School Board Votes to Implement Move to Plan A

by: Hiram Lupton

In a special called Pamlico School Board meeting on October 28th, Board members were presented a plan to transition grades K through 5 into Plan A of face to face instruction. This plan was offered at the special meeting so that board members could have time to think about the proposal and listen to any concerns their constituents may have before the regularly scheduled November board meeting on Monday night.

The plan, presented by superintendent Lisa Jackson, calls for all K-5 students to transition to a face to face learning environment of four days a week instead of the two days a week currently in plan B. This would be done in a staggered implementation beginning on November 5th with the Kindergarten and first grade students. Second and third grades would follow the next week on November 12th and fourth and fifth graders the following week on November 19th. All students would attend classes on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday with Wednesday remaining as an at home learning day to allow for deep cleaning at the schools and for teacher planning. No other changes will be implemented except since classes will now be of normal size, students will be required to wear

EPA Administrator Andrew Wheeler at Nutrien in Aurora, N.C.(WITN)

EPA rolls back regulatory standards at Aurora phosphate company

By WITN Web Team

AURORA, N.C. (WITN) - The head of the Environmental Protection Agency was in Eastern Carolina on Thursday to announce a rollback on regulations for Nutrien Aurora Phosphate.

EPA Administrator Andrew Wheeler announced the relaxing of a standard for phosphoric acid manufacturing he says is not expected to result in an increase in mercury or any other hazardous air pollutant.

The EPA says the move will save $26 million over the next five years and keep hundreds of jobs in place.

In 2015, the EPA under the Obama administration announced new rules for phosphoric acid manufacturing under the National Emission Standards for Hazardous Air Pollutants.

The company, then PCS Phosphate, petitioned the EPA in 2016 under the Trump administration to adjust its standards with respect to phosphoric acid manufacturing.

The EPA in a news release says it made the revision, "based on newly available data and after conducting a site visit, that the previous standard was not based on an accurate determination of the level of emission reductions that were achievable at the source."

LOWLAND

The community of Lowland is located on the northern half of Goose Creek Island (Hobucken comprises the southern half), in the most northeast part of Pamlico County and was annexed in 1874. Lowland became an official designation of the post office located in the community in 1892. Early on, several small communities made up the area. Clark's Corner, Up the Prong, Around the Horn, Sadler's Corner, Piney Woods, Fulford's Point, and The Foot of the Road were a few of the names for local spots which all grew together to form Lowland. Residents are still often referred to as "Down the roaders" or "Out the roaders" depending on where they live, but they all can be proudly known as Lowlanders.

Oriental Woman's Club ~ Garden Club

Each month the Oriental Woman's Club ~ Garden Club nominates a Yard of the Month in Pamlico County. November's award goes to Marjorie and Dallas Spruill at 603 Broad Street in Oriental, NC. Passersby just couldn't resist smiling upon seeing the bright splash of autumn reds, yellows, and oranges on the Spruill's front porch area. Marjorie spoke of how proud they were of their home which has been in her husband's family for several generations, hoping their children will continue the family tradition.

The Veteran's Service Office is a department of the Pamlico County Government that registers all Pamlico County veterans into the system and provides the following assistance:

- Education Assistance Program
- VA Home Loan Applications
- Disability Compensation (Service Connected)
- Disability Pension Program
- VA Insurance Programs
- Widow's Pension/Benefit Package
- Outreach to Homeless Veterans
- Home Modification Applications for house bound veterans

Some of the most pressing issues of this office are providing transportation of veterans to hospitals or clinics, procuring vans and drivers in Pamlico County for this purpose, and providing emergency funds to assist veterans with water and utility bills and heating expenses. Cruisin' for Our Vets

By: Mary Frances Taylor

Pamlico County residents will be honoring our veterans on Saturday, November 7, with a "Cruisin' for Our Vets" ride through the county beginning at 11 am in the Pamlico Community College Delamar Center parking lot. Steve Simmons, Sr. Vice Commandant of the Marine Corp League Oriental Dragon Detachment 1413, will be the Grand Marshall along with Tom Lathrop as Co-Grand Marshall for the ride and will be in the lead vehicle. Mr. Simmons is a Vietnam Veteran and Mr Lathrop is a Korean War Veteran and Tin Can Sailor. Veterans are encouraged to participate in the ride organized by the Pamlico County Register of Deeds, Lynn Lewis, as a substitute for the annual Veterans Day parade which was canceled because of COVID-19. PCC is a sponsor of the event. "Pamlico Community College is honored to play a role in recognizing, thanking and honoring our veterans who are responsible for the freedoms we enjoy," PCC President Dr. Jim Ross wrote in an email to Lewis and others. "We wish you and other local citizens success in conducting this cruising event to recognize, honor and thank all veterans for their selfless sacrifices to preserve our freedoms."

Cruisin' vehicles of cars, trucks, and motorcycles decorated with American flags, service branch flags, and other patriotic décor will leave PCC and travel north on N.C. 306 to Grantsboro. From there, the route will continue onto N.C. 55 to Oriental, cross the high-rise bridge and on to Janiero Road. Riders will turn right onto Janiero Road and continue to Kershaw Road, then to N.C. 306, and back to the PCC campus where participants will disband.

There will be a 12:00 noon drive-thru luncheon for Pamlico County veterans at Fred A. Anderson Elementary School, provided by Pamlico County and the Veterans Council. For more information about the event, contact Lynn Lewis at 252-745-4421 or lynn.lewis@pamlicocounty.org.

THIS WEEK IN HISTORY

- November 4th – 2020, Today is “Get your political signs up and out of my sight day.” I just made that up, but it seems good to me.
- November 5th – 1935, The board game “Monopoly” was introduced by Parker Brothers. Go directly to jail. Do not pass GO, do not collect $200.
- November 6th – 1814, Adolphe Sax was born in Dinant, Belgium. Mr. Sax invented the Saxophone. He invented it, but I think Clarence Clemons perfected it.
- November 7th – 1916, Republican Jeannette Rankin of Montana became the first woman to be elected to the U. S. Congress.
- November 8th – 1731, In Philadelphia, Benjamin Franklin opened the first library in North America.
- November 9th – 1620, After a month of delays off the English coast, and two months at sea, The Mayflower finally spotted land (Cape Cod, Massachusetts).
- November 10th – 1775, The Continental Congress authorized the creation of the Continental Marines, later renamed the U. S. Marine Corps. Semper Fidelis!

The closest military installation to Pamlico County is Marine Corps Air Station Cherry Point which is located just across the Neuse River at Havelock, North Carolina. The U. S. Congress authorized construction of the air station on July 9th, 1941 and clearing and construction began later that year on what was then known as Cunningham field. It was renamed Marine Corps Air Station Cherry Point after the nearest post office, at that time, to the new base. Its primary purpose was to train Marines and pilots for service in the Pacific during World War II, but it also served as a base for anti-submarine patrols off our coast. These patrols reaped dividends on July 7th, 1942, when an Army A-29 Hudson bomber flying from the new base sank the German U-boat U-701 about 10 miles east of the Diamond Shoals light tower.

SCORPIO Traits & Overview

Scorpion people are recognizable by their prominent facial features, often a roman or straight nose, determined chin and penetrating eyes. They have intense personalities and project a strong animal magnetism, however their downfall is their biting tongue, finding it easy to spit out venom when they wish to hurt someone.

Scorpions are creatures of mystery and dark secrets and have hidden depths within them and a strong conviction in what they do. Even their silences will have you waiting in anticipation for their next move.

Although often deeply spiritual people, the Scorpion can also be a dangerous enemy (or friend) and many will turn to crime in order to accomplish their ends. Mentally you have strong reasoning powers and will win many an argument or debate. You are keenly perceptive and analytical and have an interest in political issues.

In love you are passionate and often intensely jealous. You demand total fidelity from your mate and if you discover disloyalty they will not be given a second chance. You find it difficult to let go of resentment and become quite destructive and suspicious when your defences are down.

In finance you are very possessive and are very good at using other people's money to get results for yourself. Success is indicated for you. In gambling you go for the main chance in a very big way - no half measures for you.

Your ideal career would be detective, soldier, investigator, politician, surgeon or anywhere that you can use your researching abilities.

Pamlico Community College

Pamlico Community College's Continuing Education division plans busy November

By Sandy Wall

Pamlico Community College's Continuing Education division is starting the new month strong with a mix of familiar courses and new offerings to help men and women develop new skills for the workplace.

The courses will feature face-to-face instruction, while one of them will be offered in a hybrid (part-seated, part-online) format.

“Our Continuing Education division does a great job tailoring its course offerings to the needs of local employers and employees,” said PCC President Dr. Jim Ross. “The college is always looking for new opportunities to bring skills-based training to PCC so we can prepare men and women for new jobs or to help them become more valuable at their current jobs.”

In that spirit, PCC will be offering an Introduction to Computer-Aided Design and 3-D Printing course on Thursdays beginning Nov. 12. The class, which will be taught by Welding Instructor Joe Flynn, will include face-to-face instruction as well as some web-based training.

PCC will offer the next edition of its popular Nurse Aide II course beginning Tuesday, Nov. 17. The class will meet on campus Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5 to 9 p.m.

The college's next one-day Forklift Training course is set for Saturday, Nov. 21, on campus. Also that day, PCC will offer its one-day Notary course in Bayboro.

Looking ahead, December will feature two opportunities for food service workers to participate in ServSafe training. There will be a one-day course on Monday, Dec. 7, and a full training course Dec. 14 to 17.

Finally, the college is forming new Basic Skills classes for men and women who need to earn their high school equivalency or who need to learn to speak English. All Basic Skills courses are offered free of charge.

“We work hard to schedule courses and programs that will meet the training needs of our community,” said Lori Giles,

Pamlico Community College's next Nurse Aide II course is scheduled to start Tuesday, Nov. 17. Contributed photo

International Paper Packs And Donates Feminine Hygiene Kits To Local Area Schools

NEW BERN, N.C. – Employee volunteers at the International Paper (NYSE: IP) New Bern Mill gathered to assemble over 350 feminine hygiene kits as a part of a United Way Worldwide (UWW) and International Paper initiative to end period poverty. The local event was held at the New Bern Mill and benefited the United Way of Coastal Carolina.

With COVID-19 preventative measures in place and practiced, the International Paper volunteers packed kits in under one hour that included some of International Paper's own customers. Kits included regular pads, pantliners, feminine wipes and a note of encouragement, packaged in an International Paper kraftpaper bag.

“This was a very fulfilling experience for me, and it helped broaden my perception of the vast amount of community need that exists beyond my own four walls,” said Greg Elliott, front line leader, New Bern Mill. “There is so much we can do as individuals and as a community united, and it is incumbent upon us to look for those instances and do all that we can to help those that are in need.”

Period poverty affects more than 40 million women and girls worldwide, meaning disadvantaged women and girls around the world and in our communities lack access to sanitary products, feminine hygiene education, toilets, handwashing facilities or waste management during their menstrual cycles. Poor menstrual hygiene can cause physical health risks and can lead to reproductive problems, and this partnership with Untied Way Worldwide is just one way International Paper is dedicated to addressing critical needs in the communities where employees live and work by mobilizing its people, products and resources.

AROUND THE COUNTY

Pamlico Betty Jo Rodgers, Correspondent

Last week, I unintentionally printed some “fake news.” I said there was a Trump parade in the county on Sunday afternoon from the Food Lion parking lot in Grantsboro to Oriental. When my sister told me it got rained out, I had already sent my copy to the newspaper. The parade took place on Sunday November 1, 2020 with about 100 vehicles participating, rain or shine. I think they got some of both.

Farmers continue to harvest the soybeans on Trent Road and the state has mowed the roadsides throughout the Pamlico Community.

On Tuesday Dennis Balsly from Arapahoe and Roy and I helped the PCI Kairos organization deliver 796 dozen cookies to the Pamlico Correctional Institute. It was enough cookies for ever resident and every worker to receive a dozen cookies. It was a nice surprise during a difficult time because of the Covid-19.

The Witches Crawl in Oriental on Halloween Night was a successful fundraiser. Thanks to all who donated.

The polls will open November 3, 2020 for the actual Election Day. Be sure to wear your mask and socially distance. It may be a week or more before the results will be validated.

Whortonsville Reba Tiller, Correspondent

Wow! Can hardly wait until Tuesday! We actually have been lambasted with political ads for way too long! When I think of the millions of dollars that has been spent on this election, I get a little sick thinking about the folks that have lost their jobs because of the China virus, and how it would help them to buy food for the families and pay their rent. I will cast my vote on Tuesday and pray that one of them is a clear winner so we can get back to fighting the virus. We can't say getting back to a normal life again, but we must not give up hope that better days are ahead when we can get back to doing things. Today we got back to church and fourteen folks and Sam, the service dog were in the congregation. A business meeting was held after service, but because we haven't been allowed to go to church there was no business except to accept and welcome a new member. Russ and Jeanna attended St. Thomas and will become members there. Yesterday Stephanie Stonewall UMC will hold its annual fall bazaar on November 7th from 7 am to 1 pm. Masks and social distancing are requested inside the building and temperatures will be checked. Baked goods, sandwiches and soup will be on sale, but only for take-out. There will be no sit down eating in the fellowship hall this year. As in years past, Alliance UMC will also have their bazaar on the same day.

The Pamlico Youth Group will meet at Alliance UMC November 8, 2020. Come join the youth for fun and fellowship.

Celebrating birthdays in November are Ray Lewis and Judy Hudgins (11/4), Brett Hinson and James Lupton (11/5), Hayley Deaton (11/6), Morghan Rayne Zimmer (11/7), Bill Sage (11/8), Chasidy Gwaltney Voliva (11/10), Paisley Tillman and Carol Heath West (11/14), Kevin Rodgers (11/23), Kari Hudgins and Jerry Harper (11/28), and Thelmond Cooper (11/29). John and Penny $ Farmer will celebrate 34 years of marriage on November 16. Remember them in your prayers.

Have a blessed week. Memory failing? Take Spiritual Vitamin M. “And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for My strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me.” (2 Corinthians 12:9)

Adams knocked at my door with oysters. She and Alex are fantastic neighbors. Russ and Jeanna were returning from Chapel Hill so we dined on delicious steamed oysters last night. Bill and Sylvia Nickerson finished putting up wallpaper in the men's bathroom at church. Marena Potter and I stopped off at Hospice to donate some things and then went to Mayo's for lunch. I had their fried chicken for the first time. Delicious! The Hardison brothers fixed the fan on the air conditioner in my car so I had to be “Little Miss Sunbeam” and take them some fresh baked rolls. They have been wonderful in taking care of Weeks and my vehicles. The Spirit of Christmas will have a few activities this year. The Oriental Methodist Church will have an out door community sing a long on Sunday, December 13 at 3:30p.m. I will keep you posted on other activities

Thought for the week-- I wish everyone could experience the love that is shown in our neighborhood and with our friends.

I guess as you read this the hoopla will be mostly done although we still have until November 12 for counting absentee. The last time I remember an election so full of both promise and dread was '76.

The leaves put on a good show in the mountains, and although I too, wanted to go in person, am glad I didn't because of incredible traffic. People are seriously looking to get out and about with low hazard activities. I had the opportunity to go to Raleigh last week and that was the longest I've been away from home in eons. We did some sightseeing downtown discovering the older sections and found a delightful back road to leave the city and avoid the crazy interstate drivers. The highlight for me was going to the State Farmer's Market and eating at the seafood restaurant. I also got some pecans and mint plants. I'm determined to have mint! This will be my 3rd try since spring. They just get mad at me and wilt away. It was pleasant to see all the beautiful landscaping around buildings.

During that long drive a couple of things occurred to me that you don't see much anymore: people riding along the road on horses and folks hanging out their wash, or even being on their front porch.

I cannot comment enough about the sun on the creek this time of the year; several sparkles like diamonds that in the morning bespeak of promise, opportunity and optimism only to give way to the afternoon light when you think of closing down the yard for the day.

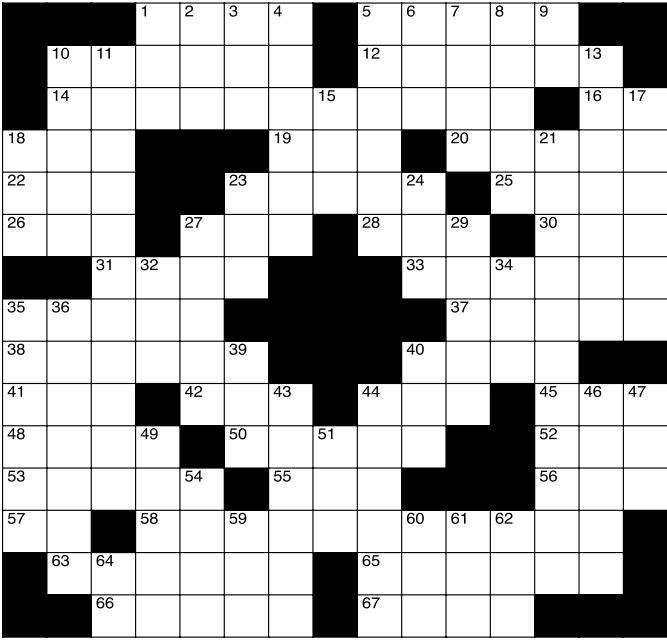

With the colder weather comes the cats insisting on their lap time. Anastasia yowls until I settle on the couch and Anneke zips around looking for a drawer or cabinet to climb into. Sarah, obviously follows the sun and has claimed this basket as her mini fortress.

Wasn't that fun having a full moon on Halloween? No Tricker Treaters as usual. We've never lived where we've had any. The app I like to use to follow its phases is Moon-Current Moon Phase. It shows the current phase down to the second, signals you when there's either a new or full moon and has other nifty data.

There's still time to go by Dollar General and say goodbye to Ms. Dulcey. Her last day is 11/6. She really took good care of us during her tenure.

The Silverbrook Witches
– A Coven with a Cause

Organizer and Head Witch
Jeanne Robertson

For the third Halloween in a row, a witch’s spell was cast over the town of Oriental. The spell however had no evil intent, quite the contrary, the incantation cooked up by the coven known as the “Silverbrook Witches” had only good intentions. Normally done in the form of a witch’s crawl from restaurant to restaurant around Oriental, in the year of COVID, that was deemed unfeasible. Not to be deterred, it was decided to perform a flash mob style dance on the lawn at the corner of King Street and First Avenue. The witches brewed up four Halloween shows all for charity. As chief organizer and head witch Jeanne Robertson explained, “the first year we really didn’t have a name, but the money we raised went for the upkeep and maintenance of the Silverbrook Cemetery. After that we became known as “The Silverbrook Witches.” This year’s charity is the Pamlico Community Foundation. All funds raised stay right here in Pamlico County to help residents who are still displaced and recovering from Hurricane Florence. This year’s spell has netted over $2500 (so far) and will be presented to the foundation on Tuesday.

It’s hard to believe it is already November! Our report cards just went out last week marking the end of the first nine weeks. We are excited to see that so many parents and students are utilizing Powerschool, our online gradebook, to keep up to date with their grades or their student’s progress. All students have access but if you would like to have your own access we encourage you to call Tammy Spain at the high school (745-3151) to learn how to set up your account.

The PCHS Science department has been creating hands-on experiments and labs to allow the students to incorporate what they have learned on their remote days into classroom experiences.

Our phenomenal mathematics department has been busy finding creative and engaging ways to make sure their students have all the skills they need to continue to be successful in their futures. The teachers have continued to review skills that were taught in the spring as well as teaching new skills to keep the students on pace. Ms. Holton has created fun scavenger hunts to get the students out of their seats and moving around the room as they practice their skills.

Ms. Collins has collaborated with Chef Reese to bring another level of learning to her English students. Her students wrote persuasive essays with the topic of “why their Ramen recipe was the best.” After their presentations, Chef Reese brought them into the culinary department to put their essays to the test as they created the recipes they presented. The smells around the school and the smiles on the students’ faces say that the experience was a rousing success.

Shakespeare’s the Taming of the Shrew got a fresh breath of life as Ms. Dana’s class dressed in costumes to better understand the time period the play took place and add another dimension of fun to an already comic story.

Canes 2 College, an initiative by our student support department, sent out trivia questions to all students and had drawings throughout the week for all those that participated. Students

The action will include visual elements such as signs.

PAMLICO COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

services has collaborated with the Digital Design Class to design and create signs for the teachers throughout the school. The signs not only told where the teachers went to school but also a piece of advice from them and a quote that they have lived their life by.

OctBOOKer, a fun contest among grade levels and staff, was started by our media coordinator, Ms. Jen Baker. Students and staff submitted books they’ve read throughout the month of October. Staff won followed close behind by the Sophomores!

Our Career and Technical Education teachers have been busy collaborating with teachers throughout the school to give students opportunities to see their skills applied to real world activities, appreciated and utilized by our school community. Ms. Lynn Hardison’s HOSA students have decorated pumpkins to bring awareness to various forms of cancer, decorated the front of the school and prepared bulletin boards around the school sharing ways to protect ourselves from the common cold and flu as we enter flu season. Her pharmacy students enjoyed a visit from the pharmacists at Bayboro Pharmacy. Mr. Carawan’s classes have been getting ready for their Christmas Poinsettia fundraiser. They also assisted Ms. Harwick’s Digital Design class by helping disassemble desks and clearing out what will soon become their working studio to develop video and photography productions. Mr. Rhodes carpentry students have been busy making items to help the school. One of the most fun has been the stunt stands that they made for our cheerleading team. Ms. Sutton’s classes enjoyed a visit from some of our most cuddly guests ever! Today in Animal Science class Ms. Sutton’s class was able to practice giving some shots and dewormer to some pups. Any day you’re able to learn and get to play with puppies is a good day!

NJROTC’s academic team had their second win of the season! The NJROTC rifle team has been able to resume socially distanced practice and the students are excited to be getting back into their uniforms and routines.

Rounding out our month was our Spirit Week. Our departments did group themed costumes while our students really showed their creative sides. Themes included Beauty and the Beast, the Addams Family, PacMan, Math Nerds, Dinosaur Cowboys, Alice in Wonderland and Scooby Doo. . .they even included Scrappy Doo!

Our teachers and staff have been busy making this very different school year seem as normal as we can while embracing the smaller classes and technology that has been a necessary addition to our already full curriculums. We are fortunate to have such an amazing community to support us as we continue on through this dynamic school year.

masks at all times. This is because the larger number of students in each class will mean that while they will be spread apart as best as possible, strict 6-foot social distancing will not be possible. All other protocols required during plan B will still be in place such as temperature checks, classroom lunch, and no mixing of classes. If a child has to go into quarantine, they will be taught virtually during that time. Bus safety procedures will remain the same. Ms. Jackson related, “Transportation is tricky, but we’ve gone over it and can manage the changes.” There are no changes to grades 6 through 12 who will remain in Plan B.

On one point, everyone from board members to administration to staff, was in complete agreement. We need to get our kids back to a face to face learning environment, but as Lisa Jackson stated, “Safety has to be the priority. Paul Delamar, Jr. asked about the confirmed case count of COVID among students. Ms. Karen Cayton, school nurse at Pamlico Middle School stated that there has been 9 confirmed positive cases among students; 4 at the primary school, 1 at Fred A. Anderson, 1 at the Middle School and 3 at the High School. Contact tracing has led to the belief that none of the cases originated in the school system. A question was raised about the amount of supplies, both cleaning and personal protective gear, that the school system has. Assistant Superintendent for Business Services, Steve Curtis reported that supplies on hand were adequate and so far, there has been no problems getting those supplies from vendors when needed.

There was little additional discussion at the regular monthly meeting Wednesday night. Board Chairman John Prescott asked if there had been any parental feedback on the plan and board members stated that they had only heard positive comments. Board member Kari Hammond reiterated a position that she expressed in the Wednesday special meeting to establish what benchmarks had to be met in order to return to a five-day a week face to face learning environment. A motion was made to accept the proposal to move forward into plan A and the motion passed unanimously. As Chairman Prescott said, “we are navigating uncharted waters.”

Katie Carter, Livestock Agent

What is on your fall and winter preparation list for your horse? Stockpiling hay? Establishing winter forages in your pastures? Getting blankets ready? What about deworming? Just because the temperature starts dropping, does not mean the parasites will drop off as well.

With any deworming treatment, a fecal count needs to be done first to determine parasite load and type of parasite. A fecal count is an estimate of the number of parasite eggs in a horse. Once we know the count and the type of parasite, we can treat it with the most effective dewormer to ensure the parasite load is being reduced. The important deworming season in North Carolina is September – April. During the summer months of May – August, parasite egg numbers in pastures are much lower and deworming is less of a priority due to the hot summer temperatures. Horses shed parasitic eggs differently, for example, yearlings tend to shed small strongyles at higher amounts than adult horses. It is important to know the rate at which your horse sheds. A low shedder fecal count will be <200 EPG (eggs per gram of manure). Moderate shedder fecal counts will be 200-500 EPG, and high shedder fecal counts will be >500 EPG.

Before starting any deworming regiment, you should consult with your vet. They will recommend the best treatment course that will minimize parasite loads and avoid building a resistance to dewormers.

Low shedders (<200 EPG) can be dewormed twice a year, in the spring and fall seasons. In the spring Ivermectin (Equell®, Zimectrin®, Rotectin®, IverCare®), and Moxidectin (Quest®) can be used. In the fall Ivermectin w/Praziquantel (Equimax®, Zimectrin Gold®) or Moxidectin with Praziquantel (Quest Plus®) are dewormers that can be administered.

Moderate shedders (200-500 EPG) may need to be dewormed frequently throughout the year. A spring deworming can be done using Ivermectin (Equell®, Zimectrin®, Rotectin®, IverCare®, etc), Moxidectin (Quest®) or double-dose Fenbendazole for 5 days (Panacur® PowerPak). In late summer, Pyrantel Pamoate (Strongid paste®, TapeCare Plus®, etc), or Fenbendazole (Panacur®, SafeGuard®) can be given. In early winter, Ivermectin w/ Praziquantel (Equimax®, Zimectrin Gold®) or Moxidectin with Praziquantel (Quest Plus®) can be administered.

High shedders (>500 EPG) may need to be dewormed with every season change. In spring again Ivermectin (Equell®, Zimectrin®, Rotectin®, IverCare®), Moxidectin (Quest®) or double-dose of fenbendazole for 5 days (Panacur® PowerPak) can be given. During the summer Pyrantel Pamoate (Strongid paste®, TapeCare Plus®), Fenbendazole (Panacur, SafeGuard®) or Oxibendazole (Anthelcide®) can be used. In fall Ivermectin w/ Praziquantel (Equimax®, Zimectrin Gold®) or Moxidectin with Praziquantel (Quest Plus®) will be effective. And during the winter season Pyrantel Pamoate (Strongid paste®, TapeCare Plus®), Fenbendazole (Panacur®, SafeGuard®) or Oxibendazole (Anthelcide®) can be administered. When it comes to pregnant mares and foals that are two months old, consulting with your vet is important for proper care so they can help determine the best treatment plan.

Table 5. Deworming Products and Parasites they Control
Name	Ascarids	Adult Strongyles	Larval Strongyles	Tapes	Bot
Benznidazole	x	sometimes	no	no	no
Pyrantel	x	x	no	yes at 2X	no
Ivermectin	x	x	x	no	x
Moxidectin	x	x	x	no	x
5X Fenbendazole two days in a row (or 2X x 5d)	x	x	x	no	no
Daily pyrantel	x	x	x	x	no
Ivermectin + praziquantel	x	x	x	x	x

There are other ways to lower parasite loads in horses in combination with deworming. One being rotational grazing. Rotating pastures is not only good for forage regrowth, but parasite eggs that are shed in the manure are not ingested as quickly by a host and die out. Cross grazing pastures with ruminants such as cows, goats, and sheep is also effective. Parasites that are common in equine are not found in ruminants and vice-versa. In the summer months spreading or dragging manure is beneficial both for parasite reduction and spreading of nutrients found in manure over the pasture. This also keeps the nutrients buildup down in high manure concentrated areas. In winter months the removal of manure is also helpful in decreasing parasite numbers. Doing these things with a parasite control program approved by your vet can keep your horse healthy all year long.

The table below is a chart of active ingredients and the parasites they target.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Vote for a Solid Investment Strategy

Dan M. Roberts

Election Day is little more than a week away. As a citizen, you may feel the results will affect many aspects of life in this country. But as an investor, your situation probably won't change after the votes are counted.

No matter who wins, the financial markets may well show some politically driven volatility, but that often happens around elections, and it typically doesn't last long. But what about the longer term? How might changes in policy and new legislation affect your investment outlook?

To begin, keep in mind that many campaign promises remain just that – promises.

And even when some of them are enacted, any ultimate legislation may be quite different from what was proposed on the campaign trail.

Still, sometime in the future, we could see election-related changes that could affect your investment strategy. For example, over the years, we've seen many adjustments in the tax rates of capital gains and stock dividends, and it's likely these rates will change again one day. When that happens, you may need to look at the equities portion of your portfolio to see if you want to make some adjustments.

Many other changes, though, are hard to predict. It's possible that future legislation could affect specific industries, either positively or negatively. Such moves could also influence the way you look at certain investments, but if you have a diversified portfolio that contains a broad mix of stocks, bonds and other securities, any actions affecting one particular industry probably won't cause you to significantly adjust holdings invested in other sectors.

In any case, while it may be a good idea to keep an eye open for things like tax rate changes or how new policies may affect different market segments, your main emphasis, in terms of your investment decisions, should remain on your goals and what you need to do to achieve them.

At least once each year, review your portfolio carefully to make sure your investments are aligned with your goals, whether they are short-term (a new car, a long vacation and so on) or long-term (such as college for your children or a comfortable retirement). Periodically, depending on what's happening in your life and the progress of your investment portfolio, you may need to evaluate your goals to ensure they're prioritized appropriately to help keep you on track toward achieving what's most important to you.

Over time, your goals may change, too. Perhaps you've decided that instead of retiring early and traveling around the world, you now want to turn your hobby into a business. Changing this goal may require a different investment strategy. Or you might change your mind about where you want to live – instead of staying in your home, as originally planned, you might downsize and move to a different area. Your goals may change in many ways, all of which may warrant updating your investment strategies.

Here's the key point: You're the one electing to make these changes. No matter what happens in this or any other election, be sure to "vote" for the strategies that have the potential for a winning outcome.

According to its application, DENC is requesting a total annual fuel revenue decrease of approximately $15.7 million from the fuel and fuel-related costs currently in effect. Further, DENC proposes to make the fuel revenue decrease effective for service on and after February 1, 2021.

DENC's proposed fuel revenue decrease, including regulatory fee, would result in the following decreases for DENC's customers: 0.389 cents per kilowatt-hour (kWh) for residential, outdoor lighting and traffic lighting customers; 0.387 cents per kWh for small general service and public authority customers; 0.384 cents per kWh for large general service customers; 0.372 cents per kWh for rate schedule NS customers; and 0.378 cents per kWh for rate schedule 6VP customers. The net effect of this request would decrease the monthly bill of a residential customer using 1,000 kWh of electricity by $3.89.
