Perry Griffin And Walker Scholarship Awards Announced

Eighteen Pamlico County High School graduates were awarded first year grants by The Perry-Griffin Foundation to attend public colleges and universities of their choice. Fifteen of the recipients are 2017 graduates while three finished high school in earlier years. Awards were renewed for 40 second, third, and fourth year college students.

Grants usually range from $1,000 to $7,000 but can exceed the maximum if special needs and circumstances exist. Since 2006-07, the Foundation has awarded in excess of $1,500,000 to Pamlico County High School graduates. While most grants are for one year, each may be renewed for a lesser or greater amount with individual needs of students and resources available to the Foundation as primary considerations.

The Richard Wells Walker Scholarship Fund, Inc. is pleased to announce that four year scholarships valued at $130,000 have been awarded to eight 2017 graduates of Pamlico County High School. Since 2009, the Walker Foundation has made awards in excess of $1,100,000 to PCHS graduates.

The Walker Scholarship Fund was established in 2002 by Eula Walker in memory of her husband, Dick Walker, to provide opportunities for Pamlico County High School graduates that her husband did not have as a child of the great depression. In her later years, the Walker Scholarship Fund was the driving force in Eula Dees Walker's life. Significantly, when Foundation funds were limited in the early years, she wrote personal checks for college students on the condition that she remain anonymous.

The Perry-Griffin Foundation and the Walker Scholarship Fund are separate corporations and operationally independent of each other. However, some individuals serve on both Boards and the interview team is the same for both. It is possible to receive scholarships from both funds as did many of the 2017 graduates. Awards are made in late July in order to not duplicate awards from other scholarship givers. Both funds always give great consideration to scholarship, leadership, and needs.

Perry - Griffin and Walker recipients for 2017 are as follows:

Georgia Wieland-Stanford was the first recipient of the Edward D. Lupton Memorial Scholarship valued at $10,000 over four years. Georgia, the daughter of Daniel Stanford and Lisa Wieland of Arapahoe, will attend UNC-Chapel Hill and plans to pursue degrees in Journalism and Political Science. Mr. Lupton was a founder of the Perry-Griffin Foundation.

The Walker Scholarship Fund also honored Ms. Wieland-Stanford with the Eula Dees Walker Scholarship worth $40,000 over a four year period. Georgia is only the third recipient of this award given in honor of Mrs. Walker who finished first in her class at UNC-Greensboro.

Alexis Edwards is a 2016 graduate of Pamlico County High School and the recipient of a Perry-Griffin Award. She is the daughter of Jim Edwards and Dr. Stephanie Carperos of Oriental and will attend the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. She plans to major in Recreation in order to pursue her interests in sailing and related activities. (not pictured)

Captain Greg Voliva Wins 6th Annual Pamlico Tarpon Tournament

Since the demise of the Oriental Rotary Club Tarpon Tournament, the locals have kept alive an annual friendly competition. About a dozen of the best tarpon fishermen in the state got together on Saturday to take part in the 6th Annual Pamlico Championship Tarpon Tournament. This year's big winner was Captain Greg Voliva of Four Seasons Guide Service. Greg grew up in Craven and Pamlico County and has spent most of his life fishing and hunting in the area. He landed this beauty at 3:37 for the only fish of the tournament and good enough for the win. Greg has bragging rights for a year.

Registration For The Fall 2017 Semester Scheduled This Week At PCC

By Sandy Wall, Pamlico Community College
Now's the time to discover tomorrow's possibilities at Pamlico Community College!

Registration for the Fall 2017 semester will be held Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 9 and 10, from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. each day.

Returning and prospective students are encouraged to come in early so they can enroll and select the courses that are best for their schedules.

"Registration is always an exciting time at the college, and we look forward to seeing lots of our neighbors enrolling here to pursue their educational dreams so they can improve their lives," said PCC President Dr. Jim Ross. "We're here to help students choose the correct path for themselves and their families."

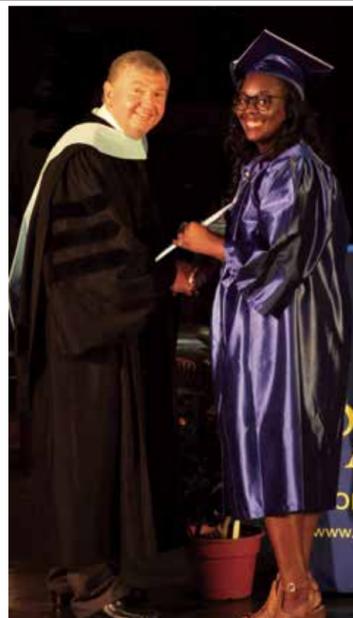

Pamlico Community College can prepare you for a great career or can get you started on a four-year degree at a fraction of the cost of university tuition.

The college's degree, diploma and certificate programs are versatile, with courses offered in both seated and online formats. PCC classes have a 9-to-1 student-teacher ratio, meaning students get more individualized help and instruction.

The college has been ranked by WalletHub as the third-best community college in America. PCC also has the fifth-highest graduation rate among community colleges.

PCC will be offering students a new two-year associate's degree program option beginning this semester: Dental Laboratory Technology.

The program, which is the only one in North Carolina east of Interstate 95, trains men and women to make dentures, partials, bridges, crowns and other prostheses.

The hands-on program will be led by instructor Kathy Nicodemus, who has more than 30 years of combined experience teaching and working in the dental prostheses industry.

Also new this year will be a mandatory orientation session for new students, which is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 10, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the Stancil Boardroom in PCC's Johnson Building. The session will be required for new enrollees, but it also will be fun, with refreshments and lots of information about adjusting to the demands of college.

As always, staffers from the college's Student Services division and others will be on hand during registration to help new and returning students get ready for the new semester.

"Registration is a busy time at the college, and we always encourage students to do as much as they can in advance to be ready," said Vice President of Student Services Jamie Gibbs. "We are here to help because we want to see students succeed."

For questions about registration, please call 252-249-1851, ext. 3001.

Arapahoe Charter School Kicks Off New School Year With Student Raffle

The first day of school holds a special surprise for Arapahoe Charter School students who will have the opportunity to participate in a raffle for a Kindle Fire HD7 or an iPad Mini 2.

The event will take place on the first day of school (August 14) when students will add their names to a fish bowl in their home rooms - only those students present on the first day of school are eligible.

Later in the week, names will be drawn and a Kindle Fire awarded to a lucky student in each grade level from Kindergarten through 5th while the iPads will be presented to a student in each of 6th through 12th grades.

"This is a great way to kick off the school year," said Dr. Dennis Sawyer, Administrative Director of Arapahoe Charter School. "While our main focus is always to provide the best educational opportunities possible, mixing in a little fun makes school all the better."

This is the second year the school has kicked off the new school year with this popular celebration.

Here's a chance to start off the school year with a Kindle Fire HD7 or iPad Mini 2. Don't forget - only students that are present on Monday, August 14th will participate.

Arapahoe Charter School is a Kindergarten through 12th grade public regional school of choice. For more information about this event or openings at the school, call 252-249-2599.

OWC Garden Club's August Yard Of The Month

The August "yard of the month" goes to Julia Talley at 6043 Dolphin Rd, Oriental. Julia has been developing this yard for the last 17 years. Because it is such a large property, Julia has chosen to develop specific areas as individual gardens. This time of year, the knockout roses provide the most color but the red dragon near the porch provides protection to this beautiful yard.

Limited Openings Available at ACS

With the first day of school right around the corner, Arapahoe Charter School officials announce there are still a few openings in grades Kindergarten - 2nd and 8th - 12th.

"While there's still time to register, the window is closing rapidly," said Dr. Dennis Sawyer, ACS Administrative Director. "As long as there is room late entries are welcome but starting off on the first day of school is definitely an advantage for students."

"Now is the time to decide to join the ACS community and secure a spot for your child."

The first day of school for students is Monday, August 14. For questions about specific openings at ACS or for more information, call 252-249-2599.

ACS To Host Meet And Greet Open House

Arapahoe Charter School will hold a Meet and Greet Open House to kick off the new school year. "This is an excellent opportunity to pick up schedules, meet our teachers, bus drivers and cafeteria staff," said ACS Administrative Director

Dr. Dennis Sawyer. "We want our parents to be informed, involved and an active part of our school community."

A meet and greet for grades 6th-12 was held yesterday and on Thursday, August 10, from 4-7 p.m. one will be held for grades Kindergarten-5th.

"The education of our children is a collaborative effort," said Dr. Sawyer. "These events reinforce those efforts and get the school year off to the best possible start."

The first day of school for students is Monday, August 14. For questions about these events and/or inquiries regarding possible openings at ACS, call 252-249-2599.

Here's what one of Allen's customers had to say...

We were very happy with the way Allen handled the sale of our property in Pamlico County. The market was not great and so we could not get the price we wanted--of course it took us a while to accept the reality, so we put Allen through a couple of price reduction paperwork sessions before we sold. He was very professional and patient with us, and helpful with handling all the inevitable details of the sale. Highly recommend him!

Dr. Jim Ross Discusses

Dr. Jim Ross, PCC's President, Discusses PCC Changing Lives

Dr. Jim Ross, PCC's President

Question: What is the highlight of your first year as President?

Please allow me to thank all in this wonderful community for making my first year as President of Pamlico Community College so blessed.

My life has forever been changed by working with you in the common cause of making our college even better so we can serve our community even better. There have been highlights that I could not have even imagined were possible last year at this time that have come true. Some of these highlights have the potential to help an enormous number of lives for years to come. In future columns I will discuss these more.

I absolutely love every day that I serve as your President! There is one part, however, of any day that inspires me more than any other, and that is meeting our students and graduates and hearing how their lives are better because of PCC!

I recently got to know Dianne Golding, an Aurora woman who completed Nurse Aide training, graduating in May, and is working at The Gardens of Pamlico, an assisted living center not far from campus.

Dianne is the epitome of extraordinary hard work in making herself better through education. In recent years, she has also earned an associate's degree in Medical Office Administration and a certificate in Medical Billing and Coding. She now has her eyes set on returning to PCC this fall to work on a Medical Assisting degree.

Her eventual goal is to become a nurse. As we are looking into the possibility of being able to offer an associate degree in nursing at PCC in the foreseeable future, Diane tells me that would be an incredible blessing for her and others if we could make that a reality.

What an amazing spirit and drive she has! For the past three years, Dianne has been a full-time student, while also holding down a full-time job, while also most importantly being a full-time mother! She is raising three children – a 10-year-old son, an 8-year-old daughter and a 7-year-old son. Incredibly, she is also a caregiver for her mother, who is partially blind, and her stepfather, who is now totally blind.

Dianne told me she decided to enter the health care field after seeing her father suffer from serious medical issues that led to his death resulting from his service in Viet Nam. She resolved to get education to have a career where she could help others with serious health challenges. Dianne's optimism and work ethic as she progresses through her education are infectious to all around her!

Speaking of commendable work ethic and optimism, I'm reminded of Asheton Phillips, an outstanding PCC graduate who works as a loan officer with our good friends at the State Employees Credit Union branch in Grantsboro.

Asheton recently received the Oriental Rotary Club's transfer scholarship, which is awarded to an exemplary PCC student who is moving on to a four-year college or university. She plans to use the scholarship at the University of Mount Olive in New Bern, where she is scheduled to complete her bachelor's degree this fall.

Completing her bachelor's degree at Mount Olive will enable Asheton to further her career at the credit union in important ways to serve her employer and local residents even better.

Asheton states that PCC played an important role in her educational journey. She began taking classes when she was a student at Pamlico County High School and went on to excel while earning an associate's degree at our college.

A small group of us from PCC went to visit Asheton at the credit union to congratulate her after she received her scholarship. The elite professionalism and customer service she exudes as she serves the public was impressive to witness as we were there.

And then there's Kara Ireland, a former PCC student from Arapahoe who graduated from East Carolina University in May. Like Asheton, Kara's higher education journey began at PCC when she was in high school.

She got a head start on her bachelor's degree in 11th grade when she enrolled in college courses offered at PCC's Bayboro Center. After graduating from high school, she began attending the college full time, earning her associate's degree in only one year, thanks in large part to the free college credits she had already earned. By doing this, she literally saved thousands of dollars!

Ireland went on to transfer to ECU, commuting to Greenville for classes when she wasn't working in the office at nearby Camp Seafarer. She appreciates the great education she received at PCC and knows her future is much brighter as a result.

These are only a few of the fulfilling stories that make all PCC employees excited about coming to campus this week and helping new students register for classes and begin the process where they too can improve their lives and the lives of their families as a result.

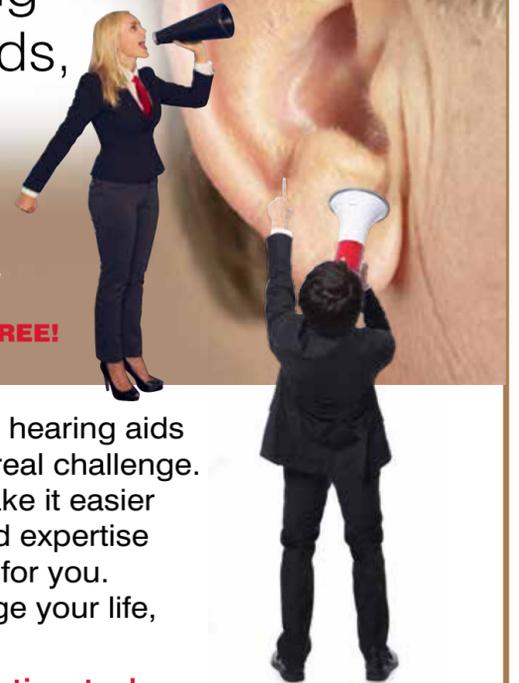

It's why the hustle and bustle of this week's registration period at PCC brings a giant smile to my face. As I witness local residents this Wednesday and Thursday registering for classes, I know many are nervous and some are wondering if they have the ability to succeed in college. Then I see our incredibly dedicated employees slowly ease their fears, walk them through the registration process, and give them a greater sense of confidence that they can succeed. In a matter of weeks I will then be able to talk to them and see their outstanding faculty members are helping them as well.

For anyone who wants to pursue a college degree, please know that one reason our college is recognized as the third best community college in America is because the employees here sincerely care about making your life better and are willing to go above and beyond the call of duty to help you succeed.

Thank you to each of you at our college and all in our community. It is an honor to serve as your community college President.

The Pamlico News provides an opportunity for Dr. Jim Ross, Pamlico Community College's President, to write a monthly column. He welcomes the opportunity to meet you and hear your suggestions or questions. Please email jross@pamlicocc.edu or call 252-249-1851 ext. 3007 to contact him.

Oriental Welcomes New Police Chief

agenda. It passed unanimously, and so, Mr. Blayney was sworn in as police chief before a very large crowd of residents, family members, and friends. Immediately afterwards, the audience rose to their feet and applauded him.

The next item on the Board's agenda was addressing Chris Fulcher's ongoing project. Town Manager Diane Miller stated "I received confirmation from CAMA (Or the Division of Coastal Management) that the Fulcher Point Project is officially withdrawn and closed as far as CAMA is concerned." She also revealed that "if and when a new project is set forth, it would be accompanied by a whole new process." The Board Members took a vote on revoking Fulcher's SUP (Special Use Permit), and it passed unanimously.

The Board's attention then turned to the question of whether or not to allow sales of alcoholic beverages at 10 a.m. on Sundays, due to a bill affectionately named #FreeTheMimosas. This would require an amendment to the town's ordinance on disorderly conduct and public nuisance. Board Member Sandy Winfrey made the motion to approve this amendment, stating "I think the mimosas should run free." Before the Board took a vote on the amendment, Board Member Barb Venturi spoke about its advantages: "A large part of what makes Oriental possible is that we do get tourists, we get "out of towners." And it is a frustration for these people who go out on Sunday Mornings, thinking they might be able to have a Bloody Mary or a Mimosa."

The amendment passed unanimously. This means that any store or restaurant that has a permit to sell alcohol can now sell it at 10 o'clock on Sunday instead of noon.

August 1st's eventful Oriental Town Board Meeting began with a social hour on the Front Porch of Town Hall. This was in honor of National Night Out, and many local residents and law enforcement attended, as did the family of the soon-to-be police chief of Oriental, Nic Blayney.

Following a comical entrance by Blayney and Board Member Sandy Winfrey (in handcuffs), the meeting was called to order and a motion was made to move the swearing in to the first item on the

ETYSA Competes In 15th Annual Summer One-Design Regatta

Edward Teach Youth Sailing Association sailors and parents braved the weather and traveled to Manteo, North Carolina, to participate in the Roanoke Island Maritime Museum's 15th Annual Summer One-Design Regatta, July 29th 2017. Despite the angry skies and windy weather forecast there were nearly two dozen boats competing in several classes including the Optimist Pram, Topaz Uno, Sunfish and Club 420. The skies were dark and the wind was shifty but there was only minimal rain allowing the regatta to run without safety concern.

reusable water bottles, hats and sailing tights. The food was served to a hungry bunch and was greatly appreciated by all. All regatta entries received regatta swag to include locally designed T-shirts. In spite of the threatening weather the crowd and the participants had a lovely day and will look forward to the 16th Annual event next year. Edward Teach Youth Sailing Association sailors competing in this regatta included: Maddie Game, Will Game, Neil Landow, Olivia Thorn, Emmie James, Toby Fleckenstein, Emily Dixon, Lilly Vuich, Jack Vuich and

Many races were finished in each class prior to returning to shore. ETYSA sailor Maddie Game won every optimist race, with 3 total races completed, to give her the Optimist first place trophy. Emmie James and Olivia Thorn as well captured all first place finishes in the 4 topaz uno races to take home the gold in their fleet. 420 racer Toby Fleckenstein was able to fend off the remainder of the fleet to hold a second place overall finish. After recognition of the winning sailors there was a raffle for many coveted sailing items, including Bonnie Frazer. Visit the ETYSA Facebook page or website to get more information about local youth sailing and events.

Edward Teach Youth Sailing Association, based out of the Black Beard Sailing Club on the Neuse River in New Bern, NC, is a non-profit organization established to foster, encourage, and promote the amateur sport of sailing through participation and competition. NCCHA's Heber Guthrie Introduces Sailing Basics To Down East Youngsters

Responding to a request from a group of parents in DownEast Carteret County, Heber Guthrie created a 2 hour seminar in the basics of sailing for 8 Core Sound youngsters. Guthrie, a Harkers Island native, resident of Gloucester, is a local icon known for supporting a variety of civic projects for youth. He is an accomplished rack-of-the-eye builder of Core Sound skiffs, both dead rise and flat bottom styles.

Guthrie offers different workshops on subjects related to coastal heritage sponsored by the NC Coastal Heritage Association. More classes were planned for this summer but the venue for the camps became unavailable in August. An effort is underway to schedule a class in the basics of building skiffs in Pamlico County before public schools open for the fall semester.

With a family history steeped in boat building, Guthrie began building wooden boats at an early age. As a young boatbuilder, he was familiar with designing and building skiffs that were propelled by engines. In 1971, for his first sailboat, he chose to build an 21 ft. dead rise sail skiff. He recalled that commercial fishermen were still using sail skiffs as late as the mid 1950s. With well over a hundred boats now notched in his tool belt, his 46 year old first sail skiff is still in pristine condition. He used it to illustrate both the complex and simple nature of capturing wind in a sail to power a boat forward.

To begin a 2-hour class on the basics of sailing, Heber Guthrie spread a sail on a boat workshop floor, labeled different parts of the sail, and described their functions.

The class learned how a sail skiff compared to another wind powered work boat that was once a familiar sight on Core Sound, the sharpie. He said, "This type of sail skiff was used for fishing. The sharpie had a round stern and was much wider. It was used primarily to haul freight, like from farm to market. Both boats used center boards, but the sharpie was usually flat bottomed, not dead rise like the sail skiff, and it didn't move as fast over the water.

Guthrie demonstrated a special feature of the sail skiff, the yoke. He asked the students where they had heard of a yoke being used. A couple of the youngsters associated the word with oxen. He pointed out, "The yoke on a sail skiff resembles a yoke used with oxen, but it takes the place of a tiller. The fisherman can be sitting in the middle of the boat working on nets and steer the boat by pulling on lines attached to the yoke. The rudder is connected to the yoke, so when the lines attached to the yoke make the yoke turn, the ruder turns.

Heber Guthrie points out the yoke that replaces the tiller on his sail skiff.

Ropes, known as lines onboard a vessel, are attached to each end of the yoke. Pulling on one of these lines turns the yoke, simultaneously turning the rudder.

The students observed that the yoke and the rudder could be lifted away from the transom and stored in the boat temporarily.

The special value of using a yoke as a tiller is that both yoke and rudder can be easily lifted from the stern and stored inside the boat. The net can then be easily pulled in over the stern if the yoke and rudder have been temporarily removed.

Omar sails were made in Beaufort. Heber Guthrie told the students that he knew the sail maker personally and purchased sails for his boat from him Omar was the name of the sail maker's cat. The sail maker and Omar moved to Ohio; the Omar business was sold.

Net needles and a pocket knife were kept in a small compartment on sail skiffs that were used for fishing. If a net was snagged on a submerged object and subsequently torn, the fisherman would mend the net then to continue fishing.

The students learned the difference between a jib sail and a mainsail. He told the students that the jib could be considered as the power sail because its position next to the bow made it the first to catch the wind. He raised the sails on the skiff and explained that wind would spill off the jib into the mainsail. They also learned that keeping a tight line on a sail made it capture wind, while loosening that line would dump the wind from the sail.

Guthrie emphasized a point he makes with all students. "I want to talk to young people about the heritage of coastal communities. They need to know the history of the people who worked in these boats and the people who built these boats. So many traditions are disappearing and it's important that future generation have some knowledge about people who depended on the water for making a living. It was more than making a living. It was their lives."

New members and supporters are in great demand to enhance the success of NCCHA projects underway and the development of new projects,

He is the recipient of a Perry-Griffin Award and will be eligible for consideration for Walker Foundation assistance once he enters a four year institution.

Since 2007, the Perry-Griffin and Walker Foundations have awarded more than $2,600,000 to Pamlico County High School graduates. Each application is screened by a scholarship review committee that considers leadership potential, community involvement, and academic achievement. The specific needs of a student is a primary consideration in determining the amount of an award. For this reason most awards are given in July to avoid duplicating the efforts of other organizations.

The vast majority of applicants receive awards and most experience success in college though many have to modify their goals for a variety of reasons. A significant number of Perry-Griffin and Walker Fund recipients seek degrees in nursing, medical technology, or some aspect of information technology. Almost all of these students are products of a strong PCHS Health Occupations Program. The primary focus of the Walker Scholarship Program is those students immediately entering the university system. Academic preparation is a priority. The advantage of the Perry-Griffin Awards is that many will increase in value for those students showing a strong commitment to their course of study. Furthermore, both funds will make every effort to accommodate those with evolving financial need.

Private non-profits like Walker and Perry-Griffin must distribute 5% of total assets each year in order to satisfy IRS requirements. Both Foundations have met these goals without compromising financial integrity.

Lottery Raises $622 Million For Education Programs

RALEIGH – Fun games and prizes added up to another year of record-breaking sales for the N.C. Education Lottery as it raised $622 million for education programs in North Carolina.

As the lottery ended its fiscal year on June 30, preliminary and unaudited results showed lottery ticket sales totaled $2.42 billion, up 1.8 percent from the year before. The lottery has increased its sales in each of its 11 years of operations. From those sales, the lottery earned $622 million for education programs in the state, topping $600 million for the second year in a row. Earnings for education averaged $1.7 million a day.

"The lottery's performance shows how much Tar Heels like their lottery," said Alice Garland, executive director of the lottery. "The prizes, averaging $4.2 million a day, make for a lot of fun. The fun fuels the sales and the sales produce the profits that go to a good cause."

Final transfers of revenues to the state in June brought the lottery's total contribution since inception to more than $5.2 billion.

During the year, prizes of $1 million or more were won 59 times. The lottery paid out $1.54 billion in prizes. The biggest prizes won included a $10 million instant prize from the Ultimate Million game and two $1,000 a Day for Life top prizes in the new Lucky for Life Game that were worth at least $7.2 million. Many winners put their money right back to work in the economy, by paying bills, buying new houses or cars, taking vacations, saving and investing the money for retirement or college, or donating to good causes they care about.

Retailers across the state earned $169 million in commissions, up 1.8 percent, or $3 million. The commissions play an important role in the state's retail economy.

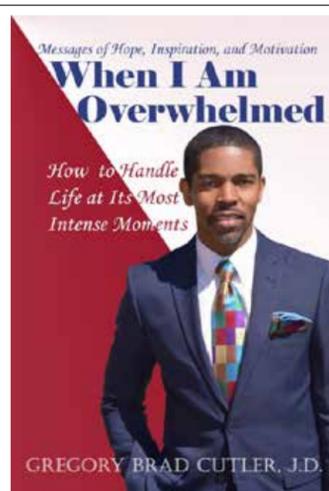

Legislators decide how lottery proceeds are best used. Currently, lottery funds cover the costs of non-instructional support staff and provide additional transportation funds to all school systems; help counties build and repair schools; provide scholarships and grants based on financial need to help cover the cost of going to a state university or community college; and help "at-risk" four-year-olds get a better start in school by attending an academic preschool in the N.C. Pre-K Program.

Pamlico Native Releases Another Book

Gregory Brad Cutler, JD has released his latest book entitled "When I Am Overwhelmed," a practical and inspirational self-help guide for navigating life during its most intense moments.

Cutler, a Pamlico native, has also lived in Craven and Beaufort counties. He holds a doctorate degree in jurisprudence from Georgia State University College of Law and a bachelor's in Computer Systems from Howard University. He has taught at Craven Community College, Pamlico Community College, and Howard University. He has served as a consultant/contractor for NASA for over 15 years. He is an ordained elder and serves as the Associate Pastor and Dean of Christian Education at his church.

This book addresses the fact that life does not always play fair. Sometimes it crashes down on us like an unexpected car accident in a rainstorm, and it leaves us emotionally, spiritually, and mentally breathless and OVERWHELMED, feeling as though we have been forcefully punched in the stomach by death, financial hardships, pain, illness, anxiety, doubt, fear, new opportunities, new surroundings, new relationships, and people. And many times before we can stand back up, here comes round two and three; and now we are engaged in an all-out FIGHT WITH LIFE, and LIFE IS WINNING. This book helps us navigate some of the most intense moments of life so that we can emerge gracious and graceful – and come out better even WHEN WE ARE OVERWHELMED!

This 6-time author is a gifted orator who says that the greatest thing he can ever be called is "friend." He has a genuine heart for people and believes that his responsibility to humanity and creation is "to offer the world a better me tomorrow than the me that I am today."

He looks forward to doing a tri-county and eastern NC tour, so he can "appreciate the people who helped mold me into who I am today." This 1983 graduate of Pamlico County High School is the youngest son of Annie Boone Cutler and the grandson of Eunice Boone.

Financial Focus How Can You Leave the Legacy You Desire?

Dan M. Roberts, IV
Financial Advisor

You may not see it in the greeting card section of your local drugstore, but August is “What Will Be Your Legacy Month.” So it’s a good time to think about the type of legacy you’d like to leave.

Of course, “legacy” can mean many things. In the broadest sense, your legacy is how you will be remembered by your loved ones, friends and the communities to which you belong. On a practical level, establishing your legacy means providing your family and the charitable organizations you support with the resources you’d like them to have.

And that means you may need to take the following actions: create your plans, communicate your wishes and review and update your documents.

Let’s take a quick look at all these steps:

- Create your plans. You will want to work with your legal professional, and possibly your tax and financial professionals, too, to draft the plans needed to fulfill your legacy wishes. These plans may include drafting a will, living trust, health care directive, power of attorney and other documents. Ideally, you want these plans to do more than just convey where you want your money to go – you want to impart, to the next generation, a sense of the effort that went into building the wealth they receive. Without such an appreciation, your heirs may be less than rigorous in retaining the tangible legacies you’ve left them.

- Communicate your wishes. It’s important to communicate your legacy-related wishes to your family members as early as possible. By doing so, you can hopefully avoid unpleasant surprises and hurt feelings when it’s time for your estate to be settled – and you’ll also let people know what tasks, if any, they need to perform. For example, if you’re choosing a family member to be the executor of your estate, or if you’re giving someone power of attorney over your financial or health-related matters, they should be prepared.

- Update your documents. During your life, you may well experience any number of changes – new marriage, new children, opening a family business, and so on. You need to make sure your legal documents and financial accounts reflect these changes. For example, if you’ve remarried, you may want to change the beneficiary designations on your IRA, 401(k) and other retirement accounts – if left untouched, these designations may even supersede the instructions left in your will. And the directions in life chosen by your grown children may also dictate changes in your will or living trust. In any case, it’s a good idea to review all your legacy-related documents periodically, and update them as needed.

In addition to taking the above steps, you also need to protect the financial resources that go into your legacy. So, when you retire and begin taking funds from your IRA, 401(k) and other retirement accounts, make sure your withdrawal rate is sufficient for your living expenses, but not so high that it eventually jeopardizes the amounts you planned to leave to your family or to your preferred charities. A financial professional can help you determine the withdrawal rate appropriate for your situation.

With careful planning, and by making the right moves, you can create the type of legacy you desire – one that can benefit your loved ones far into the future.

Jones Defends ENC Farmers

Walter B. Jones

WASHINGTON, DC – Congressman Walter B. Jones (NC-3) is pushing to reduce the burden of federal regulations on Eastern North Carolina’s agricultural producers. Over time, farmers have been subjected to an increasing amount of regulatory red tape from the federal government. The trend has encouraged consolidation and the loss of small farms. A long-time opponent of red tape, Congressman Jones (NC-3) and twenty-nine of his congressional colleagues are calling for action to address many of the regulatory issues affecting the farming community. In a letter to the leaders of the House Agriculture and Natural Resources committees sent this week, Jones and his colleagues called for the committees to take steps, including modernizing the Endangered Species Act (ESA), that will help farmers and improve the economy in Eastern North Carolina and rural America.

“The agricultural community is essential to the well-being and food supply of this great nation,” said Congressman Jones. “Unfortunately, many current federal regulations hinder farmers’ abilities to do their jobs. We must act on reforms that promote thoughtful stewardship of our lands, while protecting the economic prosperity of our farmers. Thank you to my colleagues for joining this effort.”

Congressman Jones is a staunch defender of the agriculture community, and will continue to advocate on the behalf of those who help feed this country.

Attached is the letter from Congressman Jones and his colleagues to the House Committee on Agriculture and the House Committee on Natural Resources.

Redistricting Committee Gets (Mostly) Unfriendly Reception At Hearing

By Dan Way, Carolina Journal

RALEIGH — All but one of the 29 speakers at Friday’s public hearing of a joint legislative redistricting committee encouraged and admonished Republican lawmakers to dramatically alter the way North Carolina’s electoral districts are drawn. They used quotes from the Bible, state constitution, and Pledge of Allegiance to get their points across.

Some even called for redistricting committee chairman Rep. David Lewis, R-Harnett, and Sen. Ralph Hise, R-Mitchell, to recuse themselves from committee work.

Lawmakers are under a federal court order to redraw 28 legislative districts a three-judge panel determined were unconstitutionally created using race-based gerrymandering. Friday’s meeting was part of the process to collect recommendations for criteria to be used in the new maps.

Nearly all of the speakers during the public hearing session were from Wake and Orange counties. They urged lawmakers to have an open and transparent process.

Their insistence that much more, not less, public involvement be included contradicted the comments of the judicial panel July 27 in U.S. District Court in Greensboro. The judges questioned the need for more time to hold statewide public hearings.

The judges ordered new maps by the end of the month, rather than granting Republicans’ request for a November deadline that would allow for broad public input and more time for voters and other interested parties to submit their own maps for consideration.

Louise Kinnard of Lillington said Republicans should resist the temptation to draw partisan gerrymanders in response to similar past practices of Democrats. Her suggestions included sharing new maps with the public as soon as they’re drawn, and holding town hall meetings to gather input.

“I am confident that those maps have already been drawn,” and the criteria established without any public input, said Jen Jones of Hillsborough, who works for Democracy North Carolina.

Rep. Mickey Michaux, D-Durham, later pressed Lewis on that issue.

“Can you assure this body right now that no redistricting map has yet been drawn?” he asked. “People are concerned. They think you’ve already drawn the maps.”

Lewis said no maps were drawn at his direction, and the only map he knows has been prepared was submitted by an independent organization. The committee will gather recommendations until it meets next Thursday, review them, and adopt rules jointly for both chambers. House and Senate maps would be redrawn after that, and public input taken on Aug. 22 or 23.

While two speakers acknowledged that Hise and Lewis offered a more transparent process than was followed in past redistricting, only Dallas

Woodhouse, executive director of the North Carolina Republican Party, spoke for what he called traditional and legal redistricting principles.

Woodhouse said the party supports keeping counties as whole as possible when drawing district lines, and not using racial considerations. But he said that is difficult as long as a judicial “Goldilocks Standard” is in place, in which mapmakers struggle to know how much race is too much, too little, or just right in the minds of judges.

The General Assembly shouldn’t be forced to draw maps helping Democrats be more competitive, Woodhouse said. He noted that 76 of North Carolina’s 100 counties supported Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump in the 2016 election, so Democrats cannot blame gerrymandered legislative districts for not offering qualified candidates or advancing popular messages.

The solution many speakers urged was adopting an independent, non-partisan redistricting mechanism and using nonpartisan criteria for map drawing.

Letters To The Editor

“Celebrating America’s Health Centers: The Key to Healthier Communities” is the theme this year for National Health Center Week August 13-19.

You have a community health center in your community. I know that for sure because I work for Greene County Health Care (GCHC). GCHC operates community health centers (CHCs) in Greene, Pitt and Pamlico counties. In fact, last year we provided care to more than 42,500 people who live in eastern North Carolina through those centers.

Each year, GCHC celebrates National Health Center Week with our staff, community, and local, state and federal leaders. We do this because we know community health centers work for a number of reasons – the support of our staff, community and leaders among them. We know a lot about community health centers, and we want you to know, too.

Here are five facts you might not know about CHCs:

Greene County Health Care (GCHC) operates a number of community health centers in eastern North Carolina. Six, in fact, in Greene, Pitt and Pamlico counties. We pride ourselves on offering high quality, integrated and affordable care in our communities.

Community health centers offer integrated care, including medical, dental and behavioral health care. The daily cost of that care per patient is about $1.88 – 99 cents less than in other physician settings. In this state, CHC patients have 62% lower healthcare spending than patients of other providers.

CHCs also offer other services, including health education, case management, enrollment assistance, medication assistance, student health and farmworker services. We also go out into the community to provide basic screenings, like blood pressure and blood sugar, during festivals, health fairs and other health-related events.

Community health centers are the primary medical home for more than 25 million people (including children and veterans) in 9,800 rural and urban communities in the United States.

Community health centers provide care to all people – regardless of their ability to pay by offering care on a sliding fee scale.

And that’s why we celebrate CHCs during National Health Center Week. We are successful in ensuring that people in our community truly have access to high quality, integrated, affordable care. Join us in supporting community health centers by sharing these facts with people you know.

We appreciate your support.

Connie Rhem is the Communications director for Greene County Health Care Inc. (GCHC). GCHC operates six community health center sites in Greene, Pitt and Pamlico counties, including medical, dental and behavioral health services.

The Ol’ Front Porch Music Festival congratulates the Piglet and Billy Flockhart on his first anniversary, celebrated July 27th. Oriental, a food desert no more! Billy’s generosity was evident with great Piglet specials and giveaways. That he and his wife cooked and served the hot dogs, hamburgers, cake and cupcakes themselves was heartwarming.

The Ol’ Front Porch Music Festival was delighted to provide live music for the event. Special thanks to Cheryl Thompson for serving as deejay and providing the sound system.

The show stopping Gospel Ensemble performed, with Mioshi Midgette on piano and vocalists from Pierce Chapel AME Zion (Yvonne Jones, Gwendolyn and Delcine Gibbs); from Pilgrim Chapel Missionary Baptist (Kathy Mozell, Sharon Smith, Randy, Darryl and Betty Gibbs); and from Broad Creek Chapel UCC (Bedell Mattocks and Virginia Mattocks Ballard).

In their inaugural public performance, Higher Ground’s Mary Kathryn Christiansen and Nadine Eby provided haunting Appalachian sounds.

Billy and Team Piglet, congratulations again on your 1st anniversary and we wish you many more years of success.

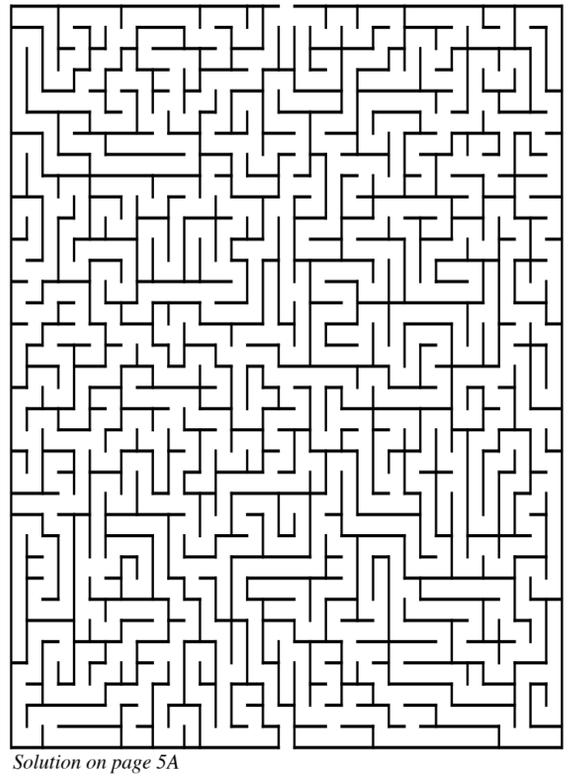

Ol’ Front Porch Music Festival, Dottie Osmun, Board Chair

Betty Jo Rodgers Correspondent

I am finally over the bronchitis, Praise the Lord. I have finally been able to start back exercising at the Oriental Village Health and Fitness Club. I was also able to serve as adjunct chaplain at the hospital again this week. It is wonderful to be able to minister to my congregation also.

We were surprised by Ann and Charles Stackhouse and their neighbors George and Margery when they cruised up Broad Creek to our dock this week. They came to visit with us and to check out Roy's new toy. Of course Jake thinks they just came to visit and play with him.

I was saddened to hear of the passing of Reba Tiller's sister. I am thankful she had Elizabeth Cuthrell to go with her and Weeks for the service.

Speaking of Elizabeth, she and her mom are a blessing for us as well. They checked in on Jake when we were blessed to travel to Topsail Island Friday to visit with our son and his family. This is the first time in about two and a half years that the Kevin Rodgers' family have all been together in America. Our granddaughter, Hannah has grown like a giraffe since we have seen her. She is the tallest of the Rodgers' women even though she is the youngest. She is quite a beautiful young lady.

I celebrated my birthday all week, even though it was not until Sunday. On Tuesday, my sister gave me a 10 commandments charm bracelet, and a dear friend at Bishop Home gave me a blueberry pie. I received several cards, some containing money and gift cards, from family, friends and church families, and on Thursday I got a new light weight life jacket. On Saturday, another dear friend brought me a scrumptious quiche, ham and biscuits so I would not have to cook breakfast on Sunday morning. Sunday Warren Chapel United Methodist Church surprised me with a birthday party after worship service, and then my sweetheart treated me out to lunch a Charlie's and gave me a beautiful card with a surprise in it. While I was there, three people sang Happy Birthday to me at three different times and many other customers blessed me with good wishes. I have had many phone calls and well wishes. I am truly blessed.

On August 8th, the Pamlico United Methodist Women will take Mrs. Eunice Parker and Mrs. Debbie Roach out for their annual birthday celebration at Paula's Pizza in New Bern.

On August 12th, the Lupton Family will celebrate their 61st Family Reunion at the Goose Creek Island Community Center. I look forward to seeing many of you there. I am especially excited that our son Kevin will be giving a short presentation about his ministry in Africa. His wife Suzie and daughter Hannah will be joining us as well. Bring a covered dish and enjoy family, food, and fellowship.

Those who will be celebrating August birthdays include Beverly Bryant, Keith Gilliam, & Diane Hodges (8/8), Debbie Roach, Yvonne Shealy, & Chrissy Fulcher-Cahoon (8/9), Leslie Gilliam, Jr. (8/13), Mrs. Eunice Parker & Jennifer Whorton Phillips (8/14), Morgan Hudgins & Karen Spruill (8/15), Grady Burroughs & Earl Sadler (8/16), Linda Gwaltney (8/17), Jodi Moore (8/18), Judy Styron (8/21), Elizabeth Green and Reba Tiller (8/23), Joan Ford and Cathy Muse Bunn (8/25), Chris Meadows (8/27) and Elsie Keller (8/31).

Have a blessed week. Want a Blessing? Take Spiritual Vitamin "B" and Be confident of this very thing, that he who has begun a good work in you will complete it until the day of Jesus Christ. (Philippians 1:6)

Goose Creek Island

Annette Jones, 55 Plus Club Correspondent

Goose Creek Island 55 Plus Club met Thursday at the Community Center. We celebrated the 78th birthday of Lottie Campen Caroon. We were so pleased to have brother Floyd and wife Martha join us. Of course, sister Edith Campen and husband Bob are members of our club. We spoke of happy memories, sang Happy Birthday to Lottie, took pictures of the family group and enjoyed a delicious brunch. Shelby Keech brought pork barbecue, slaw and chips. Bob Johnson brought a lovely birthday cake and Edith cooked a batch of her famous cookies. There was ice cream in the freezer. Floyd and Martha brought flowers. Happy Birthday Lottie. We love you! Bingo Day was changed to next week. Rosanne will be our speaker Aug 17 and tell us all about the month long vacation that she and Langston enjoyed. Sen. Norman Sanderson will be with us Aug 24 at 10 a.m. everyone is invited to attend. If you have questions for our Senator, now is your chance!

After the meeting the ladies played Rummikub and had several winners. They are getting very good at that game. Neither of my Scrabble buddies were present and I invited Floyd and Martha to play Scrabble with me. To my delight they accepted. They had both played in the past and knew the rules, etc. (except the one about using the dictionary. But thought that was a fine idea), we only played one game, but really enjoyed it. Hope they will come back!

Prayer List: Musa Voliva Harris was released from Craven Regional Hospital and transferred back to Pruitt Nursing Home. Sue Gilgo was able to attend our meeting and reported that E.M. was doing better this week. He has another session of chemo scheduled and later on radiation treatments. William Jones and Markie Gaskil were patients at Carolina East Medical Center and have now been released. Amy Hopkins, daughter of Glenn and Cathy Hagmaier Hopkins, is not well and needs special prayer. Camden Popperwill, grandson of Floyd and Martha has been doing better recently. Don Brinson of New Bern passed last week. Don was the husband Elizabeth "Libby" Spain, formerly of Hobucken. Our prayers and condolences go out to the Brinson family.

Douglas Campen, son of Elizabeth Lupton Campen and the late Eric Campen, passed July 31. Bob and Edith Johnson, Lottie Caroon and sons Tracy & Dwight, Floyd and Martha Campen and son Kenneth attended the Memorial Service held on Friday August 4 at Pine Knolls Shores. Our prayers and condolences go out to the Campen family.

Happy Birthday: Taylor Cahoon and Deborah Joanne Lupton Roach - Aug 9, Crystal Bennett Rivera, Sherry Henries and Robert West Sadler - Aug 10, Lloyd Carawan and Adam Alcox - Aug 11, William Rowe - Aug 12, Debbie Midgette and Jennifer Lupton Gillikin - Aug 13, Danny Perry and Douglas Randall Jones - Aug 14, Peyton Jade Lupton - Aug 15, Cathy O'Neal, Markie O'Neal, Albert Lynn Campen and Bobby Hacker - Aug 16. Happy Anniversary George and Brandi Flowers- Aug 15.

Dr. Darius Salter, formerly of Atlantic, now residing in Kansas, visited our community last Wednesday. He presently has a summer home in Atlantic. Dr. Salter was researching his Goose Creek Island ancestors, Styrons and Carawans. He was elated when saw the bulletin board at the corner announcing "Carawan Reunion" He kept driving until he came to a church with a car in front and met Sam Loveall. Sam introduced him to Roy Carawan and Roy took him under his wing. They came to see me and I learned that the information he was seeking might be found only through folklore, however I gave him the numbers of Sally Belangia and my sister, Maxine Olson. Dr. Salter is a graduate of four colleges and taught seminary for 23 years. He pastored for 12 years and has preached on 6 continents. He has written many books on religion, ministry and pastoral resources. He is currently devoting his time to writing and itinerate preaching.

Linda Lewis and Rhonda Mayo attended a bridal shower in honor of Kaitlyn Langlais and Logan Morris at the home of Doug and Patricia Cross Sunday afternoon. The couple received many lovely and useful gifts. A September wedding is planned. Congratulations Kaitlyn and Logan!

Cody and Kaitlyn Hannah were honored with a baby shower Sunday afternoon at the Goose Creek Island Community Center hosted by Alexis Sanders and Pam Hannah. The lobby was beautifully decorated in a pink floral theme. Several party games were enjoyed by family and friends. The couple will welcome a baby girl, Avery Gayle Hannah in September. Congratulations Kaitlyn and Cody!

The 39th Annual Carawan Family Reunion was held August 5 at Oyster Creek Seafood Co. in Lowland hosted by James Roy and Monica Carawan. There was a large group of Carawans and Carawan descendants from many lineages present. Barbeque, chicken, sides and a large variety of desserts were served. The waterfront view was beautiful and there was a nice breeze. It was announced that the reunion would be held next year on the first Saturday in August at the same location.

Many thanks to George O'Neal for mowing the old cemetery on Hwy 304 across the road from the abandoned Henries Store in Mesic. It doesn't have a name so far as I know, but graves are predominately those of Morris's and Mayo's. Many people in Mesic and other places have ancestors, including me, buried in that cemetery. It is humbling to know folks like George who will do kind deeds when they see the need.

We would like to acknowledge a typo in last week's column. Wendy Potter and Jackie Potter spoke of viewing the Book of Kells, an illuminated manuscript of the four Gospels which is displayed in Trinity College Library in Dublin, Ireland. Kells was spelled incorrectly.

61st LUPTON FAMILY REUNION

The 61st Lupton Family Reunion will be meeting on Saturday, August 12, 2017, at the GOOSE CREEK ISLAND COMMUNITY CENTER, 51 Hobucken Schoolhouse Road, Hobucken, NC 28537.

We will be gathering at 12:00 PM with lunch following soon after. Bring your favorite covered dishes and drink. Paper products and ice will be provided. Donations will be accepted to help cover the rent, paper products, postage and ice.

Please bring anything you would like to share with everyone. But most of all come prepared to have a good time of fellowship.

This year we are again having a "Dessert contest." Bring your favorite cake, pie, or cobbler, or other to be judged. Everyone will be the judges & cast their vote for their favorite dessert. Prizes will be given.

Whortonsville

A very busy week here in "Hootersville." Elizabeth Cuthrell and I decided my yard needed some sprucing up, so we cut bushes, dragged branches, kept the burn pile stacked high, and just when we thought we had everything done, James showed up with his chain saw and we built the burn pile up again! Bushes and grass grows faster here than anywhere in the country! Riding on the Pamlico Road last week two big buck (deer) and a large doe crossed the road in front of us. They were huge and so beautiful. On Sunday afternoon we were sitting in my yard enjoying the lovely cooler weather and watched porpoises go up the creek. I told everyone to keep watching and they would come back by, because when they got to the head of the creek, the porpoises would have to turn around. We also watched a white egret in the yard. We get so busy with "stuff" that we fail to enjoy nature and the beauty around us. There were eighteen at Bethel on Sunday. Jerry Warren, Linda Lupton, Joan Ford, James, Elizabeth and Mattie Cuthrell celebrated James birthday with lunch at our home after church. Reverend Caton and wife Essie need prayers for their son who had surgery on Monday. Jeannette Santoro is in rehab. at Vidant and we anxiously await her return home. Thanks to Diane Hodges for the delicious Egg Plant Parmigiana she gave Weeks and me. Maura and Melydia were here for most of the week for a little R. and R. from the school they run in Greenville. Dave rides his golf cart through our road on his way to his boat over at the Santoros. I think he goes out fishing every day. I caught two fish last week and they were delicious. Nothing like catching a fish, walking to the house to clean it, and eating it right away. That is as fresh as it gets! I need my neighbors to feed me some news. I don't get out very much and if I am going to continue our little news here I need help! Mrs. Winkie was one of my sources and I really miss her. Birthdays for August--James Cuthrell, Diane Hodges, Elliott Sampson, Katherine Martin, Patty Mills, Jason Sampson, Joan Ford, Bob Davis, Rhea Tiller, Maura McAuliffe, and Anna Bayles. Anniversaries-- Paul Triulzi --Thought for the week-- During the singing of Amazing Grace in church, a five year old looked up at his mother and asked, "What did Grace do that was so amazing?"

EARTHTALK™ Questions & Answers About Our Environment

By Roddy Scheer

Dear EarthTalk: How are environmentalists using Instagram to further their causes?

—Jason McNeil, Akron, OH

Instagram, the photo-based social network which Facebook bought in 2012 for a cool $1 billion, continues to rack up new users, doubling its base to 700 million monthly active users over the last two years. Environmental groups, activists and photographers have realized that they can get their messages out more effectively by embracing this newfangled communications medium that uses imagery to connect with the world's increasingly attention-deficit oriented population of Internet users.

At the heart of the Instagram experience is hashtags, which are essentially keywords that Instagram users append to their posts so others can find them through simple text-based search. When someone searches for a particular keyword on the Instagram smartphone app or website, a list of imagery bearing the corresponding hashtag will pop up as results. Users can then choose to "follow" (i.e. subscribe to) any of the Instagram accounts that show up and will then see every new post by that "publisher" accordingly.

Several well-known green groups have active Instagram accounts, so eco-conscious users have many choices for getting their pictorial information. The Sierra Club, the Center for Biological Diversity, Inherit the Earth, The Nature Conservancy, Conservation International and Clean Energy Advocates are among the better curated non-profit accounts to follow. And the International League of Conservation Photographers features some of the best conservation-oriented imagery on Instagram from its network of hundreds of the world's leading nature photographers.

Meanwhile, there are plenty of Instagram-only "feature" accounts devoted to environmental issues that are worth following. These curated Instagram account select posts from other users to feature on their accounts. Photographers and other users simply append corresponding hashtags to their posts and then these curated accounts can choose to pick them up and feature them for their own followers to see. Some excellent examples include #everydayclimatechange which features compelling imagery highlighting the challenges we face due to global warming. #climatechange is another hashtag sure to satisfy the urge to stay connected with climate activism.

Wildlife lovers should be sure to check out bbcearth from the BBC and its landmark Planet Earth series as well as WildlifePlanet, which curates some of the best wildlife photography on the web. Waterlust seeks to inspire scientific curiosity and sustainable products to support marine science research and education.

Likewise, several conservation-oriented photographers have embraced Instagram as a primary means for showcasing their work and inspiring environmental concerns and activism. Camille Seaman, Paul Nicklen, Sean Gallagher, Brian Skerry, Mattias Klum, James Whitlow Delano, and Arrati Kumarrao each post jaw-dropping and inspiring photos regularly and are well-worth following if you need inspiration to do the right thing by the planet.

Every day new Instagram accounts with an ecological focus pop up. The best way to stay current is to locate existing feature accounts and then "follow" new photographers as they appear into these feeds. And unlike other forms of media, it doesn't take much effort to learn about our world from Instagram.

About EarthTalk: Our mission is to help everyday people understand complex environmental issues, promote sustainability and live greener lives. We do this by producing and distributing our weekly EarthTalk Q&A column, syndicated to 1,000+ media outlets across North America and by producing the EarthTalk.org and Emagazine.com websites.

Proposed Flood Hazard Determinations for Pamlico County, North Carolina and Incorporated Areas
The Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has issued a preliminary Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM), and where applicable, Flood Insurance Study (FIS) report, reflecting proposed flood hazard determinations within Pamlico County, North Carolina and Incorporated Areas. These flood hazard determinations may include the addition or modification of Base Flood Elevations, base flood depths, Special Flood Hazard Area boundaries or zone designations, or the regulatory floodway. Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed flood hazard determinations shown on the preliminary FIRM and/or FIS report for Pamlico County, North Carolina and Incorporated Areas. These flood hazard determinations are the basis for the floodplain management measures that your community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program. However, before these determinations are effective for floodplain management purposes, you will be provided an opportunity to appeal the proposed information. For information on the statutory 90-day period provided for appeals, as well as a complete listing of the communities affected and the locations where copies of the FIRM are available for review, please visit FEMA's website at www.fema.gov/plan/prevent/fhm/bfe, or call the FEMA Map Information eXchange (FMIX) toll free at 1-877-FEMA-MAP (1-877-336-2627).

Its Spawning Time

August and September are the spawning months for the old drum in the sound and rivers and kicks off the busiest fishing season of the year for our area. The spawn is not only critical for the reproduction of the redfish, it also provides a large economic boom for the restaurants, rental units, tackle shops and fishing guides in the area. Fishermen come from states away to catch this bucket list fish. Did you know that the world record old drum, at 96 pounds, was caught in North Carolina? Every year at this time, large 40"-50" old drum (momma and daddy and granddaddy and grandmomma puppy drum) migrate through the inlets with one thing in mind, a little fish love.

For two months boats will search the drops, ledges, rocks and shoals where these monster fish will be congregated. When the hook-up occurs, these predators will rip a hundred yards of line off your spool before you have a chance to gain control.... and then they might do it again. In September when the spawn is over, all our old drum will exit the inlets at Beaufort, Drum and Ocracoke and run up and down the surf in the ocean to let the "toes in the sand" fishermen have a shot. After a couple of months in the surf, they'll head back to the ocean until next summer to do it again.

In the 10 months that the old drum isn't here, we'll enjoy fishing for the puppy and slot drum that resulted from the spawn of previous years. For the first couple of years, redfish grow about an inch a month. Once they reach about 28", they too will become spawning stock and leave us only to return next year.

Summer Kayaking On Beard's Creek

By Bill Hines

With the heat of summer here and surrounding us we need to start our paddles earlier than usual. Wind is always a factor in deciding when and where to paddle but in the summer a little wind can be a great help with the heat. You usually pick a creek based on the wind direction and prefer a crosswind. Remember the rule when paddling, if the wind is in your face paddling out it seems to always change and be in your face on the way back.

A favorite paddling location in the summer is Beard's Creek, upstream from the Neuse Road bridge. This is a good creek for a high wind day because it is well sheltered. Check the giant gear under the bridge where many years ago it rotated to let fishing boat through. The creek is very deep and popular with fishermen. Beard's has two branches with the right hand (East) the shortest. Aside from one barn you will see no building along its banks. This paddle offers a lot of shade along this meandering stream with Swamp Mallow blooming at this time of year. If you paddle quietly you should be able to see Otters swimming and along the shoreline. With Otters, when they dive look for a straight line of bubbles. The bubbles come from the air trapped in their fur. You will see signs of flattened grass where they stop for a rest.

You may also see the occasional Alligator sunning itself and then slipping into the water when it sees you. Watch after the Alligator goes underwater because he will always come up to look at you. They are very afraid of us because, from their point of view, we are a very long, large and colorful "creature" on their creek. Look for flattened grass tunnel the goes farther into the marsh, often "U" shaped with an entrance and exit.

This creek has been "trimmed" by fishermen so you won't have a lot of overhanging branches in your way. You'll find a lot of Warblers along the way with Prothonotary and Yellow-throated Warbler songs to accompany your paddle. Often you will also find Wood Ducks bursting from the water as you round a bend. They will usually just fly around a couple more bends and land again for another opportunity to see them. Osprey will watch you from a high perch and Cliff Swallows will jet by you looking for insects.

Try a hot day paddle on Beard's Creek! See you up the creek - WITH a paddle.

Survival Of Monarch Butterflies At Risk

The jewel of butterflies - those large, stained-glass-like, orange and black butterflies that grace our perennial gardens - are at risk. At a staggering ninety percent decrease in population over the last two decades, Monarch butterflies are at risk. They need all the help we can give them (<http://www.monarch-butterfly.com>)

The Monarch is the only migrating butterfly. It has a life cycle of four generations in a year. The first three generations live only three to four weeks each. The 4th generation, however, migrates from across North America all the way to specific areas in Mexico. (Monarchs in Florida do not migrate.) The life and journey (about eight months) of the 4th generation is truly amazing.

Monarch caterpillars lay their eggs and feed exclusively on Milkweed. The devastation of its population is attributed to habitat loss by urbanization as well as the popularity of herbicides, such as those containing glyphosate.

In the wild, due to predators, such as ants, flies and wasps, only about one egg out of a hundred will survive to emerge as a butterfly. Larger caterpillars can become infected with disease by flies or other pathogens. For greater success in butterflies emerging without deformities, it is preferable to protect the Monarch from the egg stage. It takes about a month from egg through chrysalis stage to the miraculous metamorphosis of the butterfly. The Monarch caterpillar undergoes five stages (called "instars") and during that period, it is a voracious eater. When the butterfly emerges, it will need nectaring flowers to fuel it up for its epic journey South.

To protect eggs and caterpillars, I use both plastic containers covered with fine mesh plus large butterfly cages...big enough for potted Milkweed plants. With help from friends who donated Milkweed to me, I released over a hundred in 2016. Be cautious about feeding commercially produced Milkweed to Monarch caterpillars. The systemic insecticides used by commercial growers can be fatal when caterpillars inject the leaves of these plants.

In the Fall of 2014, this area around Oriental along the Neuse River was a migrating route for the Monarchs. Thousands descended over the flowers and trees in my yard over a period of several days. Watching a Monarch butterfly emerge from its chrysalis is a huge wonder of nature for me. I know I'm doing a little to help save the Monarch butterfly and a little to help with conservation on our planet.

Kitchen Chatter by Nancy Winfrey

Versatile and quick-cooking shrimp is the answer to getting a restaurant-quality meal in the table in minutes.

Aspic Salad With Shrimp

2 cups tomato or V-8 juice
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin mixed with 1/4 cup cold water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cider vinegar
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

Heat 1/2 cup of the tomato juice and then add the salt, gelatin and remaining juice, sugar, vinegar, lemon juice and blend well. Place in large bowl, cover and place mixture in refrigerator. When mixture begins to jell, add the following: 1-1/2 tablespoons finely chopped onions; 1-1/2 tablespoons chopped green pepper; 1 small can sliced ripe olives, drained; 1/2 cup finely chopped celery; and 1/2 pound fresh shrimp, cleaned, boiled and chopped. Cover mixture and return to refrigerator until well set. When ready to serve, place on bed of crisp lettuce and pass a bowl of mayonnaise for topping. Serves 8.

Shrimp Pie

6 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted and divided
4 tablespoons all-purpose flour
2 cups milk
1 tablespoon sherry
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1-1/2 pound shrimp, cleaned and boiled
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 cup cornflake crumbs, divided

In a saucepan, combine 4 tablespoons of the butter with the flour and blend until smooth. Cook over low heat until bubbly. Slowly add the milk and sherry and cook and stir until smooth and thickened. Add the salt, pepper and shrimp and blend well - set aside. Sauté the mushrooms in remaining 2 tablespoons butter for 5 minutes or until tender and add mixture to the sauce. Cover the bottom of casserole dish with the cornflake crumbs, reserving some of the crumbs for topping. Spoon the shrimp mixture into the casserole and top with reserved crumbs. Bake in 400 degree oven for about 15 minutes or until crumbs are golden brown. Serves 4.

Shrimp Luncheon Mold

1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
2/3 cup cold water
1 cup sour cream
1/4 cup chili sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed and undiluted
1 cup cooked, peeled shrimp
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper

Soften the gelatin in cold water and place over low heat. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. Blend in sour cream, chili sauce, salt and lemonade concentrate; chill until thickened. Fold the shrimp, celery and green peppers into the gelatin mixture. Pour into a non-stick or oiled 3-1/2 cup mold or bowl and chill until firm. Serve with a topping of mayonnaise. Serves 6.

Shrimp Dip

This is an elegant dip but it's also delicious to serve over steamed broccoli, baked potatoes or tossed with cooked pasta topped with Parmesan cheese.

1 envelope onion soup mix
1 pint sour cream
1-1/2 cups chopped, cooked shrimp
1/2 cup catsup
3 or 4 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine the above ingredients and blend well. Refrigerate until ready to use. Makes 2 cups.

Shrimp Casserole

1 pound fresh shrimp, cleaned, boiled an cut in half
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup salad dressing and mayonnaise
1/3 cup milk
1 can (5-oz.) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
1 cup finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons freshly chopped parsley
1 tablespoon finely chopped/minced onion
2 cups cooked rice
Dash of hot sauce
1-1/2 cups fresh breadcrumbs
3 or 4 tablespoons butter, melted

Generously butter a 2-quart baking dish - set aside. Combine the soup, salad dressing or mayonnaise and the milk and blend well. Mix in the shrimp, water, chestnuts, celery, parsley, onions, rice and hot sauce. Pour mixture in the prepared baking dish. Combine the breadcrumbs and butter, blend, and sprinkle over the top. Bake in 350 degree oven and bake for 30 or 35 minutes. Serves 6.

Elegant Crab & Shrimp Bake

1 pound fresh crabmeat
1 cup shrimp, cleaned, cooked and cut in small chunks
1 large green bell pepper, finely chopped
1 small onion, finely chopped
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1 cup mayonnaise (not salad dressing)
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of hot sauce
1 cup Mozzarella cheese, cut into small cubes
1 cup fresh breadcrumbs tossed with melted butter and freshly grated Parmesan cheese

Combine the green peppers, onions and celery, toss, and then add the shrimp and crabmeat and blend. Toss in the cubed Mozzarella cheese. Combine the mayonnaise with the pepper and Worcestershire and blend before combining with the shrimp and crab mixture. Place in generously buttered baking dish. Cover top with the breadcrumb mixture and bake in 350 degree oven for about 30 minutes.

NOTE: If desired, for a nutty and delicious flavor, add about 2 tablespoons sherry.
