NC Celebrates 100 Years Of Safe School Bus Transportation

State and local education and transportation leaders gathered yesterday in Oriental to kick off Gov. Roy Cooper's designation of September as Safe-to-School Month and to mark the 100-year anniversary of the first use of motorized school transportation in North Carolina.

The event highlighted the progress the state has achieved in providing safe school bus transportation. On September 5, 1917, 100 years ago this week, the former Oriental Consolidated School District in Pamlico County started using a motorized bus to take students to and from school for the first time in North Carolina.

The brainchild of Pamlico County Schools Superintendent TB Attmore, the buses could seat 30 and were first driven by Zeb Brinson of Arapahoe. The bus was an instant hit, and was quickly adopted by other rural eastern counties. Previously, many children across the state either rode to school on a horse-drawn wagon, or walked.

North Carolina was one of the first states to adopt the then-cutting-edge technology of motorized vehicles in such a way. The goal was to improve educational opportunities for rural students by making it easier for them to attend centralized schools.

Speakers at the event included Lisa Jackson, Superintendent of Pamlico County Schools, Mark Ezzell, director of the Governor's Highway Safety Program, Pamlico County Sheriff Chris Davis, and Kevin Harrison, section chief of transportation services for the N.C. Department of Public Instruction.

State Superintendent Mark Johnson said it's hard to overstate the importance of school bus transportation in North Carolina. "School buses are so much a part of our daily lives that it's hard to believe that they were once a ground-breaking innovation. But they were back in 1917," Johnson said. "Pamlico County's school superintendent then, T.B. Atmore, was so proud of his "truck" that he drove it all the way to Raleigh, giving rides around the city to Gov. Thomas Bickett and other state leaders."

On display was a 1931 Chevrolet bus brought to the event from the Iredell-Statesville school district and the state's most up-to-date bus, a 2018 Thomas 72-passenger model with three-point seat belts from Carteret County. The original 1917 school "truck" was not preserved.

For many students, the school bus is the only method of transportation to and from school. For those students, the school bus represents more than just a ride; it represents access to educational opportunities.

Something For You!

Are you looking for a fun evening out with no expense? Are you looking for a job? Do you want to know more about your County and what is here? Do you want to know where to shop or eat? Do you want to meet some of the non-profits helping out in our community? Do you want to hear some live music? If you answered yes to any of these questions, we have something for you!

As crazy as it sounds, the Pamlico County Chamber of Commerce and PCC Career Center's SPOTLIGHT Pamlico Business EXPO/Job Fair on September 19th from 4-7pm is the place to be. You can sample food from our amazing restaurants. Charlie's Restaurant will be there and has won our Taster's Choice Award the last 2 years in a row. Will someone else step up to challenge them for the Award? Piggly Wiggly's Pamlico Restaurant has taken on the challenge and now Brantley's Village Restaurant, Live Oak Grill and Bojangles are considering doing so too. Others restaurants are welcome to throw their hat into the ring. Add the variety of music to the food samples and smiling faces of our friendly vendors and the fun begins. Last year's event attracted over 450 attendees and they had a good time while seeing what their community has to offer.

You will also enjoy meeting our amazing businesses, non-profits and other organizations who are attending the event and are often the backbone of our community. You will even catch up with some of your neighbors. So far, we have 14 confirmed Job Fair, 23 EXPO businesses participating, and 11 sponsors. We are still accepting a few more applications, but are starting to run out of inside space.

We thank our sponsors and partners for helping to keep the costs down for our small businesses. So far, those sponsors/partners are: Pamlico Community College along with its Career Center and Small Business Center, Carolina East Health Systems, Tideland EMC, Trent Cadillac Buick GMC, Deaton

Yacht Service, Pamlico Economic Development, Bayboro Pharmacy, The Pamlico News, and Potash Corp Aurora.

Currently listed Job Fair employers are: Adecco, Alpha Media, Bojangles, Blue Arbor Inc, Carolina East Health System (tentative), Coastal Community Action, Inc., Coastal Women's Shelter, Craven Area Rural Transit System, Deaton Yacht Service Inc, Pamlico County Career Center, Pamlico County Health Department, RHA, Twin Rivers Opportunities, US Army Recruiting, Eric Cedars of Pamlico Community College's Career Center is hosting a series of free workshops that will help prepare you for the

Job Fair and obtaining employment. Those workshops are September 5th, 7th, 12th, 14th and 21st from 4-5pm in Room 117 of the Johnson Building at Pamlico Community College. To register call (252) 745-9934 or email Ecedars@pamlicocc.edu

Our current list of EXPO vendors are: AFLAC, Axelson Chiropractic, Bayboro Pharmacy, Carolina East Health Systems, Charlie's Restaurant, Coastal Carolina Regional Airport, Coastal Environmental Partnership, Creative Kitchen & Bath, Deaton Yacht Service, Edward Jones Investments, Forest Farm Supply, GOP, Green County Health/ Pamlico Community Health, Hospice of Pamlico, Tideland EMC, PCC Small Business Center, Piggly Wiggly Pamlico Restaurant, Sea Harbour Yacht Club, Trent Cadillac Buick GMC, Tru-Coat, University of Mt. Olive, and World Wide Marine Training. To register for the EXPO call (252) 745-3008 or 745-3081, or email executivedirector1@embarqmail.com

Put September 19th from 4-7pm on your calendar and come out to have some fun at the 2017 SPOTLIGHT Pamlico EXPO/Job Fair. Listen for our commercials on Curtis Media's WSFL 106.5 and announcements on Public Radio East.

PCC Graduate Now In Medical Career To Help Others

By Sandy Wall, Pamlico Community College
Kayla Thomas of New Bern believes she has found her life's work: She wants a career in medicine so she can help people overcome health problems and sickness.

The 35-year-old Harkers Island native says she came to that realization after her best friend died following a lengthy battle with cancer.

"Medicine has always intrigued me, and I find the human body fascinating," Thomas said recently. "Some years ago, my best friend got very sick, and I took care of her in her home while she battled cancer."

The hours spent with her friend in and out of hospitals and doctors' offices initially left Thomas disenchanted with medicine, but eventually time would rekindle her interest in health care and her passion for helping others.

"We spent so much time in and out of hospitals and dealing with medical problems that I honestly didn't think I would ever have any desire to do anything medical again after she passed away," she said. "After some years passed and I had time to grieve over the loss of my friend, my desire to help people dealing with sickness and health problems returned. I honestly just believe it is part of what I was born to do."

Thomas found a way to reach her goals through Pamlico Community College's Medical Assisting program. She graduated in May, and has traded the long hours and late nights of restaurant work for a rewarding new job at CarolinaEast Urology Center in New Bern.

"Kayla Thomas is a great example of someone who decided to pursue her true passion with us at Pamlico Community College," said PCC President Dr. Jim Ross. "Now she is in a position to improve her life and the lives of her patients. Success stories such as Kayla Thomas help to show why PCC has been ranked as the top community college in America."

Thomas said she decided to check out PCC because of its location and its reputation. However, the way she was treated when she enrolled proved right away that she made the right decision.

"I chose PCC at the time because I had heard great things about the college and it was close to where I was living," Thomas said. "I remember walking in the front office, and the first person I met was Vanessa Bryant. She was very encouraging and extremely helpful in getting me headed in the right direction. She made me feel welcome."

Bryant suggested Thomas meet with Jessica Boomer, a registered nurse who oversaw the Medical Assisting program at the time. The program was a perfect match for her, and Thomas was on her way.

The kindness, support and encouragement Thomas received from the instructors and staffers at PCC meant a lot, she said.

"One of the best things about PCC is the faculty," Thomas said. "They are all approachable, humble, skilled at their craft, and so very encouraging. They are willing to help any way possible to make sure you succeed and reach your goals."

She continued: "There is no doubt that the atmosphere the staff sets at the campus is what I admire most about Pamlico Community College. They all make you feel like you are a part of something great – and who doesn't want that?"

Thomas became one of PCC's Student Ambassadors, a post that enabled her to represent the college at campus activities and community events.

"I took the position seriously and, in the short time I was at PCC, I learned everything about the college I could," she said. "I still enjoy being able to encourage people I meet to go back to school. I also tell them that Pamlico Community College would be an excellent choice. I tell people they could not get a better education or experience anywhere."

Thomas is enjoying her current job, but is exploring the idea of becoming a nurse. She says she feels prepared to take on new challenges at work and elsewhere, thanks in large part to PCC.

"Each of my instructors were more than experienced and knowledgeable enough to help teach me and prepare me for Medical Assisting," she said. "I believe their own love and passion for the field had everything to do with being able to equip me for the job. It has been life changing, to say the least."

Pamlico Animal Welfare Society (PAWS)

"NEW LEASH ON LIFE" Program
"Everyone deserves a second chance."

PAWS rescues adoptable shelter dogs and pairs them with inmate trainers at the Pamlico Correctional Institution. The inmates learn patience, responsibility and teamwork along with new, marketable skills. The dogs are vetted, vaccinated and altered, house, crate and leash trained, and receive basic and advanced obedience, agility and rally training. These well-behaved companions graduate every eight weeks, ready to join new, forever families - maybe yours?

Mia is my name and I have plenty of self confidence. I'm a 3 year old lab mix, so we could have many years together for lots of excellent adventures. I get along well with other dogs and have found myself without a home due to my family being deployed. A medium size dog that is just looking for a family and will be a well trained doggie after graduating from Pamlico's New Leash on Life program in October.

Play, play, play all day that's my puppy motto. Oh yes, Maxine is my name. Did you ever want a miniature black lab? Well I'm your girl. At only 6 months of age I'm still only a smallish medium size doggie and we'll have many wonderful years together. I get along well with other dogs and children. I can't wait for you to come to my New Leash on Life graduation, so you can see all the new tricks I've learned.

I'm Isabelle and a sweeter dog you won't find. I so truly want to please my family, a medium size girl with a low energy level that is around 1 1/2 years old. A very obedient girl that will come and sit when asked, has been good with other dogs large or small and cats. I also really love children, so hopefully you have some around. Up to date on all my vaccinations, spayed, and fully vetted I can't wait to meet you, so Please call 252-670-6129 soon to set up a meet and greet. I'm available for adoption right away.

All New Leash on Life dogs are fully vetted, altered, heartworm tested, and micro chipped. After they've graduated from the New Leash on Life program they have 8 weeks of crate training, housebreaking, leash experience, with some obedience and agility work. If you're interested in adopting one of our dogs contact Jackie at 252-649-5504 or Penny at 252-249-1453 and fill out an adoption application at Pamlicopaws.net. All adopting families are invited to their dog's graduation the middle of October.

Pack your bags, Sagittarius. A trip invitation is headed your way. Don't say no. You deserve a break. A notebook reveals more than you bargained for.

Camp Vandemere Family Fun Day

Camp Vandemere hosted both New Haven FWB church and Rock of Zion FWB church for their back to school family fun day. These two Family fun days were wonderful and filled with a very sweet spirit. They enjoyed swimming at the pool, fishing, boating and relaxing by the Bay River and as always fellowship around the table. Camp Vandemere's very reason for existence is for Christian ministry and spiritual growth and to win the lost to Jesus Christ. New Haven and Rock of Zion did just that. They ministered to their families and to the camp with Christian love. New Haven and Rock of Zion we thank you for your encouragement, continued prayers and support to our precious camp. Thank you for believing in the cause. If you would like to learn more about Camp Vandemere contact executive director Rick Price or Assistant Director Amanda Finch 252-617-2499.

Oriental Rotary Club Revives Membership Requirements

The oriental Rotary Club has amended its by- laws in an effort to attract more full time working professionals in Pamlico County. Rotary understands that full time professional business people may have a hard time making some meetings. Therefore, we have changed our by- laws to ease the meeting requirement for working professionals. If you are a working professional who is willing to help make a difference in Pamlico County, the Oriental Rotary Club would like you to join us as an associate or corporate member. Associate membership requires that you stay abreast of Rotary activities, attend one meeting a quarter, support two fundraisers a year, either financially, or physically, and contribute a minimum of $100 a year to the Rotary Foundation. Associate members are welcome to attend all Rotary social activities. Corporate membership allows a corporate CEO, or business owner, to join Rotary on behalf of their organization. The Corporate membership provides full membership to the CEO, or business owner, but allows them to designate other members of his or her organization to attend regular meetings in their place. The business is expected to participate in Rotary fund raising and social activities. Rotary's impact on Pamlico County over this past year includes over 821 volunteer hours in support of county non-profit organizations, and $38,000 in educational assistance in the form of scholarships, student programs, and financial contributions to county non-profits. We could do much more with the assistance of our county's full time professionals. If you are interested in these alternate forms of Rotary membership contact Jim Berry our membership director at 252-249-3960 or come to one of our meetings at Brantley's 6:00 Monday evenings. Guests are always welcome.

HEARING LOSS
Now linked to Dementia & Alzheimer's Disease

Don't ignore the WARNING signs:

- Increasingly frustrated and socially isolated
- Unable to hear well in social settings
- Ask others to repeat themselves
- You hear, but don't understand
- Others repeatedly ask you to turn down the television?

"We followed 639 people, ages 36 to 90 for nearly 12 years, and found that for each 10-decibel loss in hearing, the risk of dementia rose about 20 percent among the participants. Compared with those who could hear normally when first examined, the risk of dementia doubled among those with mild hearing loss, tripled among those with moderate hearing loss and increased fivefold among those with severe hearing loss."

Rabid Foxes Captured In Pamlico

The Pamlico County Health Department and Pamlico County Animal Control has confirmed two Foxes in the area has tested positive for Rabies.

Rabies is a preventable viral disease of mammals most often transmitted through the bite of a rabid animal. The vast majority of rabies cases reported to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) each year occur in wild animals like raccoons, skunks, bats, and foxes.

The rabies virus (<https://www.cdc.gov/rabies/transmission/virus.html>) infects the central nervous system, ultimately causing disease in the brain and death. The early symptoms of rabies in people are similar to that of many other illnesses, including fever, headache, and general weakness or discomfort. As the disease progresses, more specific symptoms appear and may include insomnia, anxiety, confusion, slight or partial paralysis, excitation, hallucinations, agitation, hypersalivation (increase in saliva), difficulty swallowing, and hydrophobia (fear of water). Death usually occurs within days of the onset of these symptoms.

This is a reminder to keep your animals from roaming the area, ensure that your animals are current on all their vaccinations especially for rabies.

If you have any questions please call Animal Control Officer Berkley Hill at 252-745-3203 or Scott Lenhart, Pamlico County Health Director at 252-745-5111

Oriental Town Manager, Diane Miller, reminds everyone that it is important to remember that if an identified animal (domestic animal that has come in contact with a rabid animal) cannot or is not properly confined for 45 days, the Health Director has the right to seize the animal and euthanize it. Pamlico County has no animal shelter, nor means of confinement.

She says the best advice is to keep your pets close to home, make sure they are up to date on vaccinations, report any sightings of potentially rabid animals. Foxes are nocturnal- you should not see them roaming neighborhoods during the day.

If your animal comes in contact- contact meaning anything from a fight involving bites, cuts and scrapes to simply drinking from the same water bowl as a rabid animal- take it to the Vet for a rabies booster- report it to Animal Control, confine the animal in your home.

P.C. Schools Virtual Academy Hosts Open House

Submitted by: Kim Potter, Alternative Learning Coordinator

On Thursday, August 24, 2017, Pamlico County Schools Virtual Academy had their inaugural open house to welcome students and parents. Parents had an opportunity to learn more about the Virtual Academy from the EdOptions Academy Implementation and Consulting Manager, Scott Lobdell. Also in attendance were Sherry Meador, Executive Director of Instructional Services, and Kim Potter, Alternative Learning Coordinator. During the meeting, parents and local community members were able to ask questions about how the program works. Here are some of the questions that were discussed:

What is Pamlico County Schools Virtual Academy (PCS VA)?

Pamlico County Schools Virtual Academy is an online program that offers students in grades 8-12, from non-traditional school settings (private and homeschool), an option in their educational experience. This is a 100% online program that allows students more freedom, flexibility, choice and convenience than a traditional school. We offer high quality courses taught by highly qualified instructors. Students will also have access to classes that may not be offered in their face to face schools. Pamlico County Schools has partnered with EdOptions Academy to offer these virtual courses.

What can I expect? These courses allow students to work at their own pace. Once they log into their account, there is a pacing guide that will help keep them on track. There will be a state certified teacher who will be available to help answer questions and keep them motivated. Parent and district access to student progress and communications is facilitated by an easy to navigate student information system. Pamlico County Schools will also be monitoring and facilitating student participation as we pilot this new opportunity for non-traditional students.

What is the schedule like? Each course is 18 weeks in length and we will follow the Pamlico County Schools high school 9 week calendar.

What materials are needed? Student in the virtual academy will need a computer with access to the internet each day. Students will also need a headset with a microphone.

Who is eligible to enroll and what is the cost to be enrolled in the academy?

It is FREE of charge to all students who dual enroll in the Pamlico County School system. Students may be dually enrolled in a private or homeschool. A minimum of two courses must be taken each semester.

What courses are available? There are many course options to choose from, including: English, Math, Science, Social Studies, performing arts, career and technical education, Advanced Placement courses, global languages and more. To view a complete list of courses, visit <http://www.edmentum.com/course-catalog>.

Is it too late to sign up? No, students call still be enrolled into the Virtual Academy. However, time is running out, so call today!

I still have questions, who can I contact for more information? Email Kim Potter at kimberlypotter@pamlicoschools.org or contact her by telephone at 252-745-4688. More information can also be found on the Pamlico County Schools Virtual Academy Facebook page.

A parent testimony - My daughter is signed up for the Virtual Academy and is taking a couple of courses each semester. I can't thank the Board of Education enough for taking a leap of faith and providing this opportunity for the children of Pamlico! Thank you also to Kim Potter and Sherry Meador for your hard work in getting this program going!

"No Child Wet Behind" Diaper Drive Kicks Off

For the month of September, the River Time Civitan Club is collecting disposable diapers as part of its "No Child Wet Behind" diaper project to benefit Pamlico Partnership for Children, Pamlico Health Department and Pamlico Community Health Center.

This is the River Time Civitan Club's second annual diaper collection. The first year's collection and distribution was highly successful, with diaper distribution going to over 30 Pamlico County families as well as childcare facilities and other family support agencies. This year's collection is expected to garner even more support from individuals, the faith based community and a wider scope of supporting agencies to include the Lions Club and Pamlico County Chamber of Commerce.

The club hopes to continue to raise awareness about the challenges that so many families are faced with in order to keep their babies in clean and dry diapers. Unlike baby formula and food, diapers are not covered by the Federal Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) or the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) that means parents are forced to make hard choices: food or diapers? Food assistance is available from local charities and food banks, but getting free diapers is a harder task. Local organizations that carry diapers run out to them quickly.

Lower-income families and especially single parents often struggle to keep their child in diapers. Disposable diapers typically cost parents about $100-$150 per month for one baby. For the first year of a baby's life they go through an average of 10 diapers per day, that 3650 diapers! And while they use less diapers as they get older, most children are not potty trained until between 2 and 3 years old.

Often parents compensate by keeping their child in dirty diapers longer, which can lead to bad rashes or even staph infections, reusing soiled diapers, and even resorting to using plastic bags to serve as a diaper. To make matters worse, parents must provide disposable diapers for their children who attend daycare, nurseries and child care centers, which do not allow cloth diapers to be used.

Diapers may be dropped off at any of the following locations: Pamlico Partnership for Children, 702A Main St, Bayboro; Pamlico Pharmacy, Hwy 55 East, Grantsboro; Arapahoe Charter School, 9005 NC 306, Arapahoe and Oriental United Methodist Church, 404 Freemason St, Oriental.

Monetary donations are also welcome, checks can be made payable to Pamlico Partnership for Children, 702A Main St, Bayboro NC 28515.

For more information on the diaper collection, or if you are in need of diapers contact Pamlico Partnership for Children at 252-745-7850 or e-mail: michelle@pamlicopartnership.org

For more information on the River Time Civitan Club, please make plans to attend the next meeting scheduled for September 11 at 5:30pm at Pamlico Partnership for Children or contact 252-745-7850. All diapers and funds collected benefit only Pamlico County, not the surrounding areas.

“For Want Of A Railroad” The Battle of Wise’s Forks March 1865

On Wednesday, September 13 Civil War Historians Wade Sokolosky and Horace Mewborn will bring the truth of this piece of the Civil War to New Bern Historical Society’s Lunch & Learn at The Chelsea Restaurant. History has relegated the Battle of Wise’s (Wyse) Forks, March 7–11, 1865, to little more than an insignificant skirmish during the final days of the Civil War. Indeed, most histories mention it not at all. Wade Sokolosky will discuss the battle, and his latest book, “To Prepare for Sherman’s Coming”: The Battle of Wise’s Forks, March 1865, which erases this misconception and elevates this battle and its related operations to the historical status it deserves. Horace Mewborn, historian and author, will preview the fall tour that he and Sokolosky will be leading, The Civil War in Eastern North Carolina, covering Wise’s Forks, New Bern, Goldsboro and Kinston.

he graduated from East Carolina University and entered the FBI spending 21 years in their service. Among his assignments with the FBI were tours of duty in New York City, Washington D.C., and FBI headquarters. He has authored five articles for Blue and Gray Magazine, including three articles about the operations of John Mosby and his Rangers and an article on Stuart’s ride around McClellan. Horace co-authored the book on Mosby’s command, the 43rd Battalion, Virginia Cavalry, for the H.E. Howard Virginia Regimental series, and he compiled and edited From Mosby’s Command, a collection of newspaper articles by and about John Mosby and his Rangers.

Lunch & Learn starts at 11:30 a.m. at the Chelsea Restaurant, 335 Middle Street, New Bern. The cost is $18 for Historical Society members and $20 for non-members; lunch is included. Advance reservations must be made in by calling the

New Bern Historical Society at 252-638-8558, or can be ordered at www.NewBernHistorical.org/tickets. Lunch choices are: Salmon Bruschetta topped with tomato, basil, garlic, and parmesan over rice pilaf with seasonal vegetables. Sautéed Chicken Breast with lemon, garlic veloute sauce over rice pilaf with seasonal vegetables

The mission of the New Bern Historical Society is to celebrate and promote New Bern and its heritage through events and education. Offices are located in the historic Attmore Oliver House at 511 Broad Street in New Bern. For more information, call 252-638-8558 or go www.NewBernHistorical.org or www.facebook.com/NewBernHistoricalSociety.

Colonel (Ret.) Wade Sokolosky, a native of Beaufort, North Carolina, is a graduate of East Carolina University and a 25-year veteran of the U.S. Army. He is one of North Carolina’s leading experts of the 1865 Carolinas Campaign. Wade has lectured throughout the Carolinas, speaking to roundtables, various societies and organizations, and at historical sites. He is the co-author (with Mark A. Smith) of “No Such Army Since the Days of Julius Caesar”: Sherman’s Carolinas Campaign from Fayetteville to Averasboro, released this January in an updated and expanded version, and the author of “Final Roll Call” Confederate Losses during the Carolinas Campaign.”

Relief Group Raising $ To Feed The Hungry

Pamlico County Fishes and Loaves Outreach is raising money through RedBasket.org to provide more meals for families in need in the area. They hope to raise $10,000 by October 7.

Pamlico County Fishes and Loaves Outreach (PCFLO) has been providing nutrition to families in the surrounding areas since 2007. The group serves around 400 households each year. Due to growing demand, PCFLO has created an online fundraiser through RedBasket.org to feed more families.

The food insecurity rate in Pamlico County is 15.1 percent, and PCFLO aims to lower that rate by providing high-quality, nutritious food to those who need it most. The organization depends on volunteers to distribute the food seven times a month.

Our goal is made possible because of our volunteers who put in 270 to 300 hours per month to help package, sort, and deliver food to the needy, said William Miles, Chairman of the PCFLO Board.

Recently, they noticed an uptick in the numbers of visitors during their monthly distribution times. The group decided to create an online fundraiser through RedBasket.org to raise $10,000. They’ll use these funds to purchase additional food items to distribute to the community.

This fundraiser will be online through October 7. To learn more or to make a tax-deductible donation, please visit <https://redbasket.org/1401/pamlico-county-fishes-and-loaves-outreach>.

About RedBasket.org: RedBasket.org, founded in 2012, is a web-based, non-profit 501(c)(3) public charity headquartered in Omaha, Nebraska, dedicated to helping individuals raise money for personal emergencies and community improvement projects in a fee-free environment. Red Basket is fully supported by WoodmenLife which covers Red Basket’s administrative costs in their entirety so 100% of donations are directly passed through to the cause. To learn more about Red Basket, visit Redbasket.org.

About WoodmenLife: WoodmenLife was founded in 1890 as a not for profit. The organization gives back to its more than 700,000 customers, who join together in a commitment to family, community and country. With a legacy of financial stability, WoodmenLife offers quality life insurance and retirement products. To learn more about WoodmenLife, visit woodmen.org.

Volunteers Heading To Texas

The New Bern Baptist Men Group is deploying a disaster relief team and equipment to the South Texas coast on September 17th to assist victims of Hurricane Harvey. They are looking for additional volunteers to join them. The group will be traveling by bus and plan to return on September 24th.

Volunteers will assist in cleanup and recovery efforts, and provide meals for storm victims. This group of Christian volunteers is same the group that put on the new roof of the Anointed Remnant Church of Christ,

Disciples of Christ church in Arapahoe a couple of years ago.

Steve Winn, who is heading the cause, asks that you please consider joining this great and exemplary team of Christians on their trip to Texas as they continue to sacrifice their time and energies to help those in need. Each volunteer will be required to pay $75 to cover travel expenses. For more info

Tryon Civitans Sponsor Peanut Butter Drive

The Tryon Civitan Club, in conjunction with The UPS Store, is sponsoring their Tenth Annual Peanut Butter Drive to benefit Religious Community Services.

The Peanut Butter Drive will last the entire month of October.

RCS distributes peanut butter in food orders filled through their Food Pantry. In 2016 that amounted to over 253,000 pounds of food to people who cannot afford groceries. Their soup kitchen served an average of 175 meals per day, and up to 220 per day during the summer months.

With the support of our community we hope to be able to deliver at least 1000 jars of peanut butter this year! Jelly is also welcome.

Peanut Butter can be dropped off at The UPS Store, 1822 South Glenburnie Rd between 8:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Saturdays.

For more information, please contact Mack Paul, Tryon Civitan Projects at 637-7500.

DAR Promotes Constitution Week

tal in getting this week officially proclaimed as Constitution Week and our New Bern native son, Richard Dobbs Spaight, signed the constitution which we should also commemorate.

DAR has been the foremost advocate for the awareness, promotion and celebration of Constitution Week. This annual observance provides innumerable opportunities for educational initiatives and community outreach, two mission areas of crucial importance to the National Society’s work. By fostering knowledge of and appreciation for the Constitution and the inalienable rights it affords to all Americans, DAR helps to keep alive the memory of the men and women who secured our nation’s independence, whose bravery and sacrifice made possible the liberties we enjoy today.

“The framers created a Constitution that translated into law the ideals upon which our nation was built,” said DAR President General Ann Dillon. “Their vision was so forward thinking that their words still guide us today. No American history education can be complete without a thorough understanding of the impact the Constitution has had on the lives of American citizens past and present.”

One of the largest patriotic women’s organizations in the world, DAR has more than 185,000 members in approximately 3,000 chapters across the country and even in numerous foreign countries. DAR strives to promote historic preservation, education and patriotism via commemorative events, scholarships and educational initiatives, citizenship programs, service to veterans, meaningful community service, and more. Financial Focus: Protect Three Key Goals With Life Insurance

Dan M. Roberts, IV
Financial Advisor

September is Life Insurance Awareness Month. And “awareness” is an appropriate designation, because many people remain unaware of the many ways in which life insurance can help families meet their key financial goals. Here are three of the biggest of these objectives, as seen through the eyes of a hypothetical couple, Jim and Joan:

- Pay off mortgage – Jim and Joan have a 30-year mortgage. If one of them dies well before that mortgage is paid off, could the other one afford to keep making payments to remain in the house with the children? It might be quite difficult – many families absolutely need two incomes to pay a mortgage, along with all the other costs of living. At the very least, the death of either Jim or Joan would likely put an enormous financial strain on the surviving spouse. But with the proceeds of a life insurance policy, the survivor could continue making the house payments – or possibly even pay the mortgage off completely, depending on the size of the policy and other financial considerations.

- Educate children – Higher education is important to Jim and Joan, and they’d like to see both of their young children eventually go to college. Of course, college is expensive: For the 2016-17 school year, the average cost (tuition, fees, room and board) was about $20,000 for in-state students at public universities and more than $45,000 for private schools, according to the College Board. And these costs are likely to continue climbing. Jim and Joan have started putting money away in a tax-advantaged 529 savings plan, but if something were to happen to one of them, the surviving spouse might be hard pressed to continue these savings at the same level – or at any level. But the proceeds of a life insurance death benefit could be enough to fund some, or perhaps all, of the college costs for Jim and Joan’s children.

- Provide for family’s future – Jim and Joan’s future income is their most valuable asset as they continue working. However, an unexpected death could leave this dual-income family with a single income that may not cover all financial obligations and retirement contributions – or even preserve the family’s current lifestyle. Life insurance could help cover these needs. Plus, the death benefit to the family may be tax-free.

Clearly, a life insurance policy could allow Jim or Joan to continue on with life, despite, of course, the devastating emotional loss of a partner. But how much insurance should they own? You might read that most people need a death benefit of seven to 10 times their annual income. This might be a good starting point, but everyone’s situation is different. You should consider all factors – including liabilities, income replacement, final expenses and education – to get an accurate picture of how much insurance is appropriate. A financial professional can help you with this calculation.

During Life Insurance Awareness Month, take some time to review your insurance situation. You may already have some life insurance, but it’s a good idea to review your coverage to make certain the amount and type of insurance is still appropriate for your needs. As we’ve seen, the right coverage can make a huge difference in the lives of your loved ones.

Courts Will Get another Crack At Legislative Districts

By Lindsay Marchello, Carolina Journal

RALEIGH — The House and the Senate finally passed redistricting maps after weeks of contentious committee meetings and public hearings.

A three-judge U.S. District Court panel gave the General Assembly a Sept. 1 deadline to present new legislative maps after the court ruled the districts enacted in 2011 were an unconstitutional racial gerrymander. The court will decide whether to accept the new maps for the 2018 election. Whatever the panel decides, the losing party could appeal the ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Senate took up House Bill 927 during a brief session Wednesday with Sen. Ralph Hise, R-Mitchell, arguing the bill meets the criteria established by both the House and Senate redistricting committees.

“I think it is important to note these maps were drawn without the consideration of race and individuals were not assigned a district on the basis of their race,” Hise explained.

Nevertheless, Sen. Angela R. Bryant, D-Halifax, urged legislators to reject the bill, citing concerns of racial gerrymandering and incumbency protection.

“There are also some state constitutional concerns with this map,” Bryant argued, pointing to a lack of compactness in several counties and violations of the provision requiring counties not to be split when possible.

Bryant also cited districts in Wake and Mecklenburg counties which were not affected by the court decision but still redrawn. She said this violates the constitutional provision forbidding redistricting outside the 10-year census cycle unless ordered by the court.

“Why we would position ourselves for these challenges? I can’t understand given what we’ve been facing in the cost of litigation we have already been through in multiple courts that struck down these maps under some of these same complaints,” Bryant questioned.

Despite the concerns of Democratic lawmakers, the bill passed 30-15.

House Democrats voiced similar criticisms over Senate Bill 691, but like the House bill, S.B. 691 passed 68-47.

Rep. David R. Lewis, R-Harnett, said race was not considered when drawing up the new maps and said the bill remedies any racial disparities pointed out by the court ruling.

“I believe our map complies with traditional redistricting principles outlined by the court,” Lewis said.

Some lawmakers called for the creation of an impartial redistricting commission and argued the people of North Carolina should draw the lines.

“In short, politicians who directly benefit from the drafting of legislative districts should not be the drafters of those districts,” Rep. Joe John, D-Wake said. “We absolutely must have in North Carolina a truly independent, impartial, and most importantly nonpartisan redistricting commission.”

Rep. Carla Cunningham, D-Mecklenburg, criticized Republican lawmakers for not considering race when drawing new district lines. She also questioned whether Republicans were willing to share power.

“Are you ready to share power? That is what redistricting is about,” Cunningham argued. “The people of North Carolina are looking at us to learn how to share power.”

Rep. Nelson Dollar, R-Wake, fired back at some of the Democratic representatives’ criticism.

“You want proportional representation, then you need to go change the U.S. Constitution if that’s what you want. If you want a European system, then go out there and get it,” Dollar said. He alluded to the geographic distribution of voters in North Carolina, with Democrats gravitating toward cities and Republicans residing more in rural and suburban areas. “The fact is you have a misdistribution of voters and people willing to support you. That’s your problem [and] you probably ought to try and solve if you want to solve it.”

Dollar also pointed out Senate Republicans won a supermajority in 2010 under maps drawn to favor Democrats.

“Clearly, that was the will of the people,” Dollar said.

You Decide: Are the Humanities Still Useful In a Tech World?

Dr. Mike Walden, NC
Cooperative Extension

My wife is part of a shrinking group of people. She is low-tech! Yes, she has a smart phone and a tablet – complements of me – but she reluctantly uses them. Many days she forgets to turn them on, and even if they’re on, she’ll forget to check for messages. Rather than texting or emailing, she still likes writing letters, making phone calls or – better yet – talking to people in person.

In college, she preferred courses in foreign languages, literature and her personal favorite – art. She still loves these topics and learning about the human experience and culture. Many of her friends only half-jokingly say she would have been better suited to live in the 16th or 17th centuries rather than the 21st!

The courses my wife focused on in college are broadly labeled the humanities. Although there are various definitions, most define the humanities to include language, literature, history, philosophy and the arts.

There is a question today about how relevant the humanities are to an increasingly technological world. Certainly college students are usually required to take some humanities courses to have a well-rounded education, but that’s different than majoring in the humanities.

Indeed, the fields that are receiving the most attention today are the “STEM” majors – science, technology, engineering, and math. There are even elementary, middle and high schools that specialize in training youths for studying the STEM fields in college.

As one who follows trends in the economy, the encouragement of STEM studies certainly makes logical sense. There is no question technology is ruling the economy, and its reign will only expand in the future.

Today we have smart phones, tablets, laptops and the Internet that are essential to both our work and home. Tomorrow’s tech advances are expected to be in areas like virtualization, 3-D manufacturing, artificial intelligence, nanotechnology, biotechnology, robotics and supercomputers. We’ll certainly need more smart workers in the STEM areas to develop and apply the next phase of our tech world.

It seems as if students are getting the message to pursue STEM majors. Since 2000, STEM majors nationwide increased 63 percent compared to a 25 percent increase for humanities majors.

So is the case closed? In our tech-heavy society, will STEM majors flourish while humanities majors flounder?

Maybe not! While agreeing the need for STEM graduates will continue to increase, there are some futurists predicting that as technology becomes increasingly sophisticated and more pervasive, training in the humanities will actually become more – not less – valuable.

Here’s their reasoning. With technology taking over more and more of our lives, we have become more machine-oriented and less human-focused. I witness this all the time on college campuses. Whereas decades ago students would move between classes and buildings engaged in lively conversation, now most of them have their heads down looking at their smart phones. Many times I’ve had to shout “look up” before a student was about to crash into me.

Then, of course, there are the jokes about individuals having meals together who communicate with each other through texting rather than simply speaking across the table. And you know what is said about jokes – they’re never too far from reality.

So there’s a worry individuals are losing the ability to relate to others on a personal face-to-face basis. And in the business world, especially at the management level, face-to-face interpersonal communications are still vital. Most major decisions are still made that way. Individuals schooled in the humanities, through their study of literature, language, history and the expression of ideas and feelings through the arts, have a background that fits this need.

There’s another reason for the relevance of humanities in our current world. Some thinkers say the application of the next level of technology to human use will require a cultural change, and developers of new technology will have to understand this cultural shift in order to be successful.

Robots and driverless vehicles are good examples. Although it’s fun to think of these tools in abstract, when they become a reality, how will we react? Robots and driverless vehicles mean a shift in control and power from humans to machines that we have never experienced before. How will we react? Will robots and driverless vehicles be commercial successes or financial flops because people couldn’t adapt to them?

Obviously developers and manufacturers want to know, and who better than to guide them than individuals who have studied human culture – that is, those who have studied the humanities.

There have already been studies indicating a new found appreciation of humanities experts in today’s high-tech economy. Many companies have discovered humanities majors make excellent managers and decision-makers.

So in the race between the STEMS and the HUMIES (my shortcut for the humanities), it may be too early for us to decide who will come out on top!

PUBLIC NOTICE
TEMPORARY CHANGE OF WATER TREATMENT PROCESS

From October 1, 2017 thru December 1, 2017 the Pamlico County Water Department will change its drinking water disinfectant from chloramines to chlorine. The purpose of this change, which occurs annually, is to help ensure a high level of disinfection in our community’s network of water mains. In an effort to maintain compliance with disinfection by-product requirements of the Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) the Pamlico County Water System utilizes chloramination at its water treatment facility. Chloramination is the controlled application of ammonia to the chlorination, does not react with naturally occurring organic material in source water to form disinfection by-products currently regulated by the SDWA. Water systems that utilize chloramination must periodically return to the free chlorine process. This change provides additional assurance that the proper disinfection of water in the system is maintained. Most customers probably will not detect the difference; however, those with keen sense of taste or smell may detect a slight chlorine odor in the water during this period. This would be due to the presence of residual chlorine rather than odorless residual chloramines. If you have any questions, please call the Water Department at 252-745-5453.

Betty Jo Rodgers Correspondent

I am writing this article on Labor Day Weekend. Labor Day is a time when we can choose to get added rest, or added fun, or added time to catch up on necessary chores. It is also a great day for reflection; a day to be thankful for our many blessings. May the Lord bless our work and our careers and enlarge our opportunities to be prosperous as we dedicate ourselves to giving our best to the work assignments we have been given.

Last week I was praying for a dear friend who was pregnant, and I am pleased to report she delivered a healthy baby girl one week early, on September 2 in the morning. On that evening, a precious 98 year old friend went home to be with the Lord. God is good, all the time. All the time. God is good.

May the Lord bless those whose lives have been impacted by Hurricane Harvey and the many volunteers who are working tirelessly to provide some relief. I pray for shelter and safety, for helping hands to surround those who've lost so much, and for the perseverance and hope to rebuild from the devastation.

Gasoline prices continue to rise across the county, state, and country due to Hurricane Harvey. It seems to be going up about ten cents a gallon each day. By Sunday it was $2.65 a gallon at most service stations. I did purchase some at Sam's Club in Goldsboro on Saturday for $2.49 a gallon.

Here in Pamlico County, some of the corn is ready to be harvested, but it has been so wet the farmers have not been able to get into the fields. I pray they do not lose their crops. Dove hunting season began September 2, 2017, but I have not seen any hunters in the fields

Goose Creek Island

Annette Jones, 55 Plus Club Correspondent

Goose Creek Island 55 Plus Club met Thursday at the Community Center. It was a very special day. We celebrated the 70th birthday of our president, Rosanne Gaskill Rowe with a delicious luncheon of barbecue sandwiches made by Shelby Ireland Keech, Hershey bar cake made by Lottie Campen Caroon and lots of sides, ice cream and other goodies brought by club members. We sang Happy Birthday and Lottie blessed the food.

Rosanne and Sue Gilgo have given our club such a boost since they have started attending our meetings. Rosanne accepted the position of president and does a great job (she brings candy every week) We appreciate her so much. Her birthday was actually Monday and we know there was another big party. We love you Rosanne!

Mildred, Brenda and I played Scrabble after the meeting. Mildred beat up on Brenda and me pretty good and run off with Herbie. The Rummikub ladies were still playing when we left, maybe we'll do better next week. Remember that Senator Norman Sanderson is guest speaker September 7, so come and be with us.

Prayer List: Sheila Ireland Andrews of New Bern recently had open heart surgery at Vidant Hospital in Greenville. Dorothy Mayo Lee hasn't been doing very well lately. Musa Voliva Harris is doing well. She is now at home and is taking Chemo tablets. Gregory Wells is recovering at home. Seems like lots of folks are having knee surgery. Nancy Rhoden is recovering at home and also Barbara Jarvis who is now living in Morehead City was released from rehab and is at home.

We were saddened to hear of the passing of Nellie Spain Hopkins of Aurora. Nellie was born and raised in Hobucken and was an alumna of Hobucken High School, Class of 1945. Our condolences to the family.

Happy Birthday: Craig Sawyer - Sept 7, Mae Gaskill Lupton and Zachary Heath -Sept 8, Robert Poppervill, Sr., Kathy Lewis and Gloria Stowe Mercer - Sept. 11, Carla Ireland and Sally Swindell Brown - Sept 13.

Congratulations to Edna McKinney who is now a great great grandmother. Peyton Cahoon announced the birth of a daughter, Aspyn

Whortonsville

Reba Tiller Correspondent

Sunday was a beautiful day for us here but we are still praying for the folks in Houston and Louisiana. Spoke to my Cambodian family outside Houston and Savoan said they had water up to their door but none in the house. They did get water in their garage and lost food in two freezers and a refrigerator. They still had no power but could cook on their gas stove. One of the daughters Thalyn was in the hospital after having a baby, but could not get home because of the water. Our church in Durham sponsored this family years ago. When they arrived in the U.S. some did not speak any English but Vuthey, the father said "I no want to live off government," immediately went to work, did jobs that no one else would do, saved his money and had a very successful life for his family. All of his wife's family had been sponsored by another church and moved to Houston so they could all be together. They have visited us here in Whortonsville on several occasions. There is road work on Brown Creek Road so we have to go around to get

Commissioner Causey Offers Hurricane Season Reminder

Insurance Commissioner Mike Causey reminded all North Carolinians that the 2017 hurricane season is here, ending Nov. 30, and NC citizens still have time to check their insurance coverage.

"With the tragic scenes of record flooding in Texas and Louisiana from Hurricane Harvey, it is critically important that North Carolinians check their homeowners insurance policies and make sure they have proper coverage," said Causey. "We can't say it enough - homeowners policies do not cover flooding."

"You can only purchase flood insurance through the National Flood Insurance Program," Causey continued. "There is still time to prepare and save yourself time and money later. We have already had a couple of tropical systems brush by North Carolina, so I urge our citizens to be prepared."

Causey offered several ways to take action:

Checking adequate homeowners insurance coverage. Know exactly what your insurance policy does and does not cover. If you decide to purchase flood insurance through the National Flood Insurance Program, there is typically a 30-day waiting period before flood policies take effect. Many of our storms come in October so you still have time. If you live in a rental property, your landlord's insurance only covers the building. None of your personal belongings are insured unless you purchase your own renter's policy.

Deaths

Letha Marie Paul, age 80, of Alliance passed away, Monday, August 28, 2017 in Holly Springs surrounded by family at the home of her son, David Paul.

Letha was born in Texas, where she met and married Lawrence Paul. Together they raised 4 children and moved where ever the Air Force sent them until they eventually settled in Pamlico County. Letha loved her church and was a long time member of Arapahoe Free Will Baptist Church where she taught Sunday school and was a member of around Pamlico.

We had a visit from Julia Tingle this week as she was out riding her bicycle on Straight Road. Julia is once again raising money for the National MS Society bicycle ride in which she participates each year. I am sure she could use more people to sponsor her on this worthwhile ride.

Pamlico United Methodist Church had a shrimp dinner after church on Sunday. Vandemere UMC had a fellowship meal at Charlie's Restaurant in Bayboro after church.

There will be a Fall Community Revival on September 13-17 at 7:00 pm. The schedule is posted below.

Wednesday, 9/13, Reelsboro Christian Church, Reverend Jesse Caton
Thursday, 9/14, Pamlico UMC, Reverend Dr. Robert Cayton
Friday, 9/15, Bethel OFWB, Reverend Walter Pence
Saturday, 9/16, Trent OFWB, Reverend Riley Green
Sunday, 9/17, Concord Christian Church, Reverend Michael Roach

Celebrating birthdays in September are Eloise Sos (9/9), James Paul (9/17), Peg Witt (9/18), Fay Bond (9/29) and Ruth Mahlman (9/30). Celebrating anniversaries during the month of September are, Kevin and Suzie Rodgers (9/10), and Chris and Maria Machle (9/27).

Next Sunday is Grandparent's Day. If yours are still living, let them know you love them. A hug, or kiss, or call does not cost you anything, but time. Invest your time wisely.

Have a blessed week. Fearful? Take Spiritual Vitamin F. "Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness." (Isaiah 41:10)

IN THE GENERAL COURT OF JUSTICE OF NORTH CAROLINA SUPERIOR COURT DIVISION PAMLIKO COUNTY 16SP40 IN THE MATTER OF THE FORECLOSURE OF A DEED OF TRUST EXECUTED BY CELIUS CHARLES SANDERLIN AND CANDIE S. SANDERLIN DATED JULY 29, 1998 AND RECORDED IN BOOK 0335 AT PAGE 0399 IN THE PAMLIKO COUNTY PUBLIC REGISTRY, NORTH CAROLINA NOTICE OF SALE

Under and by virtue of the power and authority contained in the above-referenced deed of trust and because of default in the payment of the secured indebtedness and failure to perform the stipulation and agreements therein contained and, pursuant to demand of the owner and holder of the secured debt, the undersigned substitute trustee will expose for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the usual place of sale at the county courthouse of said county at 10:00AM on September 19, 2017 the following described real estate and any other improvements which may be situated thereon, in Pamlico County, North Carolina, and being more particularly described as follows:

All that certain lot or parcel of land lying situate and being in Number One Township, Pamlico County, North Carolina, and more particularly described as follows: All of Lot Number Seventy-Two (72) of Foxwood at Pinedale, Phase III, as shown on the map recorded in Plat Cabinet A at Slide 106-7 of the Pamlico County Registry. This conveyance is made subject to restrictive covenants recorded in Book 330 at Page 316, Pamlico County Registry.

And Being more commonly known as: 316 Longleaf Dr, New Bern, NC 28560 The record owner(s) of the property, as reflected on the records of the Register of Deeds, is/are Candie S Sanderlin. The property to be offered pursuant to this notice of sale is being offered for sale, transfer and conveyance "AS IS, WHERE IS." Neither the Trustee nor the holder of the note secured by the deed of trust, being foreclosed, nor the officers, directors, attorneys, employees, agents or authorized representative of either Trustee or the holder of the note make any representation or warranty relating to the title or any physical, environmental, health or safety conditions existing in, on, at or relating to the property being offered for sale. Any and all responsibilities or liabilities arising out of or in any way relating to any such condition expressly are disclaimed. This sale is made subject to all prior liens and encumbrances, and unpaid taxes and assessments including but not limited to any transfer tax associated with the foreclosure. A deposit of five percent (5%) of the amount of the bid or seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00), whichever is greater, is required and must be tendered in the form of certified funds at the time of the sale. This sale will be held open ten days for upset bids as required by law. Following the expiration of the statutory upset period, all remaining amounts are IMMEDIATELY DUE AND OWING. Failure to remit funds in a timely manner will result in a Declaration of Default and any deposit will be frozen pending the outcome of any re-sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagor, the Mortgagor, the Substitute Trustee or the attorney of any of the foregoing.

SPECIAL NOTICE FOR LEASEHOLD TENANTS: If you are a tenant residing in the property, be advised that an Order for Possession of the property may be issued in favor of the purchaser. Also, if your lease began or was renewed on or after October 1, 2007, be advised that you may terminate the rental agreement upon written notice to the landlord, to be effective on a date stated in the notice that is at least 10 days, but no more than 90 days, after the sale date contained in the notice of sale, provided that the mortgagor has not cured the default at the time notice of termination is provided. You may be liable for rent due under the agreement prorated to the effective date of the termination. The date of this Notice is August 29, 2017.

C.C.C. To Observe POW/MIA Recognition Day

Craven Community College (Craven CC) will hold a ceremony to observe the POW/MIA Recognition Day on Thursday, September 14 at 11 a.m. at the flagpoles at the entrance of the visitor parking adjacent to the Brock Administration building on the New Bern campus.

Dr. Ray Staats, Craven CC president, will lead the ceremony. The guest speaker will be Chuck Tyson, Mayor of Trent Woods and former college trustee; he will be sharing the story of his father U.S. Army S/Sgt. Charles F. Tyson, a World War II (WWII) prisoner of war. "I appreciate what the military has done for our country since its founding. It is only fair to recognize the missing in action and prisoners of war who fought for it," said Tyson.

The POW/MIA flag will be raised to honor those who endured imprisonment or never returned home during their service to our country.

The event is presented by the College Veterans Association at Craven Community College.

The National POW/MIA Recognition Day is observed the third Friday of September every year. Congress mandated the flying of the National League of Families' POW/MIA flag each year to raise honor prisoners of war and to raise awareness of those military service members who are still unaccounted for. According to the Defense POW/MIA Accounting Agency, there are 82,491 unaccounted for from past conflicts, including: WWII, Korean War, Vietnam War, Cold War, Iraq and other conflicts.

The public is invited to attend this free event.

Founded in 1965, Craven Community College (Craven CC) is part of the North Carolina Community College System. With campuses in New Bern and Havelock-Cherry Point, Craven serves about 3,200 curriculum students and more than 10,000 continuing education students each year. The college offers a wide range of associate degree and certificate programs, as well as college transfer courses, career and occupational offerings, partnerships with four-year universities, specialized workforce training options, developmental studies and basic skills classes. The Lifetime Learning Center and Adult Enrichment Program offer lifelong learning opportunities. Craven Early College High School programs are available on both campuses. CCC is also home to Public Radio East, one of the few community colleges nationally with this distinction. For more information about the college, visit www.cravenc.edu.

Fred A. Anderson Elementary School

Our first day of school was full of excitement. Students were smiling from the time they arrived until the time that the last bus pulled away. We are looking forward to a magnificent school year!

We had a wonderful turnout at our annual Open House event. It was so nice to see all of our All-star families, new and returning. Our staff covered a lot of information such as: dress code, attendance, grading, as well as other pertinent information. Please call the school or visit our website if you have any questions regarding this information.

Our Child Nutrition staff is excited to announce that all students will continue to receive free breakfast and lunch for the 2017-2018 school year. Please encourage your child to participate in this wonderful program so that we can continue to offer it to the students of Fred Anderson.

Reading is such an important skill to have. We encourage and challenge our All-Star families this year to read for at least 20 minutes each day. The school library is always open for parents to visit and would love to help you and your child find a book that is just right for them.

Despite Weather Fish Are Biting

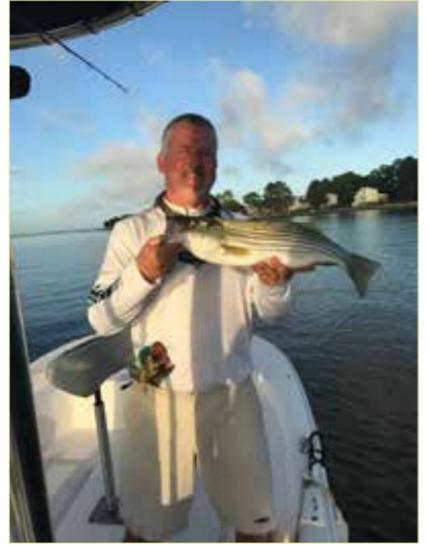

By Stuart Creighton
Weather conditions have been tough of late with all of the rain and wind. However, the fishing has been very good when folks have been able to get out.

The main river shorelines have been producing trout, stripers, flounder, black drum, and red drum. Shallow points and coves are where the flounder and red drum can be found, with trout being caught in the deeper water nearby. Topwater plugs, popping corks, and soft plastics have been the best baits for these fish. The striper bite has been great from mid-river up to New Bern. Rocks, docks, and stump fields have been very productive, especially with a strong topwater bite early and late in the day.

The old drum are here and have been on the move chasing mullet relatively shallow. Popping corks, large swimbaits, and large topwater plugs have been generating a lot of strikes. Fishing fresh cut mullet has also been very productive.

When chasing the old drum, remember proper boat etiquette!! Please don't run at full motor across the ledges that hold these fish. Approach from the shallows or from mid-river, then idle in toward your targeted area, cutting the main motor and using your trolling motor to close in the last hundred yards or so. If you enter and exit quietly, you will not spook the fish and increase your chances of catching a trophy.

Bird Chat, Summer Tanager, The Other Redbird

a descending call that sounds like, "Picky-tuck, picky-tuck-a-tuck!", although it also has a pretty song that it sings from high in the trees. Summer Tanagers feed on bees, wasps, and insects, but also can be found munching in fig trees. If you want to attract them to your feeders, you can try putting out fruit, suet, or nuts. A clean birdbath on the ground will get their attention, too.

From April to September, the Summer Tanager challenges the Northern Cardinal to the title, "Redbird." If you get a chance to see one of these beautiful birds, you can decide for yourself which is the most red. And as always, we welcome your questions, answers, or stories about the birds you see, at Pamlicobirds@gmail.com.

If you're interested in taking a Fall Bird Watching class at Pamlico Community College, you can find it listed in the catalog online at pamlico-ccc.edu or call (252) 249-1851 ext. 3113.

Don't forget to look up!

By Pauline Sterin
Many of us are familiar with the Redbird, or Northern Cardinal, a common and cheery sight at feeders or almost anywhere in Pamlico County. The bright red male sports a distinctive tuft of feathers, or crest, on its head and has a black face, while the female is more brown with orange highlights. But have you spotted the Summer Tanager?

A warm weather visitor as its name suggests, the beautiful Summer Tanager migrates here from the tropics to nest and raise its family. Unlike the Cardinal, the male is all rosy-red, with no black on its face, a much smaller crest, and a pale, longer bill. The female is pretty, too, in a mix of orangey-yellow and olive green, with no crest at all.

The Summer Tanager often announces itself with

Hike NC Celebrates First Year This Fall

Blue Cross NC and NC State Parks bring back free outdoor hiking program in Greenville and New Bern for fall. After already helping more than 2,000 North Carolinians enjoy our state's hiking trails, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina (Blue Cross NC) and the North Carolina State Parks are launching more free, guided hikes across Greenville, New Bern and the state. The hikes are part of Blue Cross NC's Hike NC program, which is celebrating its first year this fall. As temperatures cool and leaves burst into color, the more than 60 free, guided hikes will make hiking easier and more accessible for North Carolinians this fall.

Hike NC is part of Blue Cross NC's efforts to promote health and well-being among North Carolinians. Regular physical activity is shown to help control weight, improve mental health, increase stability and lower the risk of heart disease and cancer.[1]

"Since Hike NC debuted in the fall of 2016, thousands North Carolinians have signed up for a guided hike through the program," said Kathy Higgins, Blue Cross NC's vice president of Corporate Affairs. "Hike NC's success shows how eager North Carolinians are to get outdoors and explore our beautiful state, which inspired Blue Cross NC to keep the program going."

The program offers something for everyone, with hikes designed for all ages, fitness and experience levels. All hikes are free and led by a trained guide or park ranger. The guided hikes will help participants:

- * Try a new form of physical activity individually or with friends and family members
- * Take a break from busy fall schedules to enjoy the natural wonders of North Carolina
- * Experience changing foliage in North Carolina's state parks and nature preserves
- * Explore the outdoors with convenience and ease without the need for any special equipment

Fall hikes begin in early September and run through December. Hikes will be held statewide, and the early fall hikes in Greenville and New Bern are listed here:

- September 24th at 10 a.m. at Cliffs of the Neuse State Park Sand Path and Longleaf Trails. A moderate 5.5 mile hike with an estimated time of 2.5 to 3 hours.
- October 9th at 9 a.m. at Fort Macon State Park Yarrow's Loop Trail and Beaufort Inlet Beach. An easy 1.5 mile hike with an estimated time of 1 to 1.5 hours.

The program kicks off again Labor Day weekend and runs through December. Residents in your area can learn more about hikes in their area by viewing the full list at gohikenc.com or <http://www.gohikenc.com>. Visitors can find hikes by region and sign up for a hike that's right for them based on distance, time, location and level of trail difficulty. After people sign up online, they'll simply need to show up, meet their guide and hike.

Hurricanes Cross Country Has Strong Performance In 1st Home Meet

By: Cooper Metts

Pamlico County High School hosted its first home cross country meet of the year on Friday. Pamlico County High School, Southside High School, Southwest Onslow High School, and Pamlico Christian Academy participated in the race.

Senior Malik Barber led the way for the male Hurricanes by placing first with a 5K time of 19 minutes. Following shortly after was freshman Jahmere Miller, with a time of 19:03, and junior David Rice with a time of 19:05. Rounding out the top seven male performers were Alden Sylvester with a time of 19:07, Derrick Columbus with a time of 19:25, Parker Watson with a time of 19:42, and Josiah Stephen with a time of 20:15. The male Hurricanes strong performance earned them a first place finish in the race.

For the female Hurricanes, Cameron Lee, a sophomore, led the way with a time of 23:46 that earned her first overall in women's race. Following behind for the Hurricanes was senior Maegan Speciale with a time of 24:56 and junior Jainaya Jones with a time of 26:32. Rounding out the top seven was Macy Tyson with a time of 27:06, Shawna Rigby with a time of 29:04, Skylar Watson with a time of 29:04.5, and Kamryn Hough with a time of 29:18. The female Hurricanes performance earned them a second place finish in the race.

The Hurricanes will travel to Northside High School on September 6 for their first conference meet.

Hurricane Volleyball Teams Open Conference Play With Wins

Submitted by Henry R. Rice, III, Director of Student Services, Pamlico County Schools

Pamlico County Volleyball teams were able to run through the gauntlet that was their non-conference schedule. After five games, Pamlico County Junior Varsity (JV) Volleyball was sitting at a 3-2 overall record heading into Thursday night's conference opener with Jones Senior, while the Hurricane Varsity Volleyball team was holding on to a 2-3 overall record. Both teams were able to sweep Jones Senior in their respective games, putting them both at 1-0 in the Coastal Plains Conference.

Stand out players on JV team were Jasmin Cervantes, Anari Barron, and Jenna Bustamante. Coach Eric Hardison stated, "Our girls came out a little dry to start the game, but after putting together a good run, we were able to settle in and take care of business in the second set. I'm proud of how the girls have handled themselves this year. We have a lot of new players on the JV squad, and they are learning more and more every day." The varsity team was led by Meg Anderson with 7 kills. Margaret Audilet and Lindsey Potter lead the team with assists with 18 and 6, respectively. Genevive Cervantes had a great game as well with 8 service points. "Passing is the key to winning, and we were able to pass a little better today than we did against Havelock" stated Coach Hardison. "Coach (Jon) Ashley has put an emphasis on our defense, and I feel like that is what is going to help us win this year."

Next week, the Hurricane Volleyball teams return to action on Tuesday when they host Southside and on Thursday they travel to Tarboro. The JV games start at 4:00 and the Varsity begins approximately 30 after the conclusion of the JV game. Come out and support the Hurricanes.

Remaining Volleyball Schedule

Sept. 5	Southside Home	4:30
Sept. 7	Tarboro Away	4:30
Sept. 12	South Creek Home	4:30
Sept. 13	Havelock Away	4:30

Oct. 3	Tarboro Home	4:30
Oct. 5	South Creek Away	4:30
Oct. 12	Riverside Home	4:30
Oct. 17	Northside Home	4:30

Hurricane Football Opens Season 2-1 With Big Win over Plymouth

Submitted by Henry R. Rice, Director of Student Services, Pamlico County Schools

The Hurricane football team started the season with many new faces. Coach Torrey Nowell has actually doubled the amount of players on this year's team as compared to last year's team. All of the skilled positions return from last year's team and with the addition of the newcomers, it has allowed the skill guys to perform at a higher level. The Canes opened the season on the road against a new opponent, Mattamuskeet High School Lakers. Although the ride was long, the Hurricanes seemed to loosen up quickly. Lamont Murrey returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown. The defense then held the Lakers and forced them to punt after three downs. On the punt return, Murray again showed his talent and scooted 77 yards for another touchdown, giving the visiting Hurricanes a 14-0 lead early in the first quarter. The Canes went on to destroy the Lakers 66-0.

In week 2, the Canes hosted the Ayden-Gritfen Chargers. This was a very entertaining game with lot of big plays. The Hurricanes came out slow and had some bad luck to start the game. On the opening kickoff, the Hurricanes return man, Murray, slipped down just after he caught the ball inside the Hurricane 5 yard line. Three plays later, the Hurricanes were forced to punt the ball, which led to the Chargers first score. The next kickoff seemed like de déjà vu, only this time it was freshman Sayvone Tutt slipping to the ground. After the Hurricanes finally got their feet planted, they played quite well for the remainder of the game. However, the Canes ran out of time and fell 34-26.

Last week, Friday night football was moved to Thursday night because of the threat of heavy rain for Friday. The Canes traveled to Plymouth to take on the Vikings. The Vikings have become somewhat of an out of conference rivalry for the Hurricane over the past several years. This game lived up to rivalry status. The game was back and forth throughout and the teams forced two overtimes. Daniel Fuentes booted the extra point in the second overtime to seal the win for the Hurricanes. Coach Nowell stated, "We played a hard fought game that led to two overtimes and we ended up on top, 40-39. Caleb Barron had a great game playing running back, wing back and quarterback." Barron scored one touchdown on 22 carries and accumulating 167 yards. George Jones and Lamont Murray each scored two touchdowns and Sayvone Tutt scored one touchdown.

The Hurricanes continue to be on the road this week, when they travel to Croatan High School this Friday.
