Is It Over Yet?

By Crystal Garrett

With the last few weeks’ heat indices averaging over 100 degrees, folks are hoping for a little relief. Until then, we should make sure to pay attention to the signs of heat exhaustion and how to avoid them.

According to the National Weather Service, the last few weeks have seen the temperature hover around the 90s and 100s, making it the perfect time to avoid spending too much time outside.

Folks should be on the lookout for signs of heat exhaustion, which include fatigue, dizziness, nausea, and weakness. If someone exhibits these symptoms, it’s important to get them out of the heat and into a cool environment.

The best way to avoid heat exhaustion is to stay hydrated, wear light-colored, loose-fitting clothing, and seek shade when possible. It’s also important to check on older adults and children, who are more vulnerable to heat-related illnesses.

Health Director’s Tips

Health Director, Dr. Barry Kellogg, offers the following tips to help avoid heat-related illnesses:

- Stay hydrated: Drink plenty of water, even if you don’t feel thirsty.
- Wear light-colored, loose-fitting clothing: This will help keep you cool.
- Seek shade: If possible, take a break in the shade for a few minutes.
- Limit outdoor activities: Avoid strenuous activities during the hottest part of the day.
- Check on others: Look out for older adults and children, who are more vulnerable to heat-related illnesses.

Folks are encouraged to stay cool and avoid heat-related illnesses, as the heat is expected to continue for the next few weeks. It’s important to stay vigilant and take necessary precautions to stay safe.

Conclusion

With the heat expected to continue for the next few weeks, it’s important to stay vigilant and take necessary precautions to stay safe. Stay hydrated, wear light-colored, loose-fitting clothing, and seek shade when possible. Check on others, especially older adults and children, who are more vulnerable to heat-related illnesses.

PAWS provides low-cost spay and neuter assistance to those needing help to “fix” their pets. We issue vouchers for use at local vets, or at the Spay Today clinic in Greentown.

Our mission is to reduce the pet overpopulation problem in Pamlico County and surrounding areas by providing thousands of unwanted and innocent animals from being born. They are often neglected, abandoned or killed in shelters so altering your pets before they are needed is the humanely acceptable solution.

We are here to help! Take action today!

“Saving one animal doesn’t change the world, but it changes the world for that one animal.”

PAWS is an all-volunteer, non-profit, 501(c)(3) organization that relies solely on donations. Find out more about us and how you can help at PamlicoPAWS.net

“Helping the Helpless” Spay and Neuter Assistance Program

"NEW LEASH ON LIFE Program - Everyone deserves a second chance" PAWS offers compassionate, responsible adoption services with in-home animal behavior consults. After two weeks of daily training, PAWS will place eligible animals in good homes. Adoptions are on a case by case basis.

All dogs are spayed or neutered, vaccinated and microchipped. You will be required to fill out an application and bring valid identification and proof of a current rabies shot. An adopted dog will have a microchip implanted. The adoption fee is $150.00 for cats and $200.00 for dogs.

Pamlico PAWS is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization dedicated to promoting responsible pet ownership through the assistance of spay/neuter services, adoption and community education.

In Loving Memory
Students at Pamlico County Schools will now have less limitations when it comes to choosing what to wear to school each morning. Last night The Pamlico County School Board voted to amend the current dress code for the 2016-2017 school year. The original dress code was adopted last year. The stringent code was instituted in response to behavioral issues and lack of respect on the part of some students according to Henry Rice, Coordinator of Administrative Services. Mr. Rice proposed the changes at last month’s board meeting where they passed a first reading of the proposed revisions to the dress code. The revisions would have to be made. The final reading was set for the August 22 board meeting.

On the advice of parents, students and administration there have been a number of revisions made to the dress code since adoption.

Over the last year the school’s climate and the students’ attitudes have improved according to Rice and with that came more relaxed versions of the dress code. Violations of dress code result in disciplinary action ranging from attendance and correcting the problem at the end of school suspension for blatant violations.

Now, grades K-5 will have an open dress code and grades 6-12 will have to adhere to a less restrictive dress code than before. In grades 6-12, top wear (shirts, t-shirts, sweatshirts, etc.) shall no longer contain messages, emblems or other decorative designs other than school logo and school spirit wear or manufacturers’ logos or emblems.

Restrictions limiting the number of pants pockets allowed, the color of bottom wear and length of shorts and skirts were also lifted. Under this latest revision students may wear coats and jackets throughout the day instead of having to stow them in their lockers. Even though hoodies will now be allowed, hood wear is still banned inside the school building.

The Board feels this revision will give students more freedoms to express themselves, but will continue to provide a guideline for appropriate apparel in school. They say this rating gives students more freedoms to express themselves, but still provides guidelines for what is appropriate. Additional revisions to the dress code could be made in the coming years.

“Back to School” Drive Underway

The Pamlico County Sheriff’s Office, with the help of our citizens and schools, will be doing a “Back to School” supply drive. We have contacted our county schools and asked for a list of items that they feel are needed by students when they arrive to school. All items will be given to each individual school; school staff will give it to the students in read to go form. If you have any questions please contact us at the Sheriff’s Office. If you have any information and want to assist in this drive please contact us at 252-745-4175. Tears and hugs. Thanks to everyone who has helped us.

Banyip J. Ireland, 80, of Lufkin, FL, passed away on July 27, 2016, in Lufkin, Texas. She was born June 4, 1935, in Allensville, NC, to the late John Albert and the late Rena (West) Paul. Banyip was a member of the Carter Memorial United Methodist Church. She was a faithful Christian, wife, mother, grandmother and friend who will be greatly missed. She is survived by her daughters: Paula Burton (Jeff) and Brenda J. (Kevin) Davis; five grandchildren: Michelle Boothe (Missy), Lisa Boothe, David Boothe (Nicole); and eight great-grandchildren, Faith Boothe, Tyler Boothe, Walter Whatley (Barbara), Ayana Craven (Tammy); seven children, Marvin Whatley, and Diana Whatley; nine grandchildren, Rachel Whatley, Connor and Alisa Whatley, Michael Whatley, Brian Whatley, Brian Whatley (Nicole) and David Booth (Nicole); and six great-grandchildren. She is survived by her parents, Pete and Ruby Ireland of Lufkin, Texas, and was just seventeen when she married her first husband, Troy Keith. Troy taught her to create an interesting life, and she did so, with a love that will never unravel. Susan Whatley was a second tattoo and jumping out of an airplane rafting the Grand Canyon in her 70s, or getting crossing the country as a master quilt judge and earning her college degrees in her 40s, living on a boat. Susan embodied the philosophy instilled by her beloved great-great-grandson, Willy. “You can do anything you really want to do, at any age.” Susan was the second of the ten children of Clyde and Ruby Ireland, and had many responsibilities from a young age. She grew up in Oak Ridge, Tennessee, and was just seventeen when she married her first husband, Troy Keith. Troy taught her to create an interesting life, and the couple would purchase a sailboat – SV “Susan” (Valiant 40) – on which they lived for five years in the community there, working at the library, and purchased a sailboat – SV “Susan” (Valiant 40) – on which they lived for five years. Shortly thereafter, Susan met and married Marvin Whatley, and together they created a blended family of seven children. The family gradually coalesced, proving to be an exceptional and loving match. One of the greatest gifts bestowed upon the children was the experience of Susan and Marvin’s unconditional love and support. Susan eventually earned both Bachelor’s (1976) and Master’s (1979) Degrees in Engineering Science and Mechanics from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, attending college at the same time as five of her children! Susan was a member of the Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi, and Alpha Lambda Delta honor societies, and received the 1975 H. L. Watschow Award given to the top engineering student in the Department of Engineering Science and Mechanics. In 1979, she was awarded the Distinguished New Engineer Award by the Society of Women Engineers, as well as the Woman of Achievement Award from the University of Tennessee. Susan worked at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory and in various utilities for 25 years, starting in 1954 as a stenographer, and retiring in 1985 as Program Manager of the Transportation Technology Program. During her tenure Susan tackled many important to Susan, however, were the bonds and friendships she cultivated with her SWO colleagues, and the opportunities to recruit and encourage future generations of women engineers.

Marvin and Susan retired in 1985, sold their home, and purchased a sailboat – SV “Susan” (Valiant 40) – on which they lived for five years, while exploring the Bahamian Islands. The Caribbean was still the “Last of America” for the United States. When age chased them ashore, they moved to Oriental, North Carolina, on the Neuse River, where they lived until 2011. Susan was active in the community, volunteering for the local health clinic, playing bridge, spending time with family and pursuing her passion for crafts. Susan was a talented crafts-person – a creative and accomplished quilter, basket weaver, and knitter. In 2006 she attained her long-time goal as a judge (SQAJ) Judge, and in 2008 qualified to judge Quilter’s Guild Quilts. One of her favorite activities was judging local and national quilt shows. Susan was an expert at quilt guilds whenever she ever lived, often donating her skills and time for charity. Susan was highly successful collaborating with members of her church to make quilts for the children of the South Texas Children’s Home Ministries. Susan was married in death by her grand- mother, Emmeral Ireland, her parents, Clyde and Ruby Ireland, her husband, Troy Keith, and second husband, Marvin Whatley, her siblings, Pete Ireland, Clyde Ireland, Darrell Cheek (Louise) and Guy Ireland, Marvin Whatley, and Christiana Cristine Cheek. She is survived by her six siblings, Pete Ireland Jr., Clyde Ireland, Darrell Ireland (Louise), Christian Ireland (Cathy), Judy Whatley (Bobby), and Guy Ireland, grandchildren, Joe, Rachel, Rhonda, Alton, Ronnie; great grand- children, Newton (Paul) and Helene Cheek, and many nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her husband, Alvin Ray Ireland, siblings, Melissa Ireland (Ireland), and Jean Ireland (Darden). Susan was buried in death at her church, Memorial United Methodist Church, Lufkin, Texas. Memorial services were held Saturday, July 30, 2016 at 2:00 p.m. at Combs Hall, Central Baptist Church, Oak Ridge, TN. All are invited to the celebration. Please RSVP to susanwhatley00@gmail.com. HEAVENLY HASH
1 package (8-oz.) cream cheese, room temperature, cut into chunks
1 package (8-oz.) cream cheese, room temperature, cut into chunks
1 package miniature marshmallows
1 can (27 oz.) pineapple chunks, drained and juice reserved
1 can (No. 2) white kidney beans, well drained
Cock’s Wii of heavy cream, whipped

In a saucepan, heat the pineapple juice and then add the cream cheese. Stir until smooth. Add the marshmallows and then stir until smooth. Cook over low heat until thoroughly heated, stirring frequently. Serve warm with tortilla chips or pure over a baked potato, broccoli, etc.

MEXICAN STYLE SALAD
1 1/2 pound ground beef, cooked and crumbled
2 large zucchini, unpeeled and cut into cubes
1 small can black beans, well drained
1 medium onion
1 large bag tortilla chips

Combine the beef and zucchini in a large bowl and toss with the dressing. Serve warm with tortilla chips.

SPINACH BAKE
1 box (10-oz.) spinach, rinsed, drained and cut in 1 inch pieces
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup sour cream
2 cups grated Cheddar cheese
1 cup cooked white rice, well drained
2 boxes frozen, chopped and cooked spinach, well drained

Combine all ingredients in a large bowl. Mix well. Pour half the mixture into a buttered 8x12x2-inch baking dish. Sprinkle the dry mixture on top and bake, uncovered, for several minutes longer or until set. Uncover and sprinkle remaining 1/4 cup Cheddar cheese over the top and bake, uncovered, for at least 8 hours. Serve 12.

FRESH CORN SALAD
3 cups corn, cut from cob (about 6 ears)
1 large sweet onion, finely chopped
2 medium zucchini, unpeeled and cut into cubes
1 bunch green onions, thinly sliced
1 cup chopped celery, finely chopped
4 or 5 tablespoons melted butter
2 cups grated Cheddar cheese

In a saucepan, heat the pineapple juice and then add the cream cheese. Stir until smooth. Add the marshmallows and then stir until smooth. Cook over low heat until thoroughly heated, stirring frequently. Serve warm with tortilla chips or pure over a baked potato, broccoli, etc.

DUMP CAKE
1 can (16-oz.) crushed pineapple with juice
1 can cherry pie filling
1 box yellow butter-type cake mix
1 stick butter or margarine

Place the pineapple chunks with juice and the cherry pie filling into an ungreased 9x13x2-inch baking dish. Sprinkle the dry mixture on top and bake, uncovered, for about 50 minutes. Cool. Serve with or whipped topping.

Democrats hold out little hope of seizing control of either chamber in 2016. After gaining just three seats in the house and losing one in the senate, the party holds a margin of just one seat in both houses. Republicans hold the majority in both chambers of the North Carolina General Assembly. Democrats have managed to pull off that impressive feat of getting legislation passed during both legislatures with 43 votes (70%), 2002, and 2004, despite getting fewer votes than Republicans. This story is not to encourage anyone to go out and vote for the other guy. I have a feeling that a combination of favorable media coverage, a massive ad buy by the Romney campaign and the Hillary Clinton campaign, and good candidates will result in significant legislative victories this year. The reason for this is that, if you want to have any leg in the democratic process, then that means competitive elections for the Democratic Party. The party has been a better job than this, it has a record of fighting for things that are important to the North Carolina public, and has had a positive impact on the lives of North Carolinians.
The Pamlico County Sheriff’s Office is in possession of previously seized firearms that have remained unclaimed for more than two years. These firearms are no longer part of any ongoing criminal or civil cases. Individuals with a valid claim to ownership should contact the Pamlico County Sheriff’s Office prior to September 5, 2016, to reclaim their property. A hearing will be conducted to determine the disposition of any remaining unclaimed firearms on September 5, 2016 at 10:00 a.m. in Superior Court. If you wish to arrange a time to claim your property, please call (252) 633-1174.

On August 3, 2016, Hurricane Earl hit the coast of North Carolina, causing widespread damage and forcing many residents to evacuate their homes.

The storm left behind

- Power outages
- Flooded streets
- Damaged buildings
- Displaced residents

Hurricane Earl was the second hurricane in 2016 to make landfall in North Carolina. The first one was Hurricane Matthew in October 2016.

Earl caused significant damage to homes and infrastructure in the coastal areas of North Carolina. Many residents were left without power and had to evacuate their homes.

The storm resulted in widespread flooding, with some areas reporting several feet of water.

Emergency response teams, including the National Guard, were deployed to help residents and rescue stranded individuals.

Oriental welcomes the Piglet

They came. They waited in the sun. They danced with the pig. They were entertained. They listened to speeches. They heard Billy Flockhart thank countless people. They met dignitaries. They sang the national anthem. They bowed in prayer. They watched the ribbon cutting. And they went shopping, Wednesday morning, July 27.

Emotion hanging on his words, Billy Flockhart, owner of the new Piggly Wiggly which ends the food store drought in Oriental, said, “People treat me like a rock star. I am not a rock star. I am a business man. The rock stars are the people of Oriental who made this happen.”

Before praying prior to the ribbon cutting, Flockhart’s pastor said, “You will not only buy groceries here. You will find love here.”

Elaine Creel, shopper, said, “You know what I like about Billy Flockhart? He’s real.”
