so mean !

Needs Help with Book

I am in the process of beginning to write my second book. I am asking for the public’s help. With all the media attention on drug use, that is what I chose to focus my attention on. I am asking your readers help with this matter.

I want to write about the users, whether it be drug or alcohol use. I also want to focus on the victims, so I encourage members of MADD to contact me also. So often we hear stories about people “busted.” I would like to share stores of how people came to abuse drugs and/or alcohol, and how (if so) a user has changed their lives. I do not want last names, only true stories.

To make it interesting, I am also doing a “name that book” contest. With their stores, I encourage anyone who sends me a story to also think of a title. The title must be in common with the book theme. If chosen, I will award the winner a $25 Wal-Mart gift card.

Please text me your first name and address to (252) 702-6803. Or you can private message me on Facebook @ Lisa Kay Flowers Santimaw so that I can mail you a form. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Lisa Kay Flowers Santimaw

I pray you all had a wonderful Mother's Day this past Sunday. I received calls from my son, grandson, and sister, but it was an extra special treat for me to have Joannis home with us this weekend. On Saturday Joannis treated us to a night of anniversary celebration as we watched the video of our fiftieth anniversary rededication of our wedding vows that she and Kevin had arranged for us last year. It was a treat to view all our friends and family that made it such a special occasion last year. She attended church with me on Sunday and gave me a wonderful nautical bag full of nautical goodies for Mother's Day.

This past week was Teacher Appreciation Week: I pray you did something nice for our local teachers. They do an outstanding and awesome though sometimes thankless job. I have been blessed to adopt a class at S.W. Snowden and visit with them each month and I carried a cake for all the teachers at the school this past Wednesday.

In Pamlico, I saw that a new concrete driveway has been poured at the house where Hugh Donald Slade used to live. I had a good visit with Ms. Melba Dixon on her birthday, and there was a birthday party for Dylan Ulysses Smith on Saturday May 7, even though his birthdate was actually on May 5. Though he most recently was a resident of Bayboro, Thomas Willis, formerly of Pamlico passed away. His memorial service will be held at Bethel FWB church at 3:00 pm on Sunday, May 15.

On Saturday, there was a Pastor's Appreciation Picnic at Camp Don Lee sponsored by the Pamlico County Camp of Gideons International. Eloise Sos was there from Pamlico UMC, Reverend Jesse Caton was there from Bethel FWB, and Brother Pence was there from Trent FWB. There was special music by the All Male Chorus of Aurora with some assistance from Reverend Gladys

This past week was not one of my favorite times. A trip to the surgeon on Monday in New Bern, a trip to New Bern on Tuesday for pre-op, and a trip on Friday to CarolinaEast for a little repair work. Before leaving for the hospital we discovered the squirrels had chewed through two of our pipes for our shower so what a soggy "mess" we had.

As I arrived home from the hospital a car drove in behind us with Cambodian friends from Texas and Durham. The last time they visited I took them to Brantleys for seafood and they thought it was the best they ever ate, so they drove down from Durham to take Weeks and me over to eat there again. Of course we could not go with them but I sent them on.

James, Elizabeth, and Mattie came by from church to bring a lovely plant that was given to the mothers for Mothers' Day. Next door neighbors Maura and McLydia came over with the most delicious dinner. I have been asked many times if we might move back to Durham to our home there and my answer is "are you kidding me?" Never would I find the wonderful neighbors that we have here!

We were saddened by the death of Tom Willis last week. A Memorial Service will be held for him at Bethel this Sunday at 3p.m.

Kitchen Chatter

by Nancy Winfrey

Great Things Were Cooking In the 70s. . .

EASY & CREAMY FUDGE

This easy and tasty confection was really popular in the 1970s

- 3 cups semi-sweet chocolate morsels
- 1 can (14-oz.) Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
- Pinch salt
- 1-1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts, optional

In the top of a double boiler over boiling water, melt the chocolate, stirring frequently. Remove from the heat and add the sweetened condensed milk, salt, vanilla and nuts. Stir well until smooth. Spread mixture evenly into a waxed-paper-lined 8x8-inch pan. Chill at least 2 hours before cutting into squares. Peel off paper and place in a tightly covered container. ENJOY!

BAKED SWEET & SOUR CHICKEN

- 1 fryer chicken, but into pieces
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onions
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped carrots
- 1/4 cup catsup
- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 2 teaspoons soy sauce
- 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- Dash of ground ginger
- 1 cup pineapple chunks, drained

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. In a medium skillet, heat the butter until melted, ad the onions, green peppers and carrots and cook and stir for 5 minutes. Stir in catsup, pineapple juice, vinegar, sugar, soy sauce, garlic salt, pepper and ginger and cook and stir until mixture begins to boil. Let boil and then add the pineapple, blend and remove from heat. Arrange the chicken pieces in a 9x13x2-inch baking dish with the skin-side-up. Pour the sauce over the chicken, cover dish with foil, and bake in 350 degree oven for 45 minutes. Uncover and bake 20 to 30 minutes longer or until chicken is very tender.

TASTY CLAM CHOWDER

- 1 large grated carrot
- 4 slices bacon
- 1 large sweet onion, finely chopped
- 1 cup celery, finely chopped
- 1/2 cup green pepper, finely chopped
- 4 large potatoes, peeled and diced
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 cans (7-1/2-oz. each) minced clams
- 2 cans (10-1/2-oz each) cream of mushroom soup
- 3 cups milk
- 1/4 teaspoon marjoram
- 1 teaspoon butter
- Dash of paprika

In a large skillet, fry the bacon until crisp and remove bacon from pan. Leave 3 tablespoons of the bacon drippings in the skillet and add the onions, celery and green peppers and cook and stir until vegetables are soft. Cook the potatoes in just enough water to cover and cook until tender drain. Combine the potatoes, skillet mixture, undrained clams, mushroom soup, and marjoram. When mixture begins to simmer, gradually add the milk, stirring constantly, until blended. Add the crumbled bacon, butter and paprika. Heat until very, very hot. Serves 12.

FOIL-BAKED CORN-ON-THE-COB

- 12 ears of corn
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 stick (1/2 cup) butter or margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon dried, crushed rosemary
- 1/2 teaspoon dried, crushed marjoram

Clean the corn. Combine the salt, pepper, butter, rosemary and marjoram to make the herb butter. Spread butter over the corn and wrap tightly in foil and bake in 450 degree oven for about 25 minutes or until done. Turn several times.

LEMON SQUARES

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup powdered sugar
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- Pinch of salt
- 4 eggs
- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 6 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 6 tablespoons freshly squeezed lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- Powdered sugar

Combine the butter, powdered sugar, 2 cups of flour and salt and mix with a pastry blender or two knives until mixture is well blended. Pat mixture into a 15x10-inch jellyroll pan and bake in 350 degree oven for 20 minutes. Beat the eggs slightly and stir in the granulated sugar, 6 tablespoons flour, lemon juice and grated rind and blend well. Spread mixture over the baked crust and bake in 350 degree oven for about 25 minutes. Remove from oven and sift powdered sugar over the top. Let cool and then cut into squares.

YUMMY ICING

This “yummy icing” could be made for approximately 52-cents in 1974. The ingredients used in the recipe during that time would set you back the following amounts: flour, 2 cents; milk, 9 cents; sugar, 8 cents; margarine, 16-cents; shortening, 10-cents; vanilla, 7-cents.

- 6 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- Pinch salt

In a small saucepan, add the flour and gradually blend in the milk, stirring constantly over low heat. Let mixture thicken just enough until coats spoon. Remove from heat and cool thoroughly. As the mixture cools, it will thicken more. Place cooled mixture in mixing bowl and add remaining ingredients. Blend at lowest speed of electric mixer and then at highest speed for 5 minutes. (Don’t be alarmed if the mixture curdles slightly until well blended. It will still come out yummy!) Scrape sides and bottom of the bowl often while beating. In warm weather, keep the cake in the refrigerator until served.

BLACK MAGIC CREAM PIE

- 1-1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate
- 2 cups milk
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 5 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

1/2 Mounds candy bar, broken into pieces

Melt the chocolate and the milk in the top of a double boiler over medium heat and stir until chocolate melts, stirring constantly. Add the sugar, flour and salt to the chocolate mixture, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until mixture thickens. Continue cooking for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir the hot mixture into the egg yolks, beating vigorously, and cook for 1 minute. Add the butter or margarine and vanilla and the Mounds bar and stir until candy bar dissolves. Cool. Fill baked pie shell with mixture and top with whipped cream.

SWEET & SOUR PORK

- 1-1/2 pounds boneless pork, cut into 1-inch cubes
- Vegetable oil
- Salt and pepper
- 1/2 cup bottled barbecue sauce
- 1/2 cup pineapple juice
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 can (20-1/2-oz.) pineapple chunks, drained
- 1 green pepper, cut into strips
- Cooked rice

Brown the meat in a small amount of vegetable oil. Season with salt and pepper and stir in mixture of barbecue sauce, pineapple juice, vinegar and cornstarch. Cover and simmer for 35 minutes. Add the pineapple and green peppers and simmer 10 minutes longer. Serve with hot rice. Serves 6.

DELMONICO RICE

- 3 cups cooked rice
- 1/3 cup chopped green pepper
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 1 can (10-1/2-oz.) cream of celery soup, undiluted
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- Buttered bread cubes (toss soft bread cubes in melted butter or margarine to coat well)
- Sliced hard-cooked eggs (optional)

Combine the rice, green peppers, chopped eggs, soup, milk and pepper and blend well. Pour mixture into a buttered baking dish and top with buttered bread cubes. Bake in 350 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Garnish with sliced hard-cooked eggs. Serves 6.

LEMON BROILED CHICKEN

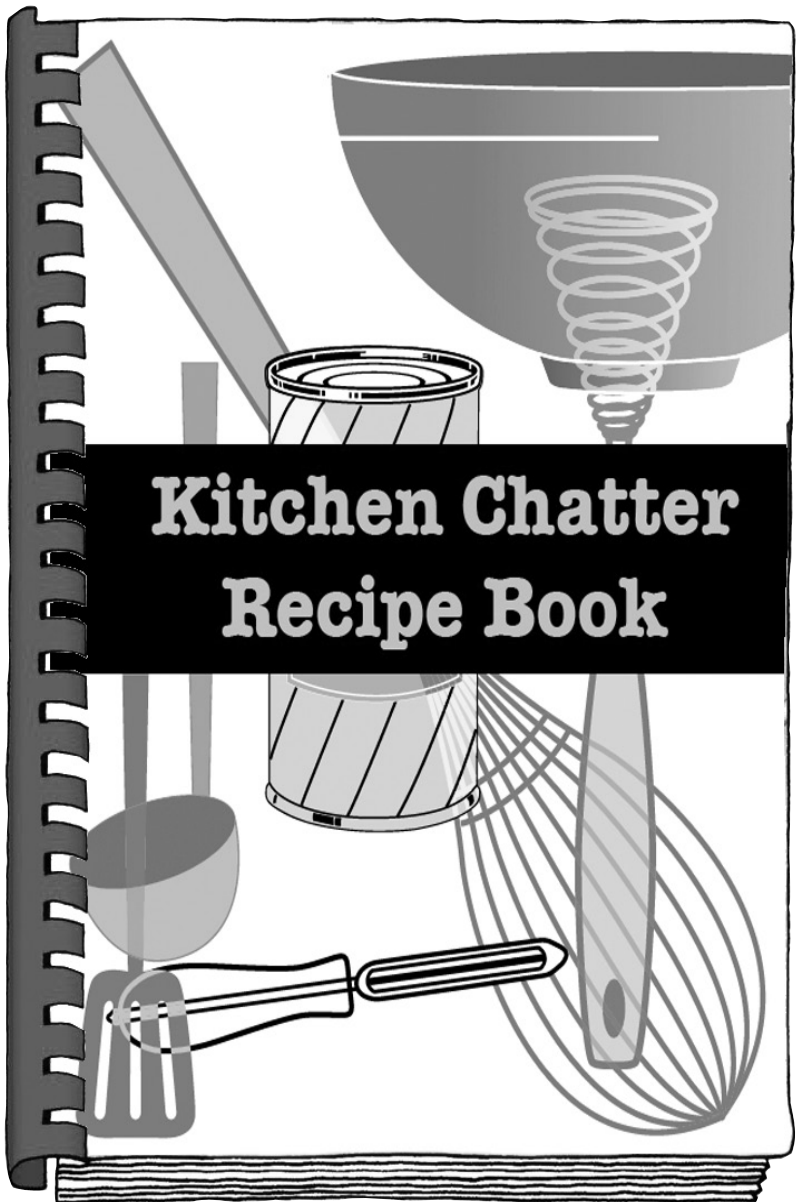

- 1 chicken, cut in half
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 1 small onion, minced

Place chicken halves, skin-side-down, in broiler pan. Combine remaining ingredients in a small saucepan and heat. Brush chicken with the heated sauce at 10 minute intervals, turning chicken each time. Broil for 40 to 50 minutes or until tender and golden brown. Serves 2.

SKILLET MACARONI & CHEESE

- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 cup finely chopped onions
- 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
- 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon oregano
- 1 package (7- or 8-oz.) elbow macaroni
- 3-1/2 cups milk
- 2 cups grated Cheddar cheese

Melt the butter in a large skillet and add the onions. Sauté until onions are tender. Stir in the flour, salt and oregano and add the macaroni and milk. Cover and bring mixture to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes or until macaroni is tender, stirring occasionally. Add the cheese and stir until cheese melts - do not boil. Serves 8.

North Tower Band

And kicking off the Labor Day weekend, on Friday, September 2nd, the North Tower Band takes command of the Morehead City waterfront. North Tower has been one of the south's great party bands for over 35 years, providing the best in oldies, beach, top 40 and funk. Sizzling brass, super vocals, and a wide ranging repertoire will all make this Alive at Five concert one to remember. Go to www.northtowerband.com.

Jim Quick & the Coastline Band

And especially for the locals, Jim Quick & the Coastline Band will perform on Thursday, October 27th. Jim Quick has been touring the Southeast US for more than 15 years, playing nearly 300 shows per year, and has released more than 11 albums including his newest, DOWN SOUTH. Originally introducing their music as the Coastline Band—a band of friends who played the Carolina beach bars day in and day out—the group pushed Mr. Quick to the forefront and naturally transformed into Jim Quick & Coastline. Known for his all-out performances and deliberate, off-the-cuff wisecracks, Jim has been a gracious recipient of the Carolina Music Awards "Entertainer of the Year Award" – nine times.

The Alive at Five concerts are sponsored by R. A. Jeffrey's and Bud Light, The Boathouse at Front Street Village, Crystal Coast Boats, Bob 93.3, WRNS 95.1, Select Bank & Trust, Twice the Ice, First Citizens Bank, Potash Corp of Aurora, Chalk and Gibbs Insurance, Portside Marina, Starling Marina, Intercoastal Financial Group, Town Creek Marina, EZ Docks, Coastal Press, Wine & Design and the Town of Morehead City. The concerts are hosted by the Downtown Morehead City Revitalization Association (DMCRA). Beverages will be available, no coolers allowed.

The DMCRA is a non-profit organization dedicated to restoring Morehead City to a vibrant economic, cultural, historic, social and recreational center. For information about Alive at Five, call 808-0440 or go to www.downtownmoreheadcity.com.
